Eamonn Wall

Settler Salmon Poetry:

From the Sin-é Café to the Black Hills Eamonn Wall, 1999 Eamonn Wall arrived in the United States in the 1980s as part of a wave of young educated immigrants who became known as the New Irish In this book he comments on his own experiences and those of his generation who identify as much with contemporary ethnic and immigrant America as they do with the long settled Irish American community Wall's starting point is the now closed Sin Caf in New York's East Village which was a hangout in the early 1990s for expatriate Irish musicians actors and writers He comments on the poetry fiction essays and memoirs of both the New Irish and Americans of Irish heritage locating them within a literary and historical context But this is also a deeply personal book in which Wall wrestles with his own identity as an Irishman living in America raising his children as Americans and learning to love the American landscape from the streets of Manhattan to the western hills of Nebraska

Space-Time Colonialism Juliana Hu Pegues, 2021-05-11 As the enduring last frontier Alaska proves an indispensable context for examining the form and function of American colonialism particularly in the shift from western continental expansion to global empire In this richly theorized work Juliana Hu Pegues evaluates four key historical periods in U S Alaskan history the Alaskan purchase the Gold Rush the emergence of salmon canneries and the World War II era In each Hu Pegues recognizes colonial and racial entanglements between Alaska Native peoples and Asian immigrants In the midst of this complex interplay the American colonial project advanced by differentially racializing and gendering Indigenous and Asian peoples constructing Asian immigrants as out of place and Alaska Natives as out of time Counter to this space time colonialism Native and Asian peoples created alternate modes of meaning and belonging through their literature photography political organizing and sociality Offering an intersectional approach to U S empire Indigenous dispossession and labor exploitation Space Time Colonialism makes clear that Alaska is essential to understanding both U S imperial expansion and the machinations of settler colonialism

The Poetry of Bloody Sunday Kübra Özermiş, 2025-09-29 As a turning point that changed the course of the Troubles the Bloody Sunday massacre continues to define ongoing debates about the legacy of the Troubles and the impact of state violence Bloody Sunday has been at the centre of numerous cultural and literary expressions which deal with the grief and trauma of the massacre such as murals songs plays and poetry This volume is the first comprehensive study of the poetry of Bloody Sunday written by critically acclaimed Irish poets including Seamus Heaney Paul Muldoon Thomas Kinsella Seamus Deane and Medbh McGuckian By focusing on poems written between 1972 and 2015 this book examines each poet's attempt to find an apt way of articulating the anger trauma and grief over the massacre with most of the poets continuously returning to the shooting in their poetry throughout their careers The monograph outlines how in the face of adversity the poets draw on old Irish literary traditions such as Gaelic laments and Aisling poetry which offer an indigenous anti colonial and counter hegemonic response to a massacre that was experienced as a colonial aggression It also discusses the complex relationship between poetry and politics and the negotiation between aesthetic freedom and the moral obligation to write about Bloody Sunday Literature,1898 Lines Review,1995 The settlers William Henry G. Kingston,1875 White Settlers Charles Jedrej,Mark Nuttall,1996 This text describes the local experience of recent population changes and addresses the problem of repopulation in rural Scotland It analyzes the paradoxes ironies and ambiguities which form a complex structure of feelings

Who's Who in Jewish History Joan Comay,2023-05-31 From Karl Marx to the Marx brothers the Routledge Who's Who in Jewish History presents a complete reference guide to over a thousand prominent men and women who have shaped Jewish culture Covering twenty centuries of Jewish history it provides detailed biographical information on each leading figure analysis of their role and significance both in Jewish life and the wider culture a comprehensive chronological table displaying the history of the Jewish race a useful glossary giving precise definitions of Jewish words Poetry Harriet Monroe,2000 Indigenous Water and Drought Management in a Changing World Miguel Sioui,2022-05-19

Indigenous Water and Drought Management in a Changing World presents a series of global case studies that examine how different Indigenous groups are dealing with various water management challenges and finding creative and culturally specific ways of developing solutions to these challenges With contributions from Indigenous and non Indigenous academics scientists and water management experts this volume provides an overview of key water management challenges specific to Indigenous peoples proposes possible policy solutions both at the international and national levels and outlines culturally relevant tools for assessing vulnerability and building capacity In recent decades global climate change particularly drought has brought about additional water management challenges especially in drought prone regions where increasing average temperatures and diminishing precipitation are leading to water crises Because their livelihoods are often dependent on the land and water Indigenous groups native to those regions have direct insights into the localized impacts of global environmental change and are increasingly developing their own adaptation and mitigation strategies and solutions based on local Indigenous knowledge IK Many Indigenous groups around the globe are also faced with mounting pressure from extractive industries like mining and forestry which further threaten their water resources The various cases presented in Indigenous Water and Drought Management in a Changing World provide much needed insights into the particular issues faced by Indigenous peoples in preserving their water resources as well as actionable information that can inform future scientific research and policymaking aimed at developing more integrated region specific and culturally relevant solutions to these critical challenges Includes diverse case studies from around the world Provides cutting edge perspectives about Indigenous peoples water management issues and IK based solutions Presents maps for most case studies along with a summary box to conclude each chapter Dictionary of Irish Literature ,1996 Growing Wild Jasmin Rindlisbacher,Alan Cohen,2020-10-30 Mary Elizabeth Barber 18181899 born in Britain arrived in the Cape Colony in 1820 where she spent the rest of her life as a rolling stone as she lived in and near Grahamstown the diamond and gold fields Pietermaritzburg Malvern near Durban and on various farms in the eastern part of the Cape Colony She has been perceived as the most advanced woman of her time yet her legacy has attracted relatively little attention She was the first woman ornithologist in South Africa one of the first who propagated Darwins theory of evolution an early archaeologist keen botanist and interested lepidopterist In her scientific writing she propagated a new gender order positioned herself as a feminist avant la lettre without relying on difference models and at the same time made use of genuinely racist argumentation This is the first publication of her edited scientific correspondence The letters transcribed by Alan Cohen who has written a number of biographical articles on Barber and her brothers are primarily addressed to the entomologist Roland Trimen the director of the Royal Botanic Gardens Kew London Today the letters are housed at the Royal Entomological Society in St Albans This book also includes a critical introduction by historian Tanja Hammel who has published a number of articles and is about to publish a monograph on Mary Elizabeth Barber
