Now You Are My Brother Missionaries In British Columbia:

Now You Are My Brother The Royal British Columbia Museum, Margaret Whitehead, Children, Teachers and Schools in the History of British Columbia Jean Barman, Mona Gleason, 2003 This new edition explores the myriad ways that education broadly defined molds each of us in profound and enduring ways Laid against the supporting scaffolding of modern critical theory the chapters offer cutting edge perspectives of going to school in British Columbia How has education been tailored by race class gender How do representations of schools and schooling change over time and whose interests are served What echoes of current tensions can we hear in the past The book offers a glimpse of the deep contradictions inherent in an experience that we all share Voices of British Columbia Robert Budd, 2010-09-01 Between 1959 and 1966 the late CBC Radio journalist Imbert Orchard travelled across British Columbia with recording engineer Ian Stephen interviewing nearly a thousand of the province's pioneers The resulting collection 2 700 hours of audiotapes describing both extraordinary events and everyday experiences is considered by historians to be one of the best sources of primary information about the province To the general public however the tales in these tapes remain virtually unknown Combining text archival photographs and the original sound recordings from the CBC Archives onto three CDs Voices of British Columbia draws 24 stories from this collection to immerse us in daily life in the early 20th century You'll meet Sarah Glassey a spirited homesteader who carried a rifle and bagged more birds than any man in the Kispiox Valley You'll hear Bill LaChance the sole survivor of the 1910 Glacier Snowslide describe that tragic avalanche And you'll discover how Great Chief Kwah of Fort St James spared the life of James Douglas future governor of British Columbia By turns sad contemplative insightful and funny these stories reveal as much about the spirit and resilience of people as they do about the history of the province The Heavens Are Changing Susan Neylan, 2003 A study of Protestant missionization among the Tsimshianic speaking peoples of the North Pacific Coast of British Columbia during the latter half of the nineteenth century On the Cusp of Contact Jean Barman, 2020-03-28 The ways in which we can redress the past are many and varied writes Jean Barman and it is up to each of us to act as best we can The seventeen essays collected here originally published between 1996 and 2013 make a valuable contribution toward this laudable goal With a wide range of source material from archival and documentary sources to oral histories Barman pieces together stories of individuals and groups disadvantaged in white settler society because of their gender race and or social class Working to recognize past actors that have been underrepresented in mainstream histories Barman's focus is BC on the cusp of contact The essays in this collection include fascinating though largely forgotten life stories of the frontier that space between contact and settlement where for a brief moment anything seemed possible This volume featuring over thirty archival photographs and illustrations makes these important and very readable essays accessible to a broader audience for the first time They Call Me Father Nicolas Coccola, 1988 These fascinating memoirs of Father Nicolas Coccola a Corsican born Oblate who arrived in British Columbia in 1880 reveal the complexity of the work carried out by ordinary missionary priests Academic Reading - Second Edition Janet Giltrow, 2002-03-21 This reader has been designed to accompany Giltrow's Academic Writing one of the key principles of which is that there is a close connection between the processes of reading and of writing academic prose Each reading is preceded by introductory commentary questions and suggestions for discussion and the book also includes a brief general introduction As with Giltrow's Academic Writing her Academic Reading is a challenging text At its core are examples of actual academic writing of the sort that students must learn to deal with daily and to write themselves As newcomers to the scholarly community students can find that community's ways of reading and writing mysterious unpredictable and intimidating Academic Reading demystifies the scholarly genres shedding light on their discursive conventions Throughout Academic Reading respects the student writer it engages the reader's interest without ever condescending and it avoids entirely the arbitrary and the dogmatic The second edition is expanded to include twenty one selections nineteen of which come from scholarly publications and more than half of which are new to this edition

The Archive of Place William Turkel, 2011-11-01 The Archive of Place weaves together a series of narratives about environmental history in a particular location British Columbia's Chilcotin Plateau In the mid 1990s the Chilcotin was at the centre of three territorial conflicts Opposing groups in their struggle to control the fate of the region and its resources invoked different understandings of its past and different types of evidence to justify their actions These controversies serve as case studies as William Turkel examines how people interpret material traces to reconstruct past events the conditions under which such interpretation takes place and the role that this interpretation plays in historical consciousness and social memory It is a wide ranging and original study that extends the span of conventional historical research Canadian Pentecostalism Michael Wilkinson, 2009 One of the most significant transformations in twentieth century Christianity is the emergence and development of Pentecostalism The fastest growing form of Christianity with over five hundred million followers worldwide this widely diverse movement has influenced many sectors of Christianity flourishing in Africa Latin America and Asia and also affecting Canada Bringing together a previously scattered and somewhat hidden literature Canadian Pentecostalism provides the first comprehensive overview of the subject The collection is broad in focus examining classical Pentecostalism charismatic movements in the Roman Catholic and mainline Protestant traditions and neo Pentecostalism Contributing authors examine historical debates about the origins of the movement the response of Pentecostalism to institutionalization and globalization and the roles of women aboriginals and immigrants within the Canadian movement A multi disciplinary study with contributions from scholars in history sociology cultural studies theology and religious studies Canadian Pentecostalism provides an important window into the Pentecostal Charismatic movement and fills a gap in our general understanding of religion in Canada Contributors include Peter Althouse Southeastern University Peter Beyer University of Ottawa Robert K Burkinshaw Trinity Western University Michael Di Giacomo Valley Forge Christian College Bruce L Guenther Trinity Western University Randall Holm Providence College Pamela M S Holmes
