The Other Milk Jia-Chen Fu, 2018-12-18 In the early twentieth century China was stigmatized as the Land of Famine. Meanwhile in Europe and the United States scientists and industrialists seized upon the soybean as a miracle plant that could help build modern economies and healthy nations. Soybeans protein packed and domestically grown were a common food in China and soybean milk doujiang was poised for reinvention for the modern age. Scientific soybean milk became a symbol of national growth and development on Chinese terms and its competition with cow's milk reflected China's relationship to global modernity and imperialism. The Other Milk explores the curious paths that led to the notion of the deficient Chinese diet and to soybean milk as the way to guarantee food security for the masses. Jia Chen Fu's in-depth examination of the intertwined relationships between diet, health and nation illuminates the multiple forces that have been essential in the formation of nutrition science in China.

Stages of Transmutation Tom Idema, 2018-10-31 Stages of Transmutation: Science Fiction, Biology and Environmental Posthumanism develops the theoretical perspective of environmental posthumanism through analyses of acclaimed science fiction novels by Greg Bear, Octavia Butler, Kim Stanley Robinson and Jeff VanderMeer in which the human species suddenly transforms in response to new or changing environments. Narrating dramatic ecological events of human to nonhuman encounter, invasion and transmutation, these novels allow the reader to understand the planet as an unstable stage for evolution and the human body as a home for bacteria and viruses. Idema argues that by drawing tension from biological theories of interaction and emergence e.g. symbiogenesis, epigenetics, these works unsettle conventional relations among characters, technologies, story worlds and emplotment, refiguring the psychosocial work of the novel as always already biophysical. Problematizing a desire to compartmentalize and control life as the property of human subjects, these novels imagine life as an environmentally mediated, staged event that enlists human and nonhuman actors. Idema demonstrates how literary narratives of transmutation render biological lessons of environmental instability and ecological interdependence both meaningful and urgent, a vital task in a time of mass extinction, hyperpollution and climate change. This volume is an important intervention for scholars of the environmental humanities, posthumanism, literature and science, and science and technology studies.

Maya Cosmogenesis 2012 John Major Jenkins, 1998-08-01 While researching the 2012 end date of the Maya Calendar, John Major Jenkins decoded the Maya's galactic cosmology. The Maya discovered that the periodic alignment of the Sun with the center of the Milky Way galaxy is the formative influence on human evolution. These alignments also define a series of World Ages. The fourth age ends on December 21, 2012, when an epoch chapter in human history will come to an end. Maya Cosmogenesis 2012 reveals the Maya's insight into the cyclic nature of time and prepares us for our own cosmogenesis, the birth of a new world.
