Heider, 1997 Accompanying videocassettes include short ethnographically accurate films on a wide range of culture types and world areas which contribute to the subject of the chapters Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 2004 Seeing Anthropology continues to be the only cultural anthropology text available that allows for easy integration of ethnographic films into the introductory cultural anthropology course This text truly incorporates films within the text by blending textbook content with fourteen ethnographic film clips that are put in the hands of students More flexible ordering options are available with the new edition See New to this Edition section below One reviewer says The greatest strengths of this text are its unique and skillful use of film clips to enhance student learning I can think of no better way to extend student learning in anthropology than the use of films and there is no one more qualified to select and present anthropological films than the author of this book Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, Herbert L. Ziegler, 2000-09 This is the only book video package for cultural anthropology This book truly incorporates films within the text This unique package allows the reader to view the films in class or at home The Third Eye Fatimah Tobing Rony, 1996 Charting the intersection of technology and ideology cultural production and social science Fatimah Tobing Rony explores early twentieth century representations of non Western indigenous peoples in films ranging from the documentary to the spectacular to the scientific Turning the gaze of the ethnographic camera back onto itself bringing the perspective of a third eye to bear on the invention of the primitive other Rony reveals the collaboration of anthropology and popular culture in Western constructions of race gender nation and empire Her work demonstrates the significance of these constructions and more generally of ethnographic cinema for understanding issues of identity In films as seemingly dissimilar as Nanook of the North King Kong and research footage of West Africans from an 1895 Paris ethnographic exposition Rony exposes a shared fascination with and anxiety over race She shows how photographic realism contributed to popular and scientific notions of evolution race and civilization and how in turn anthropology understood and critiqued its own use of photographic technology Looking beyond negative Western images of the Other Rony considers performance strategies that disrupt these images for example the use of open resistance recontextualization and parody in the films of Katherine Dunham and Zora Neale Hurston or the performances of Josephine Baker She also draws on the work of contemporary artists such as Lorna Simpson and Victor Masayesva Jr and writers such as Frantz Fanon and James Baldwin who unveil the language of racialization in ethnographic cinema Elegantly written and richly illustrated innovative in theory and original in method The Third Eye is a remarkable interdisciplinary contribution to critical thought in film studies anthropology cultural studies art history postcolonial studies and women s studies Seeing South Asia Dev Nath Pathak, Biswajit Das, Ratan Kumar Roy, 2022-04-11 This book critically examines the cultural politics of

Writing and Seeing Rui Manuel G. de Carvalho Homem, Maria de Fátima Lambert, 2006 The essays in this volume are informed by a variety of theoretical assumptions and of critical methodologies but they all share an interest in the intersections of word and image in a variety of media This unifying rationale secures the present collection's central position in the current critical context defined as it predominantly is by ways of reading that are based on a relational nexus The intertextual the intermedial the intersemiotic are indeed foregrounded and combined in these essays conceptually as much as in the critical practices favoured by the various contributions Studies of literature in its relation to pictorial genres enjoy a relative prominence in the volume but the range of media and of approaches considered is broad enough to include photography film video television comic strips animated film public art material culture The backgrounds of contributors are likewise diverse culturally academically linguistically The volume combines contributions by prominent scholars and critics with essays by younger scholars from a variety of backgrounds The resulting plurality of perspective is indeed a source of new insights into the relations between writing and seeing and it contributes to making this collection an exciting new contribution to word and image studies

The Ethnographer's Eye Anna Grimshaw, 2001-04-30 Grimshaw's exploration of the role of vision within modern anthropology engages with current debates about ocularcentism investigating the relationship between vision and knowledge in ethnographic enquiry Using John Berger's notion of ways of seeing the author argues that vision operates differently as a technique and theory of knowledge within the discipline In the first part of the book she examines contrasting visions at work in the so called classical British school reassessing the legacy of Rivers Malinowski and Radcliffe Brown through the lens of early modern art and cinema In the second part of the book the changing relationship between vision and knowledge is explored through the anthropology of Jean Rouch David and Judith MacDougall and Melissa Llewelyn Davies Vision is foregrounded in the work of these contemporary ethnographers focusing more general questions about technique and epistemology whether image based media are used or not in ethnographic enquiry Seeing Cities Change Jerome Krase, 2016-04-01 Cities have always been dynamic social environments for visual and otherwise symbolic competition between the groups who live and work within them In contemporary urban areas all sorts of diversity are simultaneously increased and concentrated chief amongst them in recent years being the ethnic and racial transformation produced by migration and the gentrification of once socially marginal areas of the city Seeing Cities Change demonstrates the utility of a visual approach and the study of ordinary streetscapes to document and analyze how the built environment reflects the changing cultural and class identities of neighborhood residents Discussing the manner in which these changes relate to issues of local and national identities and multiculturalism it presents studies of various cities on both sides of the Atlantic to show how global forces and the competition between urban residents in contested terrains is changing the faces of cities around the globe Blending together a variety of sources from scholarly and mass media this engaging volume focuses on the importance of seeing and in its consideration of questions of migration ethnicity diversity community identity class and culture will appeal to sociologists anthropologists and geographers with interests in visual methods and urban spaces
