

What are vulnerable populations?

- The Emergency Management National Response Framework says “special needs” populations may have additional needs before, during and after an incident in functional areas, such as:
 - Maintaining independence
 - Communication
 - Transportation
 - Supervision
 - Medical care

They are often constrained by:

- Poverty
- Physical or mental disability
- Health issues
- Low English proficiency
- Transportation disadvantage
- Age

and especially by combinations of these.

Handbook of Asian American Health Grace J. Yoo, Mai-Nhung Le, Alan Y. Oda, 2012-10-12 Asian Americans encounter a range of health issues often unknown to the American public policy makers researchers and even clinicians National research often combines Asian Americans into a single category not taking into account the differences and complexity among Asian ethnic subgroups The definition of Asian American derives from the U S Census Bureau's definition of Asian which includes peoples from all the vast territories of the Far East Southeast Asia and the South Asian Subcontinent While Census classifications determine demographic measurements that affect equal opportunity programs the broad rubric Asian American can never describe accurately the more than 50 distinct Asian American subgroups who together comprise multifaceted diversity across cultural ethnicities socio economic status languages religions and generations This volume rectifies that situation by exploring the unique needs and health concerns of particular subgroups within the Asian American community It consolidates a wide range of knowledge on various health issues impacting Asian Americans while also providing a discussion into the cultural social and structural forces impacting morbidity mortality and quality of life The volume is designed to advance the understanding of Asian American health by explaining key challenges and identifying emerging trends faced in specific ethnic groups and diseases illnesses innovative community based interventions and the future needed areas of research Climate Justice in the Majority World Neil J.W. Crawford, Kavya Michael, Michael

Mikulewicz,2023-07-31 This edited collection explores a diverse range of climate in justice case studies from the Majority World where most of humans and non humans live It is also the site of the most severe impacts of climate change and home to some of the key solutions for the climate crisis The collection brings together 12 chapters featuring the work of over 30 authors from around the globe The impacts of climate change are disproportionately affecting individuals communities and countries in the Majority World who historically have contributed little to rising global temperatures The 12 chapters focus on a range of cross cutting themes demonstrating both individual and collective experiences of climate change and struggles for achieving climate justice from the Majority World This includes activism resistance and social movement organizing in India and Brazil lived experiences and understandings of frontline communities in Bangladesh and South Africa consequences of and responses to disasters in Mozambique and Puerto Rico and contested accounts narratives and futures in the Maldives and Pakistan among other topics By adopting a decolonial lens this book provides rich empirical content insightful comparisons and novel conceptual interventions It foregrounds climate justice from an intersectional perspective and contributes to the ongoing efforts by scholars and activists to address epistemic injustice in climate change research policy and practice It will appeal to undergraduate and graduate level students academics activists policymakers and members of the public concerned with the impacts and inequalities of climate change in the Majority World
