Nuclear-weapon-free Zones in the 21st Century G. Alves, Daiana Cipollone, 1997 The Alternate Route Thomas Graham, 2017 Eventual achievement of nuclear disarmament has been an objective and a dream of the world community since the dawn of the Nuclear Age Considerable progress has been made over the decades but this has always required close US Russian cooperation At present further progress is likely blocked by the return of Vladimir Putin to the Russian presidency and the toxic US Russia relationship The classic road toward nuclear disarmament appears to be closed for the foreseeable future but there may be another route In the last fifty years well conceived regional treaties have been developed in Latin America the South Pacific Africa Southeast Asia and Central Asia These arrangements have developed for many and varied political and security reasons but now virtually all of the Southern Hemisphere and important parts of the Northern Hemisphere are legally nuclear weapon free These regional nuclear weapon disarmament treaties are formally respected by the five states recognized under the Non Proliferation Treaty NPT as nuclear weapon states the United States the United Kingdom Russia France and China often referred to collectively as the P 5 states Variations of these regional treaties might eventually be negotiated in the Middle East Northeast Asia and South Asia setting aside the P 5 states until the very end of the process With regional agreements in place around the globe negotiation among the P 5 states would be all that stands between the world community and the banishment of nuclear weapons verifiably and effectively worldwide By the time this point is reached Russia and the United States might be able to cooperate Essential reading for policy advisors to stem the spread of these weapons suffered serious setbacks during the past year Every week brought news of Iranian and North Korean missile tests of the possible terrorist use of deadly biological and chemical agents and most dramatically of nuclear tests in the deserts and mountains of South Asia There has never been a better time for a new comprehensive review of the troubled state of the international non proliferation regime along with credible solutions for today s most pressing proliferation problems Repairing the Regime is just such a book In early 1999 450 experts from 17 nations attended the Carnegie International Non Proliferation Conference in Washington DC the most important annual gathering in the non proliferation field This collection reflects their passionate debates on the key issues trends and dilemmas facing all of us today It provides strong arguments for both marshaling international resources to repair and sustain the global non proliferation regime and for dealing concretely with the particular security concerns of the nations and regions most affected by contemporary threats Repairing the Regime looks at a multitude of strategies for strengthening controls on WMD and increasing security around the world
