IDENTIFY THE INTERACTIONS

Go back to a nature walk

- In the last table, identify spheres that interact in your observations.

HYDROSPHERE

Water cycles in the hydrosphere in the water cycle.

- Water cycles because of temperature changes.
- As liquid water warms up, it evaporates into the atmosphere where it cools and condenses, eventually falling to Earth as precipitation.

The sun powers the water cycle by causing changes in temperature.

All matter on Earth can be categorized into four major subsystems.

ATMOSPHERE

The atmosphere is divided into layers.

Layers are divided based on temperature:

- Troposphere
- Stratosphere
- Mesosphere
- Thermosphere
- Exosphere

All weather takes place in the layer closest to Earth, called the troposphere.

Greenberg, 1995-07-28 This book investigates through the problem of the earth's shape part of the development of post Newtonian mechanics by the Parisian scientific community during the first half of the eighteenth century In the Principia Newton first raised the question of the earth's shape John Greenberg shows how continental scholars outside France influenced efforts in Paris to solve the problem and he also demonstrates that Parisian scholars including Bouguer and Fontaine did work that Alexis Claude Clairaut used in developing his mature theory of the earth's shape The evolution of Parisian mechanics proved not to be the replacement of a Cartesian paradigm by a Newtonian one a replacement that might be expected from Thomas Kuhn's formulations about scientific revolutions but a complex process instead involving many areas of research and contributions of different kinds from the entire scientific world Greenberg both explores the myriad of technical problems that underlie the historical development of part of post Newtonian mechanics which have only been rarely analyzed by Western scholars and embeds his technical discussion in a framework that involves social and institutional history politics and biography Instead of focusing exclusively on the historiographical problem Greenberg shows as well that international scientific communication was as much a vital part of the scientific progress of individual nations during the first half of the eighteenth century as it is today
