Early Sound Era Jeremy Barham,2024-01-31 In a major expansion of the conversation on music and film history The Routledge Companion to Global Film Music in the Early Sound Era draws together a wide ranging collection of scholarship on music in global cinema during the transition from silent to sound films the late 1920s to the 1940s Moving beyond the traditional focus on Hollywood this Companion considers the vast range of cinema and music created in often overlooked regions throughout the rest of the world providing crucial global context to film music history An extensive editorial Introduction and 50 chapters from an array of international experts connect the music and sound of these films to regional and transnational issues culturally historically and aesthetically across five parts Western Europe and Scandinavia Central and Eastern Europe North Africa The Middle East Asia and Australasia Latin America Soviet Russia Filling a major gap in the literature The Routledge Companion to Global Film Music in the Early Sound Era offers an essential reference for scholars of music film studies and cultural history

Histories of American Physical Anthropology in the Twentieth Century Michael A. Little,Kenneth A. R. Kennedy,2010-01-01 Histories of American Physical Anthropology in the Twentieth Century chronicles the history of physical anthropology or as it is now known biological anthropology from its professional origins in the late 1800 up to its modern transformation in the late 1900s In this edited volume 13 contributors trace the development of people ideas traditions and organizations that contributed to the advancement of this branch of anthropology that focuses today on human variation and human evolution Designed for upper level undergraduate students graduate students and professional biological anthropologists this book provides a brief and accessible history of the biobehavioral side of anthropology in America

Excluded Ancestors, Inventible Traditions Richard Handler,2000-11-16 History making can be used both to bolster and to contest the legitimacy of established institutions and canons Excluded Ancestors Inventible Traditions seeks to widen the anthropological past and in doing so to invigorate contemporary anthropological practice In the past decade anthropologists have become increasingly aware of the ways in which participation in professional anthropology has depended and continues to depend on categorical boundaries of race class gender citizenship institutional and disciplinary affiliation and English language proficiency Historians of anthropology play a crucial role interrogating such boundaries as they do they make newly available the work of anthropologists who have been ignored Excluded Ancestors Inventible Traditions focuses on little known scholars who contributed to the anthropological work of their time such as John William Jackson the members of the Hampton Folk Lore Society Charlotte Gower Chapman and Lucie Varga In addition essays on Marius Barbeau and Sol Tax present figures who were centrally located in the anthropologies of their day A final essay analyzes notions of the canon and considers the place of a classic ethnographic area highland New Guinea in anthropological canon formation Hungarian Cinema John Cunningham, 2004 Hungarian cinema has often been forced to tread a precarious and difficult path Through the failed 1919 revolution to the defeat of the 1956 Uprising and its aftermath Hungarian film makers and their audiences have had to contend with a multiplicity of problems In the 1960s however Hungary entered into a period of relative stability and increasing cultural relaxation resulting in an astonishing growth of film making Innovative and groundbreaking directors such as Mikl s Jancs Hungarian Rhapsody The Red and the White Istv n Szab Mephisto Sunshine and M rta M szaros Little Vilma The Last Diary emerged and established the reputation of Hungarian films on a global basis This is the first book to discuss all major aspects of Hungarian cinema including avant garde animation and representations of the Gypsy and Jewish minorities A Companion to Biological Anthropology Clark Spencer Larsen, 2023-03-10 A Companion to Biological Anthropology The discipline of biological anthropology the study of the variation and evolution of human beings and their evolutionary relationships with past and living hominin and primate relatives has undergone enormous growth in recent years Advances in DNA research behavioral anthropology nutrition science and other fields are transforming our understanding of what makes us human A Companion to Biological Anthropology provides a timely and comprehensive account of the foundational concepts historical development current trends and future directions of the discipline Authoritative yet accessible this field defining reference work brings together 37 chapters by established and younger scholars on the biological and evolutionary components of the study of human development The authors discuss all facets of contemporary biological anthropology including systematics and taxonomy population and molecular genetics human biology and functional adaptation early primate evolution paleoanthropology paleopathology bioarchaeology forensic anthropology and paleogenetics Updated and expanded throughout this second edition explores new topics revisits key issues and examines recent innovations and discoveries in biological anthropology such as race and human variation epidemiology and catastrophic disease outbreaks global inequalities migration and health resource access and population growth recent primate behavior research the fossil record of primates and humans and much more A Companion to Biological Anthropology Second Edition is an indispensable guide for researchers and advanced students in biological anthropology geosciences ancient and modern disease bone biology biogeochemistry behavioral ecology forensic anthropology systematics and taxonomy nutritional anthropology and related disciplines Race and Human Evolution Milford H. Wolpoff, Rachel Caspari, 1997 Race and Human Evolution shows how the debate over the Eve theory reflects a long history of theories about human origins and race that has been fraught with social and political implications The Hungarians in America, 1583-1974 Joseph Széplaki, 1975 A chronology of the Hungarians in America accompanied by pertinent documents Lovers of Cinema Jan-Christopher Horak, 1995 Marshaling his broad cinematic and cultural knowledge editor Jan Christopher Horak has compiled in Lovers of Cinema a groundbreaking group of articles on this neglected film period With one exception all are original to this volume and many are the first to treat comprehensively such early filmmakers as Mary Ellen Bute Theodore Huff and Douglass Crockwell Also included in the book is a listing of all American avant garde films produced in the years before World War II as well as a bibliography of the most relevant criticism literature and news accounts The Classical Hollywood Reader Steve Neale,2012-11-12 The Classical Hollywood Reader brings together essential readings to provide a history of Hollywood from the 1910s to the mid 1960s Following on from a Prologue that discusses the aesthetic characteristics of Classical Hollywood films Part 1 covers the period between the 1910s and the mid to late 1920s It deals with the advent of feature length films in the US and the growing national and international dominance of the companies responsible for their production distribution and exhibition In doing so it also deals with film making practices aspects of style the changing roles played by women in an increasingly business oriented environment and the different audiences in the US for which Hollywood sought to cater Part 2 covers the period between the coming of sound in the mid 1920s and the beginnings of the demise of the studio system in late 1940s In doing so it deals with the impact of sound on films and film production in the US and Europe the subsequent impact of the Depression and World War II on the industry and its audiences the growth of unions and the roles played by production managers and film stars at the height of the studio era Part 3 deals with aspects of style censorship technology and film production It includes articles on the Production Code music and sound cinematography and the often neglected topic of animation Part 4 covers the period between 1946 and 1966 It deals with the demise of the studio system and the advent of independent production In an era of demographic and social change it looks at the growth of drive in theatres the impact of television the advent of new technologies the increasing importance of international markets the Hollywood blacklist the rise in art house imports and in overseas production and the eventual demise of the Production Code Designed especially for courses on Hollywood Cinema the Reader includes a number of newly researched and written chapters and a series of introductions to each of its parts It concludes with an epilogue a list of resources for further research and an extensive bibliography Significant Others Richard Handler,2004-06-15 Anthropology is by definition about others but in this volume the phrase refers not to members of observed cultures but to significant others spouses lovers and others with whom anthropologists have deep relationships that are both personal and professional The essays in this volume look at the roles of these spouses and partners of anthropologists over the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries especially their work as they accompanied the anthropologists in the field Other relationships discussed include those between anthropologists and informants mentors and students cohorts and partners and parents and children The book closes with a look at gender roles in the field demonstrated by the marriage in the late nineteenth century of the male Anthropological Society of Washington to the Women s Anthropological Society of America Revealing relationships that were simultaneously deeply personal and professionally important these essays bring a new depth of insight to the history of anthropology as a social science and human endeavor Inga Scott Farris,2016-10-30 Inga Arvad was the great love of President John F Kennedy s life and also

Adolf Hitler's special guest at the 1936 Berlin Olympics. She was an actress, a foreign correspondent, a popular Washington columnist, an explorer who lived among a tribe of headhunters, one of Hollywood's most influential gossip columnists, and a suspected Nazi spy. The latter nearly got Kennedy cashiered out of the Navy but instead set in motion the chain of events that led to him becoming a war hero. Inga lived where gossip intersects with history, and her story as told by author Scott Farris in Inga is a rollicking story that demonstrates how private lives influence public events. It is also a Hitchcockian tale of how difficult it can be to prove innocence when unjustly accused and how, as Inga phrased it, what was once a halo can slip down and become a hangman's noose. In addition to her romance with Kennedy and the attention of Hitler, Arvad married three times: to an Egyptian diplomat who insisted they never had divorced, the brilliant filmmaker Paul Fejos (whom Charlie Chaplin considered a genius), and the famed cowboy movie star Tim McCoy. She also had affairs with noted surgeon Dr. William Cahan, the prolific writer John Gunther, and Winston Churchill's right-hand man, Baron Robert Boothby. She was pursued by Wall Street financier Bernard Baruch and Swedish industrialist Axel Wenner-Gren (reputedly the richest man in the world at the time), who offered her 1 million to have his child. Inga was Miss Denmark of 1931, but by all accounts, her admirers among the European and American elite loved Inga not for her physical beauty alone but for her joie de vivre. She was a genius with people; she was daring and adventurous, and she was their equal in intellect. Like Isak Dinesen and Clare Boothe Luce, Inga Arvad led a life that both sheds light on and defies the stereotypes of women of her time.

The Most Typical

Avant-Garde David E. James, 2005-05-30. Los Angeles has nourished a dazzling array of independent cinemas: avant-garde and art cinema, ethnic and industrial films. This panoramic history of film production outside the commercial studio system reconfigures Los Angeles rather than New York as the true centre of avant-garde cinema in the US.

Hollywood Destinies Graham Petrie, 2002. Originally published in 1986, Hollywood Destinies was the first full-length detailed study of the careers of major European filmmakers including Ernst Lubitsch, F. W. Murnau, Victor Sjöström, and Mauritz Stiller, all of whom left their native countries to work in Hollywood during the 1920s. This edition contains recent scholarship on the reception of foreign films and directors in America in the 1920s, analyzes films that were not previously available, and includes a revised and updated bibliography.
