Moch Is Anmoch The Gaelic Poetry Of Donald A Macneill And Other Colonsay Bards:

Moch Is Anmoch Donald A. MacNeill, 1997-12 A collection of original poetry and song by former Mod Medalist the late Donald MacNeill and other Colonsay bards Published for the first time and with the support of the Gaelic Books Council With translations and notes by Alastair Scouller illustrated by Andrew McMorrine The work has been published for its literary merit but will also be of interest to students of dialect The Potter's Tale Dion Alexander, 2017-05-11 The Potter's Tale is a story of one man's journey of discovery and self discovery on one of the most beautiful islands on the Hebrides Colonsay Dion Alexander was the Colonsay Potter through the 1970s and his own story is interwoven with that of some of the legendary characters of the islands in that period one of the last in which Gaelic came naturally to the community It is also the story of beginning to think about how to keep a small remote community dominated by a landed estate alive and viable in the face of modern pressures The Colonsay of the 1970s had no electricity or affordable housing and an erratic ferry service The book is an autobiography a reflection of a world still close in time but in some ways very distant interwoven with much of history tradition and folklore and a moving account of the trials triumphs and tribulations of a small community Above all it is woven with a deep love of the magical place that is Colonsay Chapman, 1999 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2000 An tuil Ronald Black, 1999 This collection traces 100 years of Gaelic verse and includes both high and low poetry children's verse and nonsense rhymes as well as the serious intellectual verse of the 1940s and 1950s Each poem has a facing English translation and the introduction sets the poems into their cultural and literary context Poets include Domhnall Ruadh Choruna Sorley Maclean and George Campbell Hay Éigse, 2013 The Gaelic Bards Thomas Pattison, 1890 The Gaelic Bards, and Original Poems Thomas Pattison, John George MacNeill, 2015-11-17 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Bards of the Gael and Gall George Sigerson, 1925 Sar-Obair Nam Bard Gaelach, Or, the Beauties of Gaelic Poetry, and Lives of the Highland Bards John MacKenzie, James Logan, 2015-02-19 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to

Times to the Present Day Nigel MacNeill,2005-01-01 The Celts and the Teuton started westward from the cradle of the human race spreading themselves over Europe while other members of the same stock went eastward extending themselves over wide tracts of Asia From the Celts the Greeks the Romans and the Teutons have sprung the chief nations in whose possession Europe still remains It is interesting to think that the brothers who parted thousands of years ago somewhere in teeming Asia the one going east and the other west are now meeting again on the plains of Hindostan Their movements during those thousands of years have encircled the whole earth Fiercely have they fought and disputed over every inch of the ground which one or other of their tribes at one time or other occupied Theirs has always been the chief ruling power in the world They begin to know one another again From the extreme west of Europe across the New World the Anglo Celt arrives in India and recognises the Hindoo as his brother The Aryans migrated into Europe in a somewhat advanced state of civilisation According to Sayce their advent was from the north a theory which subverts nearly all previously accepted opinions on the subject Some of them however such as the Greeks first and the Romans afterwards favoured by the maritime countries in which they settled made more rapid progress than the others It was largely their self conceit that led the Greeks and Romans to describe all the nations beyond their bounds as barbarian Our ancestors in these islands whether Celtic or Teutonic were never mere savages They had a religion if not radically the same fully as enobling in its tendency as that of Greece and Rome They evidently made some progress in the useful arts while in the days of Rome s greatest splendour they were in possession of military weapons which were not much inferior to her own The form of government among the Celts was patriarchal and this continued for a long time among the Gaels of Scotland There was the king or chief who was regarded as the father of the clan tribe or nation With him was associated a council of chieftains or elders and in important matters the lot of the whole people But with all this political organisation they could not make such progress in civilisation as the Greeks and Romans who mostly dwelt in cities The Gaels who along with the Germans acted the part of pioneers on the plains of Europe and living a rural life could not compete successfully in the race for higher civilisation with the brother races who inhabited the maritime cities of Greece and Italy and who besides obtained much of an earlier civilisation from Phoenicia and Egypt The early migrations of the Gael are involved in much obscurity By the study of topography however we can follow many of his footsteps westward This study however is rendered very difficult and at times very uncertain because the discoverable traces of the presence of the Celt lie embedded in the soil of the life of the powerful pre Celtic races The Celt and the Teuton have always been close neighbours The progress of the two westward appears to have been somewhat simultaneous at least on the Continent The geographical positions of France and Germany at the present day represent not inaccurately the attitude of the Gaelic and Teutonic races towards one another in their earlier movements from the east It has been said that the Celts came too soon into Europe just as the Slaves came too late It would be difficult to verify this remark in the light of history and in the face of existing facts While admitting that the remark may have an element of truth in it we must remember with regard to the Slaves that it is premature to anticipate what they may become We see them a mighty threatening wave on a westward course The Chinese hordes who are already a trouble press behind the Russians and the growing power of the latter in Europe is a matter of serious concern to our statesmen The struggle between Celt and Teuton again cannot be said to be at an end as long as France and Germany maintain their present watchful and hostile attitude As to their racial composition respectively the former may be said to be as much Celtic as the latter is Teutonic But on the other hand in the United Kingdom Celt and Teuton may be said virtually to agree They have so blended for centuries that notwithstanding boasts on both sides which science cannot sustain it is impossible almost to produce a pure Saxon or a pure Gael It cannot certainly be done in Scotland This intermingling of races in the British Islands has produced a national character very unlike our Continental neighbours The Anglo Celtic power of the British Empire is not so immobile or sluggish as the German nor so light and airy as the French and its rule appears almost to have arrived at the incipient stage of universal dominion Great Britain was peopled in the north and in the south simultaneously from the Continent and Ireland was similarly peopled from the north and south of Britain The Gaels of Ireland and of Scotland were the same people having the same language and music and all the elements of civilisation about them were the common property of both At the same time there are evidences that the Gaels of the North of Ireland stood in closer relationship to those of Scotland than those in the South of Ireland And this holds true even to this very day It should always be borne in mind that there have been different tribes of pre Celts Celts and Teutons in Ireland which has hitherto prevented that national cohesion in the time of danger which alone could secure the independence of the country Ireland being peopled at a later period has taken a longer time in developing a full orb'd nationality On the other hand there has been an earlier homogeneity among the Scottish Celts

whether called Picts Gaels Scots or Albanaich they were always one against the common foe whatever might be the feuds among themselves In more recent days the reformation of religion in the 16th century helped to produce in the Scottish Gael a distinctively different character from that of the Gael of Ireland it also destroyed in Scotland many of the old Gaelic things which were associated with a religion that was regarded as superstitious Thus much of the history and the literature of the Scottish Gael was lost In Ireland where no violent changes took place in the condition and religious beliefs of the people we find very extensive manuscript literature rich with interesting spoils of the past as well as more relics even of earlier Gaelic life in Scotland SAR-OBAIR NAM BARD GAELACH James 1794?-1872 Logan,John 1806-1848 MacKenzie,2016-08-27
