Women, Aging, and Art Frima Fox Hofrichter, Midori Yoshimoto, 2022-07-28 In light of the global aging crisis and concerns this book sheds a light on images of old women through twelve varied representations from diverse cultures spanning medieval to contemporary times and provides a counter to the stereotypes

Jack Shadbolt and the Coastal Indian Image Marjorie M. Halpin, 2011-11-01 Jack Shadbolt was inspired in his formative years by his contact with Emily Carr and with her brooding works portraying the remnants of Indian villages against the overwhelming wilderness He made sketches of Indian artefacts and the Cowichan Reserve in the 1930s but it was only after World War II that elements of Indian art began to show up in his style Marjorie Halpin finds in the changes in the way Indian forms occur in Shadbolt's paintings an appropriate expression of the changing attitudes of British Columbians to Native society and the political will the Native people now manifest. The place of Indian motifs in Shadbolt's painting can be broadly correlated with the cultural quickening of Indian society in recent years. They reveal his emotional sympathy with Kwagiutl Haida and Tlingit forms and his deep response to the Indians' spiritual and historic presence in the British Columbia environment.

Global Trade and Visual Arts in Federal New England Patricia Johnston, Caroline Frank, 2014-11-04. A highly original and much needed collection that explores the impact of Asian and Indian Ocean trade on the art and aesthetic sensibilities of New England port towns in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. This diverse interdisciplinary volume adds to our understanding of visual representations of economic and cultural changes in New England as the region emerged as a global trading center entering the highly prized East Indies trades. Examining a wide variety of commodities and forms including ceramics, textiles, engravings, paintings, architecture, and gardens, the contributors highlight New Englanders' imperial ambitions in a wider world. This book will appeal to a broad audience of historians and students of American visual art as well as scholars and students of fine and decorative arts.

Captured Heritage Douglas Cole, 2011-11-01. The heyday of anthropological collecting on the Northwest Coast took place between 1875 and the Great Depression. The scramble for skulls and skeletons, poles, canoes, baskets, feast bowls, and masks went on until it seemed that almost everything not nailed down or hidden was gone. The period of most intense collecting on the coast coincided with the growth of anthropological museums which reflected the realization that time was running out and that civilization was pushing the indigenous people to the wall, destroying their material culture and even extinguishing the native stock itself. Douglas Cole examines the process of collecting in the context of the development of museums and anthropology. The main North American museums with Northwest Coast collections: the Smithsonian Institution, the American Museum of Natural History, Chicago's Field Museum of Natural History, the Royal British Columbia Museum, and the Canadian Museum of Civilization in Ottawa were intense rivals in the race against time. For the new edition of Captured Heritage, Douglas Cole has written a preface in which he outlines developments since the book's first publication in 1985. Since that time, for example, the Kwagiutl Museum and Cultural Center on Quadra Island and the U Mista Museum and Cultural Center at Alert Bay have been successful in having some of their artifacts repatriated.

Adventures and Sufferings of John R. Jewitt Hilary, 2009-12-01. A Narrative of the Adventures and Sufferings of John R. Jewitt is a classic of its kind. In 1802 when he was nineteen, Jewitt signed on the brigantine Boston which set sail from England for the Pacific Northwest Coast of North America. At Nootka Sound on Vancouver Island, the ship stopped to trade furs with the native people. Days later, the powerful chief Maquinna and his warriors massacred the ship's entire crew except for Jewitt and John Thompson. Held captive as a slave for two years, young Jewitt experienced adventure and hardship as he learned the language, took part in many facets of native life, and even married against his will. Throughout it all, he kept a forbidden journal.

recording his activities and observations Hilary Stewart enriches this reprint of Jewitt's narrative with background information on the history of the coast and a chapter on the remainder of his colourful life
