Critical Theory and Public Life John Forester, 1987 Jürgen Habermas's critical communications theory of society has excited widespread interest in recent years The essays in this book explore the research implications of Habermas's theory for the analysis of modern problems of public life Spanning the spectrum of the social sciences the essays relate critical theory to industrial policy under advanced capitalism education the mass media and consumerism public participation in planning policy analysis and critical historical studies John Forester is Associate Professor of City and Regional Planning at Cornell University Critical Theory and Public Life is included in the series Studies in Contemporary German Social Thought edited by Thomas McCarthy

Who Really Rules? G. William Domhoff, 1978 Robert A Dahl's Who Governs is a classic pluralist study which has had an important influence on American social science since the early sixties Who Really Rules provides a categorical challenge empirical methodological and theoretical to Dahl's work Empirically Domhoff's restudy of New Haven shows through newly discovered documents that Dahl was wrong about the pluralism of New Haven's power structure He also presents the most systematic statement of power structure methodology yet made a statement that contradicts Dahl's methodological claims which have been the prevailing wisdom in American social science for over fifteen years Finally Domhoff outlines the national policy planning network through which the big business ruling class dominates urban government Who Really Rules is unique in that it makes possible for the first time a dialogue between pluralist and ruling class views on the basis of studies of the same city by leading exponents of the rival theoretical positions It is original in that it includes much data not revealed by Dahl It presents the methodology of power structure research in the most comprehensive fashion yet attempted and reveals a ruling class network for urban policy planning that has never before been fully articulated of this book is the relationship between capital and government in Britain particularly the practice and organisation of capital in both national and local political processes The chapters are primarily empirical in focus and deal with such topics as power policy and the City of London and the role of the CBI in representing capital Major theoretical themes are also discussed and these include de industrialisation corporatism and the role of government in the development of pressure group habit

Gusfield,2015-03-31 In recent years the social sciences and the humanities have drawn closer to each other in thought and method This rapprochement has led to new perceptions of human behavior by sociologists as well as new methodological orientations Sociologist Joseph R Gusfield draws upon drama and fiction to show how human action is shaped by the formal dimensions of performance Gusfield first defines the concept of behavior as artistic performance He then analyzes routine and classic social research reports as literary performances in qualitative and quantitative terms Next he moves to social movements and public actions demonstrating how objects and events are products of the interpretation and reflection of individuals He draws upon literary and artistic conventions to deal with issues of representation and meaning In the first and last chapters Gusfield provides a conceptual summary examining the relation between sociology as science and art arguing that sociological methods are neither science nor art but partake of both Following the philosopher Paul Ricoeur Gusfield shows how human behavior can be read as a text always telling the participant or observer something about something Performing Action will be of interest to sociologists psychologists and students of aesthetics and critical theory Meeting Public Demands, 1988 Public Service Employment Legislation, 1974, Hearings Before the Subcommittee on Employment, Poverty, and Migratory Labor Of..., 93-2, Sept. 16; Oct. 16 and 17, 1974 United States.
