Seeds Of Famine:

Seeds of Famine Richard W. Franke, 1992-12-03 SCOTT copy 2 From the John Holmes Library Collection Seeds of Exchange Maria Fedorova, 2025-08-15 Seeds of Exchange examines the US and Soviet exchange of agricultural knowledge and technology during the interwar period Maria Fedorova challenges the perception of the Soviet Union as a passive recipient of American technology and expertise She reveals the circular nature of this exchange through official government bureaus amid anxious farmers in crowded auditoriums in cramped cars across North Dakota and Montana and by train over the once fertile steppes of the Volga Amid the post World War I food insecurity Soviet and American agricultural experts relied on transnational networks bridging ideological differences As Soviets traveled across the US agricultural regions and Americans plowed steppes in the southern Urals and the lower Volga both groups believed that innovative solutions could be found beyond their own national borders Soviets were avidly interested in American technology and American agricultural experts perceived the Soviet Union to be an ideal setting for experimenting with and refining modern farm systems and organizational practices As Seeds of Exchange shows agricultural modernization was not the exclusive domain of Western countries

Baobab John Rashford, 2023-06-28 Modern humans descendants of a founding population that separated from chimpanzees some five to eight million years ago are today the only living representative of a branching group of African apes called hominins Because of its extraordinary size and shape the baobab Adansonia digitata L has long been identified as the most striking tree of Africa s mosaic savanna the landscape generally regarded as the environment of hominin evolution This book makes the case for identifying the baobab as the tree of life in the hunter gatherer adaptation that was the economic foundation of hominin evolution The argument is based on the significance of the baobab as a resource rich environment for the Hadza of northeastern Tanzania who continue to be successful hunter gatherers of the African savanna
