When a chimney or smokestack becomes so fouled with soot that its efficiency is impaired, it can be easily swept out with a small fir or spruce tree. If the chimney has a clean-out door at the bottom, a rope can be lowered from the top until the end can be drawn through the opening. The tree is tied to the middle of the rope and pulled up and down until the tree has been cleaned. In case there is no opening at the bottom, a stone or other weight heavy enough to drag the tree to the bottom can be tied to the tree. A good strong rope should always be used and the tree securely fastened so as to prevent its becoming caught in the chimney.
