Transnationalizing Inequalities in Europe Anna Amelina, 2016-09-13 Unequal life chances became a key feature of cross border migration to and within the enlarged Europe Combining transnational intersectional and cultural sociological perspectives this book develops a conceptual tool to analyse patterns contexts and mechanisms of these cross border inequalities This book synthesizes the theories of social boundaries and of intersectionality approaching cross border relations as socially generated and as an inherent element of contemporary social inequalities It analyses the mechanisms of cross border inequalities as regimes of intersection relating spatialized cross border inequalities to other types of unequal social relations in terms of gender ethnicity race class etc The conceptual arguments are supported by empirical research on cross border migration in Europe migration of scientists and care workers between Ukraine and Germany This book integrates the analysis of space including cross border categories of global and transnational into intersectionally informed studies of social inequalities Broadly it will appeal to scholars and students in the areas of sociology political sciences social anthropology and social geography In particular it will interest researchers concerned with transnational and global social inequalities the interplay of the categories gender ethnicity and class on the one hand and global and transnational relations on the other theories of space and society and migration and mobility in Europe

Migration in the 21st Century Thomas N. Maloney, Kim Korinek, 2010-10-04 In this volume we examine the challenges and opportunities created by global migration at the start of the 21st century Our focus extends beyond economic impact to questions of international law human rights and social and political incorporation We examine immigrant outcomes and policy questions at the global national and local levels Our primary purpose is to connect ethical legal and social science scholarship from a variety of disciplines in order to raise questions and generate new insights regarding patterns of migration and the design of useful policy While the book incorporates studies of the evolution of immigration law globally and over the very long term as well as considerations of the magnitude and determinants of immigrant flows at the global level it places particular emphasis on the growth of immigration to the United States in the 1990s and early 2000s and provides new insights on the complex relationships between federal and state politics and regulation popular misconceptions about the economic and social impacts of immigration and the status of undocumented immigrants Continental Shifts John D. Riofrio, 2015-10-15 Applying a broad geographical approach to comparative Latino literary and cultural studies Continental Shifts illuminates how the discursive treatment of Latinos changed dramatically following the enactment of NAFTA a shift exacerbated by 9 11 While previous studies of immigrant representation have focused on single regions the US Mexico border in particular specific genres literature vs political rhetoric or individual groups Continental Shifts unites these disparate discussions in a provocative in depth examination Bringing together a wide range of groups and genres this intercultural study explores novels by Latin American and Latino writers a border film by Tommy Lee Jones and Guillermo Arriaga viral videos of political speeches popular television programming particularly shows that feature incarceration and public shaming and user generated YouTube videos These cultural products reveal the complexity of Latino representations in contemporary discourse While tropes of Latino migrants as threatening diseased foreign bodies date back to the nineteenth century Continental Shifts marks the more pernicious recent images of Latino laborers legal and not in a variety of contemporary media Using vivid examples John Riofrio demonstrates the connections between rhetorical and ideological violence and the physical and psychological violence that has more intensely plagued Latino communities in recent decades Culminating with a consideration of the American identity this eye opening work ultimately probes the nation s ongoing struggle to uphold democratic ideals amid dehumanizing multiethnic tension Ethical and Methodological Issues in Researching Young Language Learners in School Contexts Annamaria Pinter, Kuchah Kuchah, 2021-05-10 This book focuses on ethical and methodological issues faced by researchers working with young language learners in formal school contexts It uncovers and explicitly discusses a range of ethical dilemmas challenges and experiences that researchers have encountered and grappled with in studies of all kinds from large scale experimental studies to ethnographic studies focused on just a handful of children The chapters are written by researchers working with children in different classroom contexts around the world and highlight how ethical dilemmas and tensions take on a complex form in child focused research requiring researchers to pay particular attention to the social and cultural norms of the different communities within which children are educated as well as their school based experiences The book comprises three sections with the first part focused on involving children as active participants in research part two on ethical challenges in multilingual contexts and part three on links between teacher education and researching children The book includes a critical discussion of the opportunities and challenges associated with applying the UNCRC 1989 document in second language research with children which will be of use to any researcher working in this area

Teaching for Diversity and Social Justice Maurianne Adams, Lee Anne Bell, Pat Griffin, 2007-05-11 For nearly a decade Teaching for Diversity and Social Justice has been the definitive sourcebook of theoretical foundations and curricular frameworks for social justice teaching practice This thoroughly revised second edition continues to provide teachers and facilitators with an accessible pedagogical approach to issues of oppression in classrooms Building on the groundswell of interest in social justice education the second edition offers coverage of current issues and controversies while preserving the hands on format and inclusive content of the original Teaching for Diversity and Social Justice presents a well constructed foundation for engaging the complex and often daunting problems of discrimination and inequality in American society This book includes a CD ROM with extensive appendices for participant handouts and facilitator preparation

Understanding and Improving how K-12 Multilinguals are Taught Maryann Hasso, 2022-11-23 Understanding and Improving how K 12 Multilinguals are Taught Supporting Multilinguals details instructional strategies that can be used to better assess multilingual learners which are more improved than the existing evaluations The author argues that assessments for multilingual learners need to be improved due to inequities within the public school systems and that assessments for students in K12 schools are not equitable The author also discusses strategies for welcoming and supporting multilingual learners in the classroom The instructional strategies outlined for K12 educators includes offering students multiple test taking options ensuring that assessments are translated into students respective languages and allowing multilingual learners to take assessments in groups or pairs These improvement strategies have been developed by using feedback from dual language teachers in the K12 public school system The assessment issues that will be addressed include inequity within assessments administered to multilingual learners the way assessments are structured and developed at the district and school level the consideration of the immigrant experience as these assessments are being developed the roles of school boards in considering immigrant experiences while creating these assessments the role of the teachers of multilingual learners assessment strategies to support multilingual learners and strategies that are effective in creating inclusive classrooms for native and multilingual English speakers

Films as Rhetorical Texts Janice D. Hamlet, 2019-11-13 Films as Rhetorical Texts Cultivating Discussion about Race Racism and Race Relations presents critical essays focusing on select commercial films and what they can teach us about race racism and race relations in America The films in this volume are critically assessed as rhetorical texts using various aspects and components of critical race theory recognizing that race and racism are intricately ingrained in American society Contributors argue that by viewing and evaluating culture centered films often centered around race and critically analyzing them faculty and students can promote the opportunity for genuine open discussions about race racism and race relations in the United States specifically in the higher education classroom Scholars of film studies media studies race studies and education will find this book particularly useful

Clearing the Path for First-Generation College Students Bedelia Nicola Richards,Ashley C. Rondini,Nicolas P. Simon,2018-06-07 Clearing the Path for First Generation College Students comprises a wide range of studies that explore the multidimensional social processes and meanings germane to the experiences of first generation college students before and during their matriculation into institutions of higher education The chapters offer timely empirical examinations of the ways that these students negotiate experiences shaped by structural inequities in higher education institutions and the pathways that lead to them This volume provides insight into the dilemmas that arise from the transformation of students class identities in pursuit of upward mobility as well as their quest for community and a sense of belonging on college campuses that have not been historically designed for them While centering first generation status this collection also critically engages the ways in which other dimensions of social identity intersect to inform students educational experiences in relation to dynamics of race ethnicity socioeconomic class gender and immigration Additionally this book takes a holistic approach by exploring the ways in which first generation college students are influenced by and engage with their families and communities of origin as they undertake their educational careers

Accountability Politics Jonathan Fox,2007-12-13 How can the seeds of accountability ever grow in authoritarian environments This book explores the how civil society thickens by comparing two decades of rural citizens struggles to hold the Mexican state accountable exploring both change and continuity before during and after national electoral turning points

Feminist Rhetorical Resilience Elizabeth A Flynn,Patricia Sotirin,Ann Brady,2012-06-16 Although it is well known in other fields the concept of resilience has not been addressed explicitly by feminist rhetoricians This collection develops it in readings of rhetorical situations across a range of social contexts and national cultures Contributors demonstrate that resilience offers an important new conceptual frame for feminist rhetoric with emphasis on agency change and hope in the daily lives of individuals or groups of individuals disempowered by social or material forces Collectively these chapters create a robust conception of resilience as a complex rhetorical process redeeming it from its popular association with individual heroism through an important focus on relationality community and an ethics of connection Resilience in this volume is a specifically rhetorical response to complicated forces in individual lives Through it Feminist Rhetorical Resilience widens the interpretive space within which rhetoricians can work

Prevention of Maladjustment to Life Course Transitions Moshe Israelashvili,2023-06-01 This book provides a comprehensive and updated review of the concepts models and interventions related to the process of adjustment to life course transitions In times of transition an individual is exposed to experiences that require them to assume new roles and exhibit updated behaviors. Regardless of the characteristics of these transitions, exposure to normative trajectories imposes on the person an intensive engagement in a process of re-adjustment. Sometimes this demand is beyond the scope of one's ability, motivation, or comprehension. Hence, some people might ineffectively perceive and/or react to the change and end up feeling unable to handle the change and inclined to escape the situation. A preventive intervention that either reduces the impact of possible risk factors or fosters possible protective factors would support the people in managing the transition. While the importance of prevention of maladjustment is repeatedly mentioned in the literature, this is the first known book on how to prevent maladjustment. It examines how the sense of transition emerges, what adjustment means, the models that elaborate on how people manage in times of transition, what the antecedents of maladjustment are, and especially how maladjustment could be prevented. Out of these discussions, a new model, The Transitional Stress and Adjustment (TSA) Model, is suggested as a grand framework for paving a way forward to better prevent people's maladjustment to life course transitions. Prevention of Maladjustment to Life Course Transitions is a much needed cornerstone in the future development within the prevention science framework. This book has interdisciplinary appeal for researchers, practitioners, and graduate students in psychology, sociology, public health, social work, criminology, medicine, health sciences, public policy, economics, and education who consider prevention an important vehicle of intervention to promote health and wellbeing. Its focus on the topic of adjustment also would be of special interest to those who explore child and youth development. In the Child's Best Interest?

Jonathan Baum, 2010-10 Congress is considering a comprehensive overhaul of the nation's immigration laws more than a decade after the enactment of strict immigration measures. Current U.S. immigration laws mandate deportation of lawful permanent resident (LPR) parents of thousands of U.S. citizen children without providing these parents an opportunity to challenge their forced separations. Through a multi-disciplinary analysis, this policy brief examines the experiences of U.S. citizen children impacted by the forced deportation of their LPR parents and proposes ways to reform U.S. law consistent with domestic and international standards aimed to improve the lives of children. Charts and tables Getting Ahead Silvia Dominguez, 2013-12 Honorable Mention 2014 Distinguished Contribution to Research Award presented by the Latina o Sociology Section of the American Sociological Association. Getting Ahead tells the compelling stories of Latin American immigrant women living in public housing in two Boston area neighborhoods. Silvia Dominguez argues that these immigrant women parlay social ties that provide support and leverage to develop networks and achieve social positioning to get ahead. Through a rich ethnographic account and in-depth interviews, the strong voices of these women demonstrate how they successfully negotiate the world and achieve social mobility through their own individual agency, skillfully navigating both constraints and opportunities. Dominguez makes it clear that many immigrant women are able to develop the social support needed for a rich social life and leverage ties that open options for them to develop their social and human capital. However she also shows that factors such as neighborhood and domestic violence and the unavailability of social services leave many women without the ability to strategize towards social mobility Ultimately Dom nguez makes important local and international policy recommendations on issue ranging from public housing to world labor visas demonstrating how policy can help to improve the lives of these and other low income people

Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity Linda C. Tillman,James Joseph Scheurich,2013-08-21 The rapid growth of diversity within U S schooling and the heightened attention to the lack of equity in student achievement school completion and postsecondary attendance has made equity and diversity two of the principle issues in education educational leadership and educational leadership research The Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity is the first research based handbook that comprehensively addresses the broad diversity in U S schools by race ethnicity culture language gender disability sexual identity and class The Handbook both highly values the critically important strengths and assets that diversity brings to the United States and its schools yet at the same time candidly critiques the destructive deficit thinking biases and prejudices that undermine school success for many groups of students Well known chapter authors explore diversity and related inequities in schools and the achievement problems these issues present to school leaders Each chapter reviews theoretical and empirical evidence of these inequities and provides research based recommendations for practice and for future research Celebrating the broad diversity in U S schools the Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity critiques the inequities connected to that diversity and provides evidence based practices to promote student success for all children
