Dostilio, 2017-03-10 This book offered by practitioner scholars is an exploration and identification of the knowledge skills and dispositions that are central to supporting effective community engagement practices between higher education and communities The discussion and review of these core competencies are framed within a broader context of the changing landscape of institutional community engagement and the emergence of the Community Engagement Professional as a facilitator of engaged teaching research and institutional partnerships distinct from other academic professionals This research conducted as part of Campus Compact's Project on the Community Engagement Professional seeks to identify the shared knowledge and practices of Community Engagement Professionals by looking to empirical practice literature

Chapters include an exploration of competencies applicable to those in Community Engagement Professional roles generally and also to those specializing in specific areas such as faculty development partnership facilitation and other areas of responsibility. The authors trace the evolution of engagement administration over time and the role of those facilitating community campus engagement toward a Second Generation professional who is at once a tempered radical transformational leader and social entrepreneur. Central to the work is a presentation of the core competency findings along with suggestions for continued exploration. Dostilio and her colleagues argue that Community Engagement Professionals should claim a professional identity grounded in a set of core competencies, values, and knowledge and through association with a community of scholar practitioners similarly dedicated. Additional work to understand and empower Community Engagement Professionals in their role as distinct from other higher education professional types will enable both broader impact for institutions and communities now with a view to prepare those coming to the role for a dynamic and demanding environment without distinct boundaries.

Creative Writing Pedagogies for the Twenty-First Century Alexandria

Peary, Tom C. Hunley, 2015-06-25 The creative writing workshop beloved by some, dreaded by others, and ubiquitous in writing programs across the nation. For decades the workshop has been entrenched as the primary pedagogy of creative writing. While the field of creative writing studies has sometimes myopically focused on this single method, the related discipline of composition studies has made use of numerous pedagogical models. In Creative Writing Pedagogies for the Twenty-First Century, editors Alexandria Peary and Tom C. Hunley gather experts from both creative writing and composition studies to offer innovative alternatives to the traditional creative writing workshop. Drawing primarily from the field of composition studies, a discipline rich with a wide range of established pedagogies, the contributors in this volume build on previous models to present fresh and inventive methods for the teaching of creative writing. Each chapter offers both a theoretical and a historical background for its respective pedagogical ideas, as well as practical applications for use in the classroom. This myriad of methods can be used either as a supplement to the customary workshop model or as stand-alone roadmaps to engage and reinvigorate the creative process for both students and teachers alike. A fresh and inspiring collection of teaching methods. Creative Writing Pedagogies for the Twenty-First Century combines both conventional and cutting-edge techniques to expand the pedagogical possibilities in creative writing studies.
