Nottingham Memories:

Nottingham Memories True North Holdings,2002-12-01 Memory and popular film Paul Grainge,2018-07-30 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license One of the first books to put memory at the centre of analysis when exploring the relationship between film culture and the past Provides a sustained interdisciplinary perspective on memory and film from early cinema to the present drawing from film studies American studies and cultural studies Adopts a resolutely cultural perspective and unlike psychoanalytic or formalist approaches to memory explores questions of culture power and identity Contributes to the growing debate about the status and function of the past in cultural life and discourse discussing issues of memory in film and of film as memory Considers such well known films as Forrest Gump Pleasantville and Jackie Brown Record Series Thoroton Society,2002 East Midlands English Natalie Braber,Jonnie Robinson,2018-07-23 This volume will provide a comprehensive yet accessible description of East Midlands English an area of neglect in linguistic research Existing publications which aggregate the findings of earlier surveys and more recent localised studies presenting an overview of regional speech in the UK are either lacking up to date research data from the East Midlands or simply ignore the region A coordinated survey of dialects of the East Midlands was part of the Survey of English Dialects SED in the 1950s This data is now over sixty years old and focuses almost exclusively on broad rural dialect speakers This book will fill the knowledge and literature gaps by comparing vernacular speech in different urban and rural locations in the East Midlands and examining whether the East Midlands is a transition zone between the North and South Recordings held by the British Library will be used and will be supplemented with recordings made with local speakers Language in the East Midlands is distinctive and there is considerable regional variety for instance between speech in the major urban centres of Nottingham Derby and Leicester Bringing out this regional variation will also improve our wider understanding of language variation in English The concept of the East Midlands in itself is not a clear one and this volume aims to address such issues and to examine what makes the East Midlands an area of itself and what this area includes The Vision Aniruddha Bose,2016-08-31 A lyrical novel of Aniruddha Bose s Dekha in Bengali rendered in English as THE VISION explores the answers to these questions through an array of characters Here the author takes the reader on a guided tour of India showing its rich culture and traditions behind the apparent poverty He brings forth the cry of human soul that lurks behind the glittering facade of wealth and luxury of the West Then through the eyes of the main character Srabasti the intellectual reader understands the real philosophy Looking at this philosophy is THE VISION Crime in England 1880-1945 Barry Godfrey,2013-10-30 This book is an ambitious attempt to map the main changes in the criminal justice system in the Victorian period through to the twentieth century Chapters include an examination of the growth and experience of imprisonment policing and probation services the recording of crime in official statistics and in public memory and the possibilities of research created by new electronic and on line sources an exploration of time space and place on crime and the growth internationalisation and science led approach of crime control methods in this period Unusually the book presents these issues in a way which illustrates the sources of data that informs modern crime history and discusses how criminologists and historians produce theories of crime history Consequently there are a series of interesting and lively debates of a thematic nature which will engage historians criminologists and research methods specialists as well as the undergraduates and school students that like the author are fascinated by crime history

Global Undergrounds Carlos López Galviz,Paul Dobraszczyk,Bradley L. Garrett,2016-06-15 Rest your eyes long enough on the skylines of Delhi Guangzhou Jakarta even Chicago or London and you will see the same remarkable transformation building after building going up with the breakneck speed of twenty first century urbanization But there is something else just as transformative that you won't see sprawling networks of tunnels rooting these cities into the earth Global Undergrounds offers a richly illustrated exploration of these subterranean spaces charting their global reach and the profound but often unseen effects they have on human life The authors shine their headlamps into an astonishing diversity of manmade underground environments including subway systems sewers communications pipelines storage facilities and even shelters There they find not only an extraordinary range of architectural approaches to underground construction but also a host of different cultural meanings Underground places can evoke fear or hope they can serve as sites of memory places of work or the hidden headquarters of resistance movements They are places that can tell a city's oldest stories or foresee its most distant futures They are places ultimately of both incredible depth and breadth crucial to all of us topside who work as urban planners geographers architects engineers or any of us who take subway trains or enjoy fresh water from a faucet Indeed as the authors demonstrate the constant flux within urban undergrounds the nonstop circulation of people substances and energy serves all city dwellers in myriad ways not just with the logistics of day to day life but as a crucial part of a city's mythology theoretical empirical policy related scholarship on the intersection of perceptions of crime victimisation vulnerability and risk This is timely as fear of crime has now been a focus of scholarly and policy interest for some fifty years and shows little sign of abating Research on fear of crime is demonstrative of the inter disciplinaryity of criminology drawing in the disciplines of sociology psychology political science history cultural studies gender studies planning and architecture philosophy and human geography This collection draws in many of these interdisciplinary themes This collections also extends the boundaries of fear of crime research It does this both methodologically and conceptually but perhaps more importantly it moves us beyond some of the often repeated debates in this field to focus on novel topics from unique perspectives The book begins by plotting the history of fear of crime s development then moves on to investigate the methodological and theoretical debates that have ensued and the policy transfer that occurred across jurisdictions Key elements in debates and research on fear of crime concerning gender race and ethnicity are covered as are contemporary themes in fear of crime research such as regulation security risk and the fear of terrorism the mapping of fear of crime and fear of crime beyond urban landscapes The final sections of the book explore geographies of fear and future and unique directions for this research

Voices in the History of Madness Robert Ellis, Sarah Kendal, Steven J. Taylor, 2021-05-12 This book presents new perspectives on the multiplicity of voices in the histories of mental ill health In the thirty years since Roy Porter called on historians to lower their gaze so that they might better understand patient doctor roles in the past historians have sought to place the voices of previously silent marginalised and disenfranchised individuals at the heart of their analyses Today the development of service user groups and patient consultations have become an important feature of the debates and planning related to current approaches to prevention care and treatment This edited collection of interdisciplinary chapters offers new and innovative perspectives on mental health and illness in the past and covers a breadth of opinions views and interpretations from patients practitioners policy makers family members and wider communities Its chronology runs from the early modern period to the twenty first century and includes international and transnational analyses from Europe North America Asia and Africa drawing on a range of sources and methodologies including oral histories material culture and the built environment Chapter 4 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com

Free from all Danger Chris Nickson, 2018-02-01 Richard Nottingham discovers that a new more ruthless breed of criminal has colonised the city when he returns as Constable of Leeds October 1736 Lured out of retirement to serve as Constable once again Richard Nottingham finds Leeds very different from the place he remembers Many newcomers have been attracted by the town s growing wealth but although the faces have changed the crimes remain the same as Nottingham discovers when a body is found floating in the River Aire its throat cut What has changed is the fear that pervades the town With more bodies emerging and witnesses too frightened to talk Nottingham realizes he s dealing with a new kind of criminal someone with no respect for anything or anyone Someone who believes he s beyond the law someone willing brutally to destroy anyone who opposes him To stop him Nottingham will need to call in old favours rely on trusted friendships and seek help from some very unlikely sources
