Nuclear Non Proliferation And The Problem Of Threshold States:

Nuclear Non-proliferation and the Problem of Threshold States Shibashis Chatterjee, 1999 With reference to South Asia

Nuclear Non-Proliferation Michael P. Fry, N. Patrick Keatinge, Joseph Rotblat, 2012-12-06 This volume appears at a time when the prospects for banishing the threat of nuclear annihilation are brighter than at any time since the first atomic device exploded over the desert at Alamogordo. The last few years have seen an extraordinary change in the climate of East-West relations. The programme of political and economic reform which President Gorbachev initiated in the Soviet Union and which is now spreading throughout most of Eastern Europe has been paralleled by serious efforts to reach agreement on measures for conventional and nuclear disarmament. This has led to new hope that international peace and security can at last be built upon the firm foundation of justice, respect for international law and a determination to approach problems in a spirit of genuine co-operation rather than one of distrust and confrontation. This new climate encourages us in the belief that the obvious common sense of preventing the further spread of nuclear weapons will come to be shared by all nations. At the same time we have to recognize two very disturbing facts which imply that there can be no slackening of our efforts to strengthen the non-proliferation regime.

Striving for Peace, Security, and Development of the World Joseph Rotblat, 1993

The momentous events of the past year have changed the political face of the globe. The ideological struggle that dominated the world for most of this century is over. erstwhile mortal enemies have become friends and partners. But old attitudes have survived and modern weapons are in abundance. New foci of conflict have emerged. military confrontations are taking place. the world is still in turmoil. The welcome deep cuts in nuclear weapons have still left thousands of warheads in the arsenals and the spread of these weapons to new states would further increase the danger of a nuclear confrontation. The release of the pressure pent up under oppressive regimes created a powerful drive for independence often achieved only after bloody wars. Many of the new states are economically non-viable. poverty and famine are frequent adjuncts of independence. If military conflicts are to be avoided a comprehensive strategy must be formulated to improve the standards of living in the developing countries and enhance their security. A strategy is also needed to protect the environment from the effects of further industrialization and greater use of energy. What is needed is a concept of a sustainable equitable and liveable world for all its inhabitants. All these problems were analysed by scientists and scholars who met at a Pugwash Conference. The arguments used by them and the proposed solutions are presented in this book under six themes: World Peace, Nuclear Disarmament, Issues, Arms Control, Security in the Asia Pacific Region, Development Strategies and World Economic Order, Energy and the Environment.

Non-Proliferation Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 2020-11-19 Is the appearance of new nuclear weapon states inevitable? Who are the sponsors and apologists of nuclear weapons and why are others in favour of renouncing them What are the implications for international security of the increasingly wide use of nuclear energy How can nuclear threats be defused Originally published in 1985 SIPRI's study suggests some answers to these questions The book examines the situation in a number of countries of key importance for non proliferation the two nuclear weapon states which have declined to join the 1968 Non Proliferation Treaty China and France a group of nuclear threshold states also remaining outside the Treaty Argentina Brazil India Israel Pakistan South Africa and Spain and a group of states both developed and developing which for various reasons have joined the Treaty Canada Egypt South Korea Sweden Switzerland and Taiwan The focus of the book is on motivations for and against nuclear proliferation An analysis of these motivations leads the editor to make detailed recommendations aimed at halting the spread of nuclear weapons Appendices include a list of nuclear facilities in the countries studied specifying the degree of their coverage by international controls and other relevant documentation
