M. Babkina,2004 This guide to the literature presents 451 descriptions of books reports and articles dealing with all aspects of affirmative action including Race relations Economic aspects Reverse discrimination Preferences Affirmative Action programs Public opinion Court decisions Education and many more Complete author and subject indexes are provided     A Tyranny for the Good of its Victims Andrew F. Puzder,2025-01-14 Former CEO of CKE Restaurants Inc Andrew F Puzder exposes how the secretive consolidation of financial power under the guise of ESG represents a new collectivist threat to the free market Over the last thirty five years asset manager mega giants BlackRock State Street and Vanguard have accumulated unprecedented levels of stock ownership in virtually every major US company Voting the shares they hold for clients allows these companies to force their own environmental social and governance or ESG agenda on the American corporate sector and by extension on all of us An asset manager s traditional duty is to maximize returns for its investors but these financial elites expand their duties through stakeholder capitalism the idea that a company is responsible not only for its actual shareholders but for everyone who is affected by the company which translates to everyone in the community Thus they can impose their preferred ESG goals under the guise of benefitting an amorphous group of non investors a group that has no say over whether ESG goals actually benefit them This elite dominated economic system is nothing more than socialism in sheep s clothing ESG defines the champagne socialist agenda that would devastate the working and middle classes globally Now in the face of rising opposition these financial elites are suddenly rebranding shifting their terminology to conceal their intent A Tyranny for the Good of its Victims exposes how although they may abandon the acronym ESG these elites have pursued and will continue to pursue their ESG goals to transform our consumer driven free market economy into one that is subject to their elitist demands overriding the will of the people whom they deem incapable of self government     Sex, Race, and Class—The Perspective of Winning Selma James,2012-05-01 In 1972 Selma James set out a new political perspective Her starting point was the millions of unwaged women who working in the home and on the land were not seen as workers and their struggles viewed as outside of the class struggle Based on her political training in the Johnson Forest Tendency founded by her late husband C L R James on movement experience South and North and on a respectful study of Marx she redefined the working class to include sectors previously dismissed as marginal For James the class struggle presents itself as the conflict between the reproduction and survival of the human race and the domination of the market with its exploitation wars and ecological devastation She sums up her strategy for change as Invest in Caring not Killing This selection spanning six decades traces the development of this perspective in the course of building an international campaigning network It includes excerpts from the classic The Power of Women and the Subversion of the Community which launched the domestic labor debate the exciting Hookers in the House of the Lord which describes a church occupation by sex workers an incisive review of the C L

R James masterpiece The Black Jacobins a reappraisal of the novels of Jean Rhys and of the leadership of Julius Nyerere the groundbreaking Marx and Feminism and more The writing is lucid and without jargon The ideas never abstract spring from the experience of organising from trying to make sense of the successes and the setbacks and from the need to find a way forward

The Pursuit of Race and Gender Equity in American Academe Stephanie L. Witt, 1990-10-24 This volume examines American attitudes toward affirmative action policies through an extensive study of a national sample of university faculty The author offers new insights into the competing values in American society which the policy of affirmative action serves to bring into conflict and finds important differences in the perceptions of white males as opposed to those of protected categorical groups in regard to affirmative action The analysis also includes an extended treatment of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions on affirmative action

Law, Women Judges and the Gender Order Kasey McLoughlin, 2021-11-18 This book seeks to understand how women judges are situated as legal knowers on the High Court of Australia by asking whether a near equal gender balance on the High Court has disrupted the Court's historically masculinist gender regime This book examines how the High Court's gender regime operates once there is more than one woman on the bench It explores the following questions How have the Court's gender relations accommodated the presence women on the bench How have the women themselves accommodated those pre-existing gender relations How might legal judgments and reasoning change as a result of changing gender dynamics on the bench To develop answers to these and other questions the book pursues a methodology that conceptualises the High Court as an institution with a particular gender regime shaped historically by the dominant gender order of the wider society The intersection between the gendered individuals and the gendered institution in which they operate produces and reproduces that institution's gender regime Hence the enquiry is not so much asking have women judges made a difference but rather is asking how should we understand women judges relationship with the law a relationship that is shaped as much by the individual judge as by the institutional context in which they operate Scholars legal practitioners and researchers interested in judicial reasoning gender diversity and the legal profession gender and politics will be interested in this book because it breaks new ground as a case study of a Court's gender regime at a particular time
