

The background image is a photograph of a desert landscape. In the foreground, a river flows over a rocky, reddish-brown bed. The water is clear, and its surface reflects the sky and the surrounding vegetation. On the left bank, there are some green shrubs and trees. In the background, several large, flat-topped red rock formations (mesas and buttes) rise against a clear blue sky. The lighting suggests it might be late afternoon or early morning, as the rocks have a warm, golden-orange hue.
