The Aging Family Terry Hargrave,Suzanne Midori Hanna,2013-06-17 As the population of the United States ages and the lifespan increases so does the number of living generations The mental health care delivery system therefore faces new challenges The United States is heading into the 21st century with multigenerational families now commonplace with up to four or five generations co existing at the same time And each generation is forced to deal with its own developmental transitions as well as complex cross generational issues When a therapist steps into this situation his or her role has to take on board the complexity of the whole family system This text highlights the issues that hold families together and often tear them apart It offers core perspectives that seek to make the work of intervention easier and more effective for the clinician Whether the therapist is called upon to intervene on behalf of elder members to deal with issues such as depression or to step in when younger members are trying to determine how best to provide eldercare the perspectives presented in The Aging Family aim to enrich the strategies used Religion, Spirituality, and Aging Harry R Moody,2012-12-06 Learn how to make a more positive impact with your social work with the aged Religion is an important coping mechanism for many aging adults Religion Spirituality and Aging A Social Work Perspective presents the latest research that shows how religion and spirituality can improve quality of life for elders Respected social work researchers and scholars provide insight and practical methods for fostering positive aging while also considering how spirituality and religion can affect practitioners themselves. The full range of advantages and ethical implications are discussed in clear detail from a social work viewpoint. Case studies plainly illustrate the positive impact that the inclusion of spirituality and religion in an aging person's life may have on their physical and mental welfare. Organized social work in the early twentieth century actively tried to distance itself from its roots as a form of religious charity in favor of becoming a scientific and professional endeavor. Religion Spirituality and Aging once again bridges the gap between social work and spiritual matters by presenting penetrating articles that discuss the issues of the aging soul while examining ways to improve care. Creative strategies are offered to contribute to the spiritual side of aging while considering every implication and ethical question. The compilation is extensively referenced and includes helpful figures and tables to clearly illustrate data and ideas. Religion Spirituality and Aging discusses the latest social work trends and attitudes toward spirituality, prayer, meditation, and acts of altruism as interventions; an empirical study of how social workers use religion and spirituality as an intervention; ethical considerations and best practices; religion and spirituality during long-term care; the Postcards to God project; dreams and their relationship to the search for meaning in later life; a spiritual approach to positive aging through autobiography; dementia and spirituality; creating new rituals for sacred aging; spiritual master Henri Nouwen's principles of aging and his approaches to caring for older people; an interview study on elders' spirituality and the changes manifested in their views of religion. Religion Spirituality and Aging is a remarkable reminder that elders are our future selves. This erudite, well-reasoned examination of aging and spirituality from a social work perspective is crucial reading for social workers, human service professionals who work with the aged, and gerontology scholars.

Diversity and Aging in the Social Environment Sherry M.

Cummings, Colleen Galambos, 2016-05-06 Today nearly one of every eight Americans is 65 or older and by 2030 over 20% of the population will be in this age group. Are you prepared to work with this vastly diverse and rapidly growing population? This single source is designed to help social service professionals provide effective services to America's vastly diverse and rapidly growing elderly population. Diversity and Aging in the Social Environment explores the impact of race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, and geographic location on elders' strengths, challenges, needs, and resources to provide you with a more complete understanding of the issues elders face. In order to be more responsive to older adults, social workers and other human service professionals need to enhance their knowledge of the aging population and the factors that impact the way seniors interact with society, organizations, community resources, neighborhoods, support networks, kinship groups, family, and friends. Diversity and Aging in the Social Environment examines differences in race, ethnicity, geographical location, sexual orientation, religion, and health status to help current and future human service professionals provide culturally competent services to the diverse range of elderly people they serve. In addition, it addresses the wide disparity that exists for older Americans in terms of income and assets, number of chronic conditions, functional and cognitive impairment, housing arrangements, and access to health care This book provides a context for the examination of diversity issues among older adults by describing and discussing several theoretical perspectives on aging that highlight important aspects of diversity Next you ll find thoughtful examinations of issues and challenges faced by lesbian gay bisexual and transgender elders and the strengths they bring into later life the impact of gender race and sexual orientation on prevalence rates risk factors methods of disease contraction and mortality rates among older adults with HIV AIDS along with a discussion of the psychosocial issues they face diverse characteristics of custodial grandparents and the influence of the caregivers gender race age and geographic location on methods of care and available caregiver support differences in caregiver characteristics service utilization caregiver strain and coping mechanisms among several racial ethnic groups of adults who care for elderly disabled and ill persons cultural religious factors that influence interactions between health care personnel and Japanese American elders the relationship between acculturation and depressive symptoms among Mexican American couples life challenges facing Jewish and African American elders with a look at each group s coping mechanisms differences in religious spiritual coping skills among Native American African American and white elders psychological well being and religiosity among a diverse group of rural elders

Chronic Illness Pamela D. Larsen, Ilene Morof Lubkin, 2011-12-15 The new edition of best selling Chronic Illness Impact and Intervention continues to focus on the various aspects of chronic illness that influence both patients and their families Topics include the sociological psychological ethical organizational and financial factors as well as individual and system outcomes The Seventh Edition has been completely revised and updated and includes new chapters on Models of Care Culture Psychosocial Adjustment Self Care Health Promotion and Symptom Management Publisher description

Successful Aging Through the Life Span May L. Wykle, Peter J. Whitehouse, Diana L. Morris, 2004-10-25 This book explores concepts and practices for productive aging What factors contribute to successful aging What is the role of exercise and nutrition What is the role of children and adults in interaction with elders The chapters identify the best practices for successful aging examine trends in intergenerational caregiving and define roles and responsibilities across the life span Topics addressed include how to maximize productive engagement of older adults how multigenerational issues impact successful aging the ways in which a learning environment can promote intergenerational relationships Sky Above Clouds Wendy L. Miller, Gene D. Cohen, 2016-04-01 Through their scientific research and clinical practice husband and wife team Gene D Cohen and Wendy L Miller uncovered new clues about how the aging mind can build resilience and continue growth even during times of grave illness thus setting aside the traditional paradigm of aging as a time of decline Cohen considered one of the founding fathers of geriatric psychiatry describes what happens to the brain as it ages and the potential that is often overlooked Miller an expressive arts therapist and educator highlights stories of creative growth in the midst of illness and loss encountered through her clinical practice Together Cohen and Miller show that with the right tools the uncharted territory of aging and illness can in fact be navigated In this book the reader finds the real story of not only

Cohen's belief in potential but also how he and his family creatively used it in facing his own serious health challenges. With Miller's insights and expressive psychological writing Sky Above Clouds tells the inside story of how attitude, community, creativity, and love shape a life with or without health even to our dying. Cohen and Miller draw deeply on their own lessons learned as they struggle through aging, illness, and loss within their own family and eventually Cohen's own untimely death. What happens when the expert on aging begins to age? And what happens when the therapist who helps others cope with illness and loss is forced to confront her own responses to these experiences? The result is a richly informative and emotional journey of growth.

Contextualizing Health and Aging in the Americas William A. Vega, Jacqueline L. Angel, Luis Miguel F. Gutiérrez Robledo, Kyriakos S. Markides, 2018-09-22 This book presents new insights into the consequences of the impending growth in and impact of the older segment of Latino aging adults across distinctive regions of the Americas. It uses a comparative research framework to further understanding of current issues in health and aging in the transnational context of the health and migratory experiences of the U.S. Mexican population. It provides an important contribution to the interdisciplinary investigation of chronic diseases and functional impairments, social care, and medical services, care giving, and intervention development, and neighborhood factors supporting optimal aging using new conceptual and methodological approaches, inter-group comparisons. Specifically, the chapters employ different methodologies that investigate trends in aging, health, and services related to immigration processes, family, and household structure, macroeconomic changes in the quality of community life, and focus on the new realities of aging in Latino families in local communities. The book focuses on
