IPGRI Thematic Report 2000-2001 International Plant Genetic Resources Institute,2003 Intellectual Property Rights in Agricultural Biotechnology Frederic H. Erbisch,Karim M. Maredia,2004 During the past twenty five years biotechnology has revolutionized agricultural research The enormous potential together with a landmark decision by the US Supreme Court to allow the patenting of genetically engineered organisms has encouraged private sector companies to invest in research programmes This book first edition in 1998 is now fully revised and updated with five completely new chapters It presents definitive information on intellectual property law in a simplified form The Custodians of Biodiversity Manuel Ruiz,Ronnie Vernooy,2012-03-15 Globally local and indigenous approaches to conserving biodiversity crop improvement and managing precious natural resources are under threat Many communities have to deal with biopiracy for example As well existing laws are usually unsuitable for protecting indigenous and traditional knowledge and for recognizing collective rights such as in cases of participatory plant breeding where farmers researchers and others join forces to improve existing crop varieties or develop new ones based on shared knowledge and resources This book addresses these issues It outlines the national and international policy processes that are currently underway to protect local genetic resources and related traditional knowledge and the challenges these initiatives have faced In particular these themes are addressed within the context of the Convention of Biological Diversity and the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture The authors broaden the policy and legal debates beyond the sphere of policy experts to include the knowledge holders themselves These are the custodians of biodiversity farmers herders and fishers in local communities Their experience in sharing access and benefits to genetic resources is shown to be crucial for the development of effective national and international agreements The book presents and analyzes this experience including case studies from China Cuba Honduras Jordan Nepal Peru and Syria Copublished with the International Development Research Centre IDRC
