Racialization Studies In Theory And Practice

Mia Lövheim, Mikael Stenmark

Racialization Studies In Theory And Practice:

Racialization Karim Murji, John Solomos, 2005 Racialization has become one of the central concepts in the study of race and racism. It is widely used in both theoretical and empirical studies of racial situations. There has been a proliferation of texts that use this notion in quite diverse ways. It is used broadly to refer to ways of thinking about race as well as to institutional processes that give expression to forms of ethno-racial categorization. An important issue in the work of writers such as Robert Miles for example concerns the ways in which the construction of race is shaped historically and how the usage of that idea forms a basis for exclusionary practices. The concept therefore refers both to cultural or political processes or situations where race is invoked as an explanation as well as to specific ideological practices in which race is deployed. It is evident however that despite the increasing popularity of the concept of racialization there has been relatively little critical analysis exploring its theoretical and empirical usages. It is with this underlying concern in mind that Racialization Studies in Theory and Practice brings together leading international scholars in the field of race and ethnicity in order to explore both the utility of the concept and its limitations.

The Mechanisms of Racialization Beyond the Black/White Binary

Bianca Gonzalez-Sobrino, Devon R. Goss, 2020-05-21 This book focuses on the mechanisms that undergird the operation of racialization and works to empirically define the specific mechanisms by which racialization outside of the black-white paradigm operates. The contributors highlight the advantages and benefits of using case studies from outside of the black-white racial boundary in the social scientific study of racism, racial identity, racial meaning, and racial representation. Their contributions can be grouped into three specific areas of focus: the investigation of the relationship between racialization and the state, the interplay between racialization and identities, and the role of racialization in the media. Taken together, the book lays out a roadmap for future study of racialization and the study of race beyond the racial categories of black and white. Serving as a guiding point to future research, this book will be of interest to all scholars of race and those seeking to understand the ideologies, actions, interactions, structures, and social practices associated with racialization. This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies.

Racialization and Religion Nasar Meer, 2015-04-10 This volume locates the contemporary study of anti-Semitism and Islamophobia squarely within the fields of race and racism. As such, it challenges the extent to which discussion of the racialization of these minorities remains unrelated to each other or is explored in distinct silos as a series of internal debates. By harnessing the explanatory power of long-established organizing concepts within the study of race and racism, this collection of articles makes a historically informed theoretical and empirical contribution to aligning these analytical pursuits. The collection brings together a range of perspectives on this subject, including a comparison between Islamophobia in early modern Spain and twenty-first century Europe, an examination of the new anti-Semitism, and an analysis of online anti-Muslim and anti-Semitic jokes. This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies.

Bourdieu: The Next Generation Jenny Thatcher, Nicola Ingram, Ciaran

Burke, Jessie Abrahams, 2015-12-22 This book will give unique insight into how a new generation of Bourdieusian researchers apply Bourdieu to contemporary issues It will provide a discussion of the working mechanisms of thinking through and or with Bourdieu when analysing data In each chapter individual authors discuss and reflect upon their own research and the ways in which they put Bourdieu to work The aim of this book is not to just to provide examples of the development of Bourdieusian research but for each author to reflect on the ways in which they came across Bourdieu s work why it speaks to them including a reflexive consideration of their own background and the way in which it is thus useful in their thinking Many of the authors were introduced to Bourdieu s works after his death The research problems which the individual authors tackle are contextualised in a different time and space to the one Bourdieu occupied when he was developing his conceptual framework This book will demonstrate how his concepts can be applied as thinking tools to understand contemporary social reality Throughout Bourdieu s career he argued that sociologists need to create an epistemological break to abandon our common sense or as much as we can and to formulate findings from our results In essence we are putting Bourdieu to work to provide a structural constructivist approach to social reality anchored through empirical reflexivity

Researching Global Education Policy D. Brent Edwards Jr., Antoni Verger, Marcia McKenzie, Keita Takayama, 2024-07-30 The movement of policy is a core feature of contemporary education reform Many different concepts including policy transfer borrowing and lending travelling diffusion and mobility have been deployed to study how and why policy moves across jurisdictions scales of governance policy sectors or organisations However the underlying theoretical perspectives and the foundational assumptions of different approaches to policy movement remain insufficiently discussed To address this gap this book places front and center questions of theory ontology epistemology and method related to policy movement It explores a wide diversity of approaches to help understand the policy movement phenomena providing a useful guide on global studies in education as well as insights into the future of this dynamic area of work

Music, Difference, and the Residue of Race Jo Haynes, 2013 Race and music seem fatally entwined in a way that involves both creative ethnic hybridity and ongoing problems of racism This book presents a sociological analysis of this enduring relationship and asks how are ideas of race critical to the understanding of music genres and preferences What does the love of difference via music contribute to contemporary perspectives of racism Previous studies of world music have situated it within the dynamics of local global musical production the representation of nations and ethnic groups theories of globalization hybridization and cultural appropriation Haynes adds a conceptual and textual shift to these debates by utilizing world music as a lens for examining cultural imaginaries of race and analytical nuances of racialization The text offers a view of world music from within building on original qualitative interview based research with people from the British world music scene These interviews provide unique insights into the discursive repertoires that underpin contemporary culture and will make a significant contribution to the mainly theoretical debates about world music

Migration and Race in Europe Martin Bulmer, John

Solomos,2020-05-21 Migration and Race in Europe covers various facets of the interplay between migration and race in Europe Over the past two decades there has been a growing public policy and political debate about questions linked to migration and refugee movements across the borders of Europe This has been evident in countries such as the UK France the Netherlands and Germany that have had long established experience with questions about immigration and race But what has also become clear is that these debates have also become an established part of political and civil society discourses across both Southern and Eastern European societies and beyond The contributions to this volume draw on the latest research in order to provide an insight into the changing dynamics of migration and race in a number of European societies This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Race, Ethnicity and Football Daniel Burdsey,2012-01-25 Elucidating the linkages between race ethnicity gender and masculinity in football this volume addresses topics such as the experience of Muslim players recruitment of African players devolution and national identities minority ethnic clubs mixed race players sectarianism and foreign club ownership A Constructive Critique of Religion Mia Lövheim,Mikael Stenmark,2020-02-06 Why do some strategies for critique of religion seem to be more beneficial for constructive engagement whereas others increase intolerance polarization and conflict Through an analysis of the reasons underpinning a critique of religion in institutional contexts of secular democratic societies A Constructive Critique of Religion explores how constructive interaction and critique can be developed across diverse interests It shows how social and cultural conditions shaping these institutions enable and structure a critical and constructive engagement across diverging worldviews A key argument running through the book is that to develop constructive forms of critique a more thorough and systematic investigation of resources for criticism located within religious worldviews themselves is needed Chapters also address how critique of Islam and Christianity in particular is expressed in areas such as academia the law politics media education and parenting with a focus on Northern Europe and North America The interdisciplinary approach which combines theoretical perspectives with empirical case studies contributes to advancing studies of the complex and contentious character of religion in contemporary society Race, Culture and Media Anamik Saha,2021-03-24 How do media make race How do legacies of empire shape our understandings of race and media How does racism structure the media industries Is the internet an inherently white space Understanding the relationship between race culture and media has never been more important From the demonisation of Muslims to rampant new forms of racism on digital platforms media are central to understanding how race is both constructed and experienced in everyday life Yet media are key to resisting racism too While they can silence and stereotype us they can also enable us to cut across difference to contest and mobilise and to create genuine community Race Culture and Media is a critical impassioned and accessible exploration of this complex relationship Anamik Saha outlines the theories concepts and research you need to know in order to make sense of race culture and media today challenging you to move beyond simplistic notions of diversity to really engage with issues of both power and participation It is essential reading for students and researchers across media communication and cultural studies Dr Anamik Saha is Senior Lecturer in Media and Communications at Goldsmiths University of London where he convenes the MA Race Media and Social Justice

Teaching Comics and Graphic Narratives Lan Dong, 2014-01-10 The essays in this collection discuss how comics and graphic narratives can be useful primary texts and learning tools in college and university classes across different disciplines There are six sections American Studies Ethnic Studies Women's and Gender Studies Cultural Studies Genre Studies and Composition Rhetoric and Communication With a combination of practical and theoretical investigations the book brings together discussions among teacher scholars to advance the scholarship on teaching comics and graphic narratives and provides scholars with useful references critical approaches and particular case studies

Traces of Terror Victoria Sentas, 2014 Culture and External Relations Jozef Bátora, Monika Mokre, 2016-05-13 Political entities use culture to support their soft power potential to generate goodwill to frame international agenda in particular ways to erect and re enact boundaries and or to create societal linkages across them While the importance of culture has been on the rise in the realm of foreign affairs its role in this field remains one of the most under studied aspects of state policy In this book a range of international experts take an unprecedented look at what role external cultural policy plays in foreign affairs The book features historical case studies ranging from European civilizing engagement with nineteenth century China to uses of Abstract Expressionism as an instrument in the ideological struggles of the Cold War Conceptual issues ranging from the dynamics of the Anglosphere to the effects of what some term the culture of liberal democracy are addressed Current trends in the uses of culture in the EU's external relations both from the perspective of institutional developments policies and practices in the EU and from the perspective of countries engaged by the EU's cultural policies are also discussed in greater detail The systematic theoretically informed and empirically supported analyses make this book an indispensable read for scholars and policy makers wishing to gain a new understanding of the role that culture plays in foreign affairs

Apartheid Vertigo David M. Matsinhe, 2016-05-23 Apartheid vertigo the dizzying sensation following prolonged oppression and delusions of skin colour is the focus of this book For centuries the colour code shaped state and national ideals created social and emotional distances between social groups permeated public and private spheres and dehumanized Africans of all nationalities in South Africa Two decades after the demise of official apartheid despite four successive black governments apartheid vertigo still distorts South Africa's postcolonial reality The colour code endures but now in postcolonial masks Political freedom notwithstanding vast sections of the black citizenry have adopted and adapted the code to fit the new reality This vertiginous reality is manifest in the neo apartheid ideology of Makwerekwere the postcolonial colour code mobilized to distinguish black outsiders from black insiders Apartheid vertigo ranges from negative sentiments to outright violence against black outsiders including insults humiliations extortions searches arrests detentions deportations tortures rapes beatings and killings Ironically the victims are not only the outsiders against whom the code is mobilized but also the insiders who mobilize it Drawing on evidence from interviews observation press articles reports research monographs and history this book unravels the synergies of history migration nationalism black group relations and violence in South Africa deconstructing the idea of visible differences between black nationals and black foreign nationals The book demonstrates that in South Africa violence always lurks on the surface of everyday life with the potential to burst through the fragile limits set upon it and possibly escalate to ethnic cleansing

Constructed Latinx(s) Identities José I. Lara, 2025-09-09 Constructed Latinx s Identities Racialized Bodies in Visual and Textual Culture consists of ten interdisciplinary essays that discuss recent forms and interpretations of the histories and traditions of the Latinx communities present in film literature television and other cultural expressions Using specific case studies the authors of this collection delve into the intersections of identity in Latinx production and representation and challenge the colonial and modern power structures that have continuously racialized and gendered Latinx bodies In addition to deconstructing these power structures the chapters attempt to recover knowledge buried or shunned by colonialism and modernity as well as offer alternative and nonhierarchical forms of defining Latinx and forming pluri identity and multivoiced communities The concept of Latinx continues to evolve to be renegotiated and to be embedded with new meanings and subjectivities As such all chapters not only encourage further debate about racialization and the interaction of the various historical political and social contexts in identity formation but also propel all scholars to question their positionality when approaching the concept of Latinx

Honneth and Everyday Intercultural (Mis)Recognition Bona Anna, 2018-02-21 This book conducts a critical investigation into everyday intercultural recognition and misrecognition in the domain of paid work utilising social philosopher Axel Honneth s recognition theory as its theoretical foundation In so doing it also reveals the sophistication and productivity of Honneth s recognition model for multiculturalism scholarship Honneth and Everyday Intercultural Mis Recognition is concerned with the redress of intercultural related injustice and more widely the effective integration of ethically and culturally diverse societies Bona Anna analyses the everyday experiences of cross cultural misrecognition in a distinctive ethno cultural group including social norms that have been marginalised in the contexts of employment In this endeavour she deploys key constructs from Honneth s theory to argue for individual and social integration to be conceptualised as a process of inclusion through stables forms of recognition rather than as a process of inclusion through forms of group representation and participation This book will appeal to students and academics of multiculturalism interested in learning more about the usefulness of Honneth s recognition theory in intercultural inquiry including the ways in which it can circumvent some of the impasses of classical multiculturalism
