we trust that this deeper more adaptable part of ourselves is our best tool of survival Fresh and delightfully contrarian Rejuvenile makes hilarious sense of this seismic culture change It s essential reading not only for grown ups who refuse to act their age but for those who wish they would just grow up Brandscapes Anna Klingmann,2010-09-24 Architecture as imprint as brand as the new media of transformation of places communities corporations and people In the twenty first century we must learn to look at cities not as skylines but as brandscapes and at buildings not as objects but as advertisements and destinations In the experience economy experience itself has become the product we re no longer consuming objects but sensations even lifestyles In the new environment of brandscapes buildings are not about where we work and live but who we imagine ourselves to be In Brandscapes Anna Klingmann looks critically at the controversial practice of branding by examining its benefits and considering the damage it may do Klingmann argues that architecture can use the concepts and methods of branding not as a quick and easy selling tool for architects but as a strategic tool for economic and cultural transformation Branding in architecture means the expression of identity whether of an enterprise or a city New York Bilbao and Shanghai have used architecture to enhance their images generate economic growth and elevate their positions in the global village Klingmann looks at different kinds of brandscaping today from Disneyland Las Vegas and Times Square prototypes and case studies in branding to Prada s superstar architect designed shopping epicenters and the banalities of Niketown But beyond outlining the status quo Klingmann also alerts us to the dangers of brandscapes By favoring the creation of signature buildings over more comprehensive urban interventions and by severing their identity from the complexity of the social fabric Klingmann argues today s brandscapes have in many cases resulted in a culture of the copy As experiences become more and more commodified and the global landscape progressively more homogenized it falls to architects to infuse an ever more aseptic landscape with meaningful transformations How can architects use branding as a means to differentiate places from the inside out and not as current development practices seem to dictate from the outside in When architecture brings together ecology economics and social well being to help people and places regain self sufficiency writes Klingmann it can be a catalyst for cultural and economic transformation The Real Fake Maria Francesca Piazzoni,2018-10-30 Thames Town an English like village built in Shanghai is many places at once a successful tourist destination an affluent residential cluster a city of migrant workers and a ghost town The Real Fake explores how the users of Thames Town transform a themed space into something more than a fake place Piazzoni understands authenticity as a dynamic relationship between people places and meanings that enables urban transformations She argues that authenticity underlies the social and physical production of space through both top down and bottom up dynamics The systems of moral and aesthetic judgments that people associate with the authentic materialize in Thames Town Authenticity excludes some users as it inhibits access and usage especially to the migrant poor And yet ideas of the authentic also encourage everyday spontaneous appropriations of space that break the village s staged atmosphere Most scholars criticize theming by arguing that it produces a fake controlling city Piazzoni complicates this view by demonstrating that although the exclusionary character of theming remains unquestionable it is precisely the experience of fakeness that allows Thames Town's users to develop a sense of place Authenticity the ways people construct and spatialize its meanings intervenes holistically in the making and remaking of space

Organisation and Complexity Jacco van Uden, 2004-05 Students of organisation have used complexity theory in many different ways and for many different reasons What characterises the writings of most management thinkers however is that the authors are primarily concerned with the question of how to make this complexity thing work for us This study takes a rather different approach Ideas and concepts of the science of complexity are borrowed to develop the idea that organisations live lives of their own an idea that is very much at odds with the dominant view that understands organisations as tools that we use to realise certain goals To illustrate matters the book discusses the developments of the organisation of Vitesse a mediocre Dutch professional football club that according to its president needed to be transformed into a major player in the family entertainment industry
