Zimmerman, 1994-03-21 This comparative study of electoral procedures trends and key issues is the first to deal with the representation of women and minorities around the world Wilma Rule and Joseph Zimmerman have brought together an international team of scholars who show why there is gross underrepresentation of women and minorities internationally and who analyze the cultural socio economic and political barriers to their future electoral successes The scholars describe the current situation in 20 countries in various regions and point to ways for women and minorities to enhance positions politically This text is intended for courses in comparative politics political parties and elections women in politics and minority politics Seeing Women, Strengthening Democracy Magda Hinojosa, Miki Caul Kittilson, 2020-07-17 Under what conditions do citizens most effectively connect to the democratic process We tend to think that factors like education income and workforce participation are most important but research has shown that they exert less influence than expected when it comes to women s attitudes and engagement Scholars have begun to look more closely at how political context affects engagement This book asks how contexts promote women s interest and connection to democracy and it looks to Latin America for answers The region provides a good test case as the institution of gender quotas has led to more recent and dramatic increases in women s political representation Specifically Magda Hinojosa and Miki Caul Kittilson argue that the election of women to political office particularly where women s presence is highly visible to the public strengthens the connections between women and the democratic process For women seeing more people like me in politics changes attitudes and orientations toward government and politics The authors untangle the effects of gender quotas and the subsequent rise in women s share of elected positions finding that the latter exerts greater impact on women s connections to the democratic process Women citizens are more knowledgeable interested and efficacious when they see women holding elected office They also express more trust in government and in political institutions and greater satisfaction with democracy when they see more women in politics The authors look at comparative data from across Latin America but focus on an in depth case study of Uruguay Here the authors find that gender gaps in political engagement declined significantly after a doubling of women s representation in the Senate The authors therefore argue that far reaching gender gaps can be overcome by more equitable representation in our political institutions The New Pythian Voices Cathryn Magno, 2018-10-24 Over the past 10 15 years there has been a flowering of politically motivated women s non governmental organizations NGOs in Israel This study examines three aspects relating to this new NGO sphere the reasons for the growth of NGOs the kind of learning that occurs in these new political spaces and the political and social implications of women s NGOs This study contributes meaningful data to literature on civil society and democratization discussing in particular the relationship between political institutions and NGOs Women and Politics in France 1958-2000 Dr Gill Allwood, Gill Allwood, Dr Khursheed Wadia, Khursheed Wadia, 2002-01-04 An essential guide to the role of women in the political life of France under the Fifth Republic It shows that the unique political history of France ensures that it remains an important and exceptional example of women s participation in the politics of a Western European country Its study is essential in order to have a complete understanding of women and politics today This is the first English language study to capture the new enthusiasm engendered by the campaign for parity in 1992 which produced constitutional reform and a record number of deputies and ministers Changing Differences Rhodri Jeffreys-Jones, 1995 There are more than fifty women in the United States Congress and nearly one fourth of foreign service posts are held by women Nevertheless the United States has yet to entrust a senior foreign policy job outside of the United Nations to a woman Beneath these statistics lurk central myths that Jeffreys Jones cogently identifies and describes the Iron Lady too masculine the lover of peace too pink the weak or the promiscuous These are to name only a few With an eye to the feminist foreign policy leaders of the future the author traces the successes and failures of collectivities such as Women Strike for Peace and individuals who were influential in international politics since World War I including Alice Paul Jane Addams Jeannette Rankin Dorothy Detzer Eleanor Roosevelt Margaret Chase Smith Helen Gahagan Douglas Bella Abzug Margaret Thatcher and many others These women often found ways to employ the myths to their own and to their country's benefit and more recently have had the freedom to defy the stereotypes altogether
