Nuclear Revolution In Soviet Military Af:

Handbook on Soviet Ground Forces United States. Department of the Army, 1975 Handbook on Soviet Ground Forces DIANE Publishing Company, 1996-11 A reprint of a 1975 U S Army Field Manual detailing Soviet ground forces Contents personnel military training personal traits of the Soviet soldier strengths and weaknesses organization of Soviet ground forces basic tactical concepts tactical principles emphasis on the offensive the defensive tactical employment capabilities infantry armor airborne artillery anti tank antiaircraft engineers tactical aviation helicopters air transport communications logistics Appendices organization charts equipment guide recommended reading Studies in Communist Affairs United States. Department of the Air Force, 1976 The Soviet Air Force And Strategic Bombing Major Philip A. Stemple, 2015-11-06 It is the purpose of this project to show why the Soviet Air Force did not embrace the revolutionary Douhetian concept of strategic bombing as did other world powers during the 1920 s 30 s and World War II It is also to explain that in addition to technological shortcomings there was a combination of theoretical and doctrinal reasons taken to rigidity that was responsible for this Moreover to show that when the revolution in military affairs RMA of nuclear weapons occurred strategic bombing was adopted Additionally that even as strategic bombing became fundamental to Soviet strategic doctrine during the Cold War it was not at the exclusion of a more traditional Red Air Force role The Myth of the Nuclear Revolution Keir A. Lieber, Daryl G. Press, 2020-06-15 Leading analysts have predicted for decades that nuclear weapons would help pacify international politics The core notion is that countries protected by these fearsome weapons can stop competing so intensely with their adversaries they can end their arms races scale back their alliances and stop jockeying for strategic territory But rarely have theory and practice been so opposed Why do international relations in the nuclear age remain so competitive Indeed why are today s major geopolitical rivalries intensifying In The Myth of the Nuclear Revolution Keir A Lieber and Daryl G Press tackle the central puzzle of the nuclear age the persistence of intense geopolitical competition in the shadow of nuclear weapons They explain why the Cold War superpowers raced so feverishly against each other why the creation of mutual assured destruction does not ensure peace and why the rapid technological changes of the 21st century will weaken deterrence in critical hotspots around the world By explaining how the nuclear revolution falls short Lieber and Press discover answers to the most pressing questions about deterrence in the coming decades how much capability is required for a reliable nuclear deterrent how conventional conflicts may become nuclear wars and how great care is required now to prevent new technology from ushering in an age of nuclear instability The Soviet View of U.S. Strategic Doctrine Jonathan Samuel Lockwood, 1983-01-01 Soviet perceptions of American strategic doctrine have influenced then use of military power in foreign policy An understanding of how those perceptions are being derived at and of their specific contents is therefore essential to any reflection on direction that American defense policy should take Particularly in the field of arms control and disarmament Soviet perceptions carry severe implications for U S proposals as well as general behavior Lockwood bases his examination on Soviet sources such as newspapers periodicals radio broadcasts and books He establishes that Soviet analysts tend to project their own notions of clear strategy onto U S doctrine and intentions Starting from the premise that the Soviets mean what they say Lockwood is able to give a historical account of Soviet perceptions starting from massive retaliation up to and including Presidential Directive 59 In his final chapter the author gives possible policy strategies to successfully counteract the Soviet military policy Air University Review ,1969

Problems of Communism ,1990 Parameters ,1989 The Armed Forces Of The Ussr Harriet Fast Scott,William F.

Scott,2019-07-16 This up to date analysis of the development and organization of the Soviet Armed Forces provides a profound insight into the military thinking that has determined the course of Soviet military history from the birth of the first Communist armed forces organization to the present The eminent authors of this book have drawn on thousands of Soviet Ministry of Defense publications only a very few of which have been translated into English and four years of research in the USSR to portray the fundamentals of Soviet military doctrine and strategy They cover fully the postwar development of the Soviet military looking at the High Command each of the five services combat formations and supporting agencies and give a comprehensive account of the Soviet military industrial complex military training of Soviet youth military manpower mobilization and the Soviet officer corps Their discussion of the relationship between the Party and the Armed Forces based on Soviet data includes an examination of popular Western myths about internal Soviet military Party splits The wealth of detailed information contained in this book includes numerous notes tables and figures and a broad range of other data all based exclusively on primary sources as well as an extensive bibliography Technology and the American Way of War

Since 1945 Thomas G. Mahnken,2010-06-24 No nation in recent history has placed greater emphasis on the role of technology in planning and waging war than the United States In World War II the wholesale mobilization of American science and technology culminated in the detonation of the atomic bomb Competition with the Soviet Union during the Cold War combined with the U S Navy s culture of distributed command and the rapid growth of information technology spawned the concept of network centric warfare And America s post Cold War conflicts in Iraq the former Yugoslavia and Afghanistan have highlighted America s edge From the atom bomb to the spy satellites of the Cold War the strategic limitations of the Vietnam War and the technological triumphs of the Gulf war Thomas G Mahnken follows the development and integration of new technologies into the military and emphasizes their influence on the organization mission and culture of the armed services In some cases advancements in technology have forced different branches of the military to develop competing or superior weaponry but more often than not the armed services have molded technology to suit their own purposes remaining resilient in the face of technological challenges Mahnken concludes with an examination of the reemergence of the traditional American way of war which uses massive force to engage the enemy Tying together six decades of debate concerning U S military affairs he discusses how the armed forces might exploit the unique opportunities of the information revolution in the future Winning the Next War Stephen Peter Rosen,1991 Rosen argues that armies and navies are not forever doomed to fight the last war Rather they are able to respond to shifts in the international strategic situation

Selected Readings in Nuclear, Biological and Chemical Operations ,1983 The Friday Review of Defense Literature ,1983 Literature survey University of Pittsburgh. Research Office of Sociology,1971 Strategic Power Carl G. Jacobsen,1990-02-23 This book highlights the impact and relevance of strategic culture Each section contains essays contrasting United States and Soviet perceptions on specific topics Each section closes with a synthesizing commentary to help readers to get a better sense of differences and similarities Air Force and Space Digest ,1959 Producing Security Stephen G. Brooks,2011-10-16 Scholars and statesmen have debated the influence of international commerce on war and peace for thousands of years Over the centuries analysts have generally treated the questions Does international commerce influence security and Do trade flows influence security as synonymous In Producing Security Stephen Brooks maintains that such an overarching focus on the security implications of trade once made sense but no longer does Trade is no longer the primary means of organizing international economic transactions rather where and how multinational corporations MNCs organize their international production activities is now the key integrating force of global commerce MNC strategies have changed in a variety of fundamental ways over the past three decades Brooks argues resulting in an increased geographic dispersion of production across borders The author shows that the globalization of production has led to a series of shifts in the global security environment It has a differential effect on security relations in part because it does not encompass all countries and industries to the same extent The book s findings indicate that the geographic dispersion of MNC production acts as a significant force for peace among the great powers The author concludes that there is no basis for optimism that the globalization of production will promote peace elsewhere in the world Indeed he finds that it has a net negative influence on security relations among developing countries Interpreting China's Military Power Ka Po Ng,2005-08-09 Although inter state tensions have generally been easing after the Cold War military power remains a dominant factor in Asian regional politics As China operating the world s largest army grows stronger there are ongoing debates over the implications for Asia s regional security This book argues that it is imperative to look beyond the empirical observations and conventional materialist reading of Chinese military development to understand its dynamics and directions in doctrinal terms and put it in a readiness context for evaluation Military doctrine has long been under studied and is often treated as a subject separate from force development But as this study contends this factor is necessary for interpreting the making and purposes of China s military power because it forms the intellectual foundation of military structural and hardware development When loaded with political rhetoric it also communicates to us the intended uses of the military power The role of doctrine is reinforced in the context of military readiness which defines what for and how the army is getting ready Force development is evaluated in structural operational and directional terms The importance of this analytical framework based on military doctrine and readiness is demonstrated in a survey of the evolution of Chinese military doctrine and force development. As the Chinese People's Liberation Army has continued to adjust its military structure and operation to follow the doctrinal lead, its switches between the doctrines of local war and total war have seen corresponding changes to the emphasis between operational and structural readiness.

The Soviet View of War, Peace and Neutrality P.H. Vigor, 2021-01-26

This book first published in 1975 analyses the three tools which the Russians used for attaining their political objectives: war, peace and neutrality. This study shows how they have evolved a clear cut view based on Marxism-Leninism of the origins of war, the categories of war, the ways in which it can be made to serve the Marxist revolutionary interest and the circumstances in which it is profitable to use it. As for peace, both Lenin and Khrushchev described it as a temporary unstable armistice between two wars. In the Leninist view, peace is a tool for attaining political objectives just like war, while neutrality is essentially ridiculous: he who is not with me is against me. Nevertheless, there are occasions when neutrality is a concept acceptable to the Soviet leaders, and this study examines instances of this alongside war and peace.
