Popular Collecting And The Everyday Self The Reinvention Of Museums:

Popular Collecting and the Everyday Self Paul Martin, 1999 This work is an attempt to explore both the increase in and the breadth of popular collecting in Britain It does this by examining the contexts of social change over the past 20 years This change it is argued has led to a culture of social and material insecurity in which collecting is used for the creating and defence of identity The social theory of Guy Debord is employed as an underlying philosophy in which contemporary popular collecting is interpreted as an expression of a moral value system in a society driven by market forces The social world and values of collectors are explored through their clubs These it is asserted comprise an alternative society one in which a legitimization of the collector's activities and preferences can be made and in which they develop a complementary reality

Museums and the Future of Collecting Simon J. Knell, 2017-03-02 Collecting is a key function of museums Its apparent simplicity belies a complexity of questions and issues which make all collecting imprecise and unrepresentative This book exposes the many meanings of collections the different perspectives taken by different cultures and the institutional response to the collecting problem One major concern is omission whether this be determined by politics professional ethics the law or social agenda How did curators collect during the war in Croatia What were the problems of trying to collect the old South Africa when the new one was born Can museums collect from groups which seem to deviate from society's norms How has the function of museums affected the practices of international trade Can museums collect successfully if collecting agenda are being set externally Museums and the Future of Collecting encourages museums to move away from the collecting of isolated tokens to move beyond the collecting policy and to understand more clearly the intellectual function of what they do Here examples are given from Australia Sweden Canada Spain Britain and Croatia which provide this intellectual understanding and many practical tools for evaluating a future collecting strategy A Companion to Museum Studies Sharon Macdonald, 2011-08-24 A Companion to Museum Studies captures the multidisciplinary approach to the study of the development roles and significance of museums in contemporary society Collects first rate original essays by leading figures from a range of disciplines and theoretical stances including anthropology art history history literature sociology cultural studies and museum studies Examines the complexity of the museum from cultural political curatorial historical and representational perspectives Covers traditional subjects such as space display buildings objects and collecting and more contemporary challenges such as visiting commerce community and experimental exhibition forms The Politics of Museums Clive Gray, 2015-09-15 This is the first book to examine how and why museums are political institutions By concentrating on the ways in which power ideology and legitimacy work at the international national and local levels of the museum experience Clive Gray provides an original analysis of who exercises power and how power is used in museums

New Museum Theory and Practice Janet Marstine, 2008-04-15 New Museum Theory and Practice is an original collection of essays with a unique focus the contested politics and ideologies of museum exhibition Contains 12 original essays that contribute to the field while creating a collective whole for course use Discusses theory through vivid examples and historical overviews Offers guidance on how to put theory into practice Covers a range of museums around the world from art to history anthropology to music as well as historic houses cultural centres virtual sites and commercial displays that use the conventions of the museum Authors come from the UK Canada the US and Australia and from a variety of fields that inform cultural studies

Women and museums 1850-1914 Kate Hill, 2016-07-01 This book recovers the significant contribution made by women to museums not just in obvious roles such as workers but also as donors visitors volunteers and patrons It suggests that women persistently acted to domesticate the museum by importing domestic objects and domestic regimes of value as well as by making museums more welcoming to children and even by stressing the importance of housekeeping at the museum At the same time women sought masculine careers in science and curatorship but found such aspirations hard to achieve their contribution tended to be kept within clear feminised areas The book will be of interest to those working on gender culture or museums in the period It sheds new light on women's material culture and material strategies education and professional careers and leisure practices It will form an important historical context for those working in contemporary museum studies

The Nature of Classical Collecting Alexandra Bounia, 2017-07-05 Contrary to general traditional belief the origins of collecting as a systematic activity that refers to the satisfaction of symbolic rather than actual needs was not an invention of the Renaissance Collecting made its first appearance in European prehistory was a subject of interest and debate for the ancient Greeks and Romans and has been present continuously ever since The Nature of Classical Collecting is the first thorough discussion of collecting in the ancient classical world Based on extensive research of the literary sources available and complemented wherever necessary from references to archaeological and epigraphic evidence it is a thought provoking attempt to consider a phenomenon which has been in the centre of the western mind set since its very early origins

Exhibiting Madness in Museums Catharine Coleborne, Dolly MacKinnon, 2012-06-12 While much has been written on the history of psychiatry remarkably little has been written about psychiatric collections or curating Exhibiting Madness in Museums offers a comparative history of independent and institutional collections of psychiatric objects in Australia New Zealand Canada and the United Kingdom Leading scholars in the field investigate collectors collections their display and the reactions to exhibitions of the history of insanity Linked to the study of medical museums this work broadens the study of the history of psychiatry by investigating the significance and importance of the role of twentieth century psychiatric communities in the preservation interpretation and representation of the history of mental health through the practice of collecting In remembering the asylum and its different communities in the twentieth century individuals who lived and worked inside an institution have struggled to preserve the physical character of their world This collection of essays considers the way that collections of objects from the former psychiatric institution have played a role in constructions of its history It historicises the very act of collecting and also examines ethical problems and practices which arise from these activities for curators and exhibitions Wax Trash and Vinyl Treasures: Record Collecting as a Social Practice Roy Shuker, 2017-07-05 The term record collecting is shorthand for a variety of related practices Foremost is the collection of sound recordings in various formats although often with a marked preference for vinyl by individuals and it is this dimension of record collecting that is the focus of this book Record collecting and the public stereotypes associated with it is frequently linked primarily with rock and pop music Roy Shuker focuses on these broad styles but also includes other genres and their collectors notably jazz blues exotica and ethnic music Accordingly the study examines the history of record collecting profiles collectors and the collecting process considers categories especially music genres and types of record collecting and outlines and discusses the infrastructure within which collecting operates Shuker situates this discussion within the broader literature on collecting along with issues of cultural consumption social identity and the construction of self in contemporary society Record collecting is both fascinating in its own right and provides insights into broader issues of nostalgia consumption and material culture Narrating Objects,

Cult Collectors Lincoln Geraghty, 2014-02-24 Cult Collectors examines cultures of consumption and the fans who collect cult film and TV merchandise Author Lincoln Geraghty argues that there has been a change in the fan convention space where collectible merchandise and toys rather than just the fictional text have become objects for trade nostalgia and a focal point for fans personal narratives New technologies also add to this changing identity of cult fandom whereby popular websites such as eBay and ThinkGeek become cyber sites of memory and profit for cult fan communities The book opens with an analysis of the problematic representations of fans and fandom in film and television Stereotypes of the fan and collector as portrayed in series such as The Big Bang Theory and films like The 40 Year Old Virgin are discussed alongside changes in consumption practices and the mainstreaming of cult media Following this theoretical chapters consider issues of gender representation nostalgia and the influence of social media Finally extended case study chapters examine in detail the connections between the fan community and the commodities bought and sold Topics discussed include The San Diego Comic Con and the cult geographies of the fan convention Hollywood memorabilia and collecting cinema history The Star Wars franchise merchandising and the adult collector Online stores and the commercialisation of cult fandom Mattel Hasbro and nostalgia for animated eighties children s television

Preserving Popular Music Heritage Sarah Baker, 2015-05-01 There is a growing awareness around the world of the pressing need to

archive the material remnants of popular music so as to safeguard the national and local histories of this cultural form Current research suggests that in the past 20 or so years there has been an expansion of DIY heritage practice with the founding of numerous DIY popular music institutions archives and museums around the world This edited collection seeks to explore the role of DIY or Pro Am Professional Amateur practitioners of popular music archiving and preservation It looks critically at ideas around DIY preservationism self authorised and unauthorised heritage practice and the DIY institution while also unpacking the potentialities of bottom up community based interventions into the archiving and preservation of popular music s material history With an international scope and an interdisciplinary approach this is an important reference for scholars of popular music heritage studies and cultural studies Subverting Consumerism Robert Crocker,Keri Chiveralls,2018-07-24 There is now a widespread interest in reuse in many domains from opera houses built over old warehouses to vintage clothes and everyday goods incorporating repurposed materials or parts Despite its ubiquity this extensive creative work is typically seen in narrowly environmental terms as a means of reducing carbon resource use or waste However as this volume shows reuse also has aesthetic and cultural dimensions and a rich social currency invoked to consciously subvert the accelerated consumer culture responsible for our unfolding environmental crisis In three parts the essays in this book consider reuse in terms of values aesthetics and meaning its application in contemporary urban and spatial settings and the revival of social practices involving a more conscious recourse to reuse and repair These are bookended by the editors essays the first on the significant relationship between reuse and technological and social acceleration evident in the surrounding consumer society and the last on the multiple forms of reuse deployed in a contemporary alternative building practice and their contributions to presenting alternative ways of living in the world Challenging dominant understandings of waste and consumption Subverting Consumerism shows how reuse has become a means for many to creatively engage with the past and to discover a continuity and sense of place eroded by the accelerative regimes of contemporary consumerism Becoming a means of resistance and offering a range of aesthetic social and economic possibilities reuse can be found to subvert and challenge the obsessive quest for the new found in contemporary consumerism The Collector's Voice Susan Pearce,Rosemary Flanders,Fiona Morton,2016-12-05 The Collector s Voice is a major four volume project which brings together in accessible form material relevant to the history and practice of collecting in the European tradition from c 1500 BC to the present day The series demonstrates how attitudes to objects the collecting of objects and the shape of the museum institution have developed over the past 3000 years Material presented includes translations of a wide range of original documents letters official reports verse fiction travellers accounts catalogues and labels Volume 1 Ancient Voices edited by Susan Pearce and Alexandra Bounia Volume 2 Early Voices edited by Susan Pearce and Kenneth Arnold Volume 3 Imperial Voices edited by Susan Pearce and Rosemary Flanders Volume 4 Contemporary Voices edited by Susan Pearce and Paul Martin The Evolution of Library and Museum Partnerships Lisa
