Photography and text by Mary Fish
Windward Press, $40

Some people make much more of poems to the places and people they love. Mary Fish has done something on a larger scale to do the rather large subject of her affection: Maui. Here, she has assembled a portrait in words and photographs of her wonderful, windswept bit of paradise on the island, some near Cape Kihei's "downcountry" in pine. Begun with the island's first American settler, sometime in 1800 and done in a reading center and across through to its present status as one of the state's most beautiful resorts. As Fish says, the book is "photographed in letters and depicts the island and the community that is in it to 'live'." It does that and more—with recipes for Hawaiian meals and, and the like.
