Population Ageing In Hungary And The Netherlands A European Perspective:

Population Ageing in Hungary and the Netherlands Gijs Beets, Gijs Beers Et Al, 2003-08 Hungary and the Netherlands are two examples of variation in the population ageing process. Because the two countries have differing demographic histories the ageing levels and trends vary. The Hungarian process is more advanced while the Netherlands still The Transition to Motherhood in Japan Hideko Matsuo, 2003 This study is about the extent of and reasons for postponement of first birth in Japan. And in order to answer this research question the nature of the Second Demographic Transition in Japan will be assessed. The first objective is to document the postponement of first birth in Japan and compare this with the Netherlands. The second objective is to explain the reasons for postponement of first birth taking an approach which is multi level macro micro perspective and process context and life courses approaches comparative comparing with the Netherlands and historical cohort and period and linking this with the study of the Second Demographic Transition Population Ageing in Central and Eastern Europe Andreas Hoff, 2016-04-08 During the 1990s Europe became the first continent with a mature society where people aged 60 years and older outnumber children and as this trend continues the resulting ageing societies will differ from previous societies in their make up in their needs and in their resource allocation. Population ageing poses an even greater challenge to the post communist societies of Central and Eastern Europe. While still struggling to cope with the aftermath of the economic and social transition process following the breakdown of communism they are now facing even more rapid demographic change than Western Europe. This book brings together leading scholars to present an understanding of the processes underlying the very rapid population ageing in Central and Eastern Europe. In addition to discussing the main demographic drivers behind this development in each of the countries examined this volume also discusses its implications for policy healthcare provision workforces intergenerational family relations the social cohesion of future Central and Eastern European societies and the quality of life experienced by their citizens. Organised around broad geographical regions with final sections analysing the book's findings and their future implications. Population Ageing in Central and Eastern Europe will be of interest to gerontologists policy makers students and scholars of population change.

Changing Worlds and the Ageing Subject Britt-Marie Öberg, 2018-01-18 Research into ageing and later life has tended to describe old age in relation to society's problems concerning health and social care. Today demographic changes current advancements in technology and political and socio cultural developments also affect the living conditions of both young and old people. This exceptional volume draws together scholars from Europe and the USA to inspire and encourage new research approaches. Taking old people's own ideas experiences and opinions as the starting point for studies of the ageing process the contributors regard old age as an equally important and varied stage of the life cycle. The volume considers the humanistic historical dimension of ageing and substantiates new perspectives on family roles and intergenerational relationships. It also examines age discrimination the impact of the increase in early retirement the effect of old and new technology on older people's lives different ageing experiences of men and women and how to emphasize old people's own interpretation and understanding of the ageing process     Families, Ageing and Social Policy Chiara Saraceno,2008-01-01 Offers insights into the way in which social policies and welfare state arrangements interact with family and gender models This title presents the research in the field based on a variety of national and comparative sources and using different theoretical and methodological approaches     Macro-economic Determinants of International Migration in Europe Roel Peter Wilhelmina Jennissen,2004 Discusses macro economic determinants of international migration in Europe
