Nuclear Spring A Novella And Short Stories:

Nuclear Spring Georgiana Hart, 1987 The Counter-Memorial Impulse in Twentieth-Century English Fiction S. Henstra, 2009-11-12 A wide ranging study that examines the tendency in 20th century English fiction to treat grief as an occasion for social critique unconventional readings of works by Ford Lessing and Winterson demonstrate how narrative experimentation in this period responds to socio historic conditions like post imperial melancholy nuclear fear and homophobia Routledge Companion to Ba Jin Chen Chang, Liu Tianyi, Chen Sihe, 2023-09-19 Exploring the creations of Ba Jin 1904 2005 one of the most significant writers in modern China this edited volume offers in depth discussions of the writer and his works from a global perspective to initiate and advance dialogues between the Chinese and English speaking scholarly communities The four sections of the book provide readers with a detailed biography and an overview of research on Ba Jin since the 1980s to reflect on the academic achievements of several generations in China In addition it includes a selected collection of articles from Korean German and French scholars These articles cover Ba Jin s life thoughts personality literary creation editing publishing and other aspects of the research This companion aims to provide an alternative lens for Chinese literature studies in a global context It will be an essential read to students and scholars of East Asian studies Chinese studies and those interested in modern Chinese literature Routledge Companion to Pakistani Anglophone Writing Aroosa Kanwal, Saiyma Aslam, 2018-10-10 The Routledge Companion to Pakistani Anglophone Writing forms a theoretical comprehensive and critically astute overview of the history and future of Pakistani literature in English Dealing with key issues for global society today from terrorism religious extremism fundamentalism corruption and intolerance to matters of love hate loss belongingness and identity conflicts this Companion brings together over thirty essays by leading and emerging scholars and presents the transformations and continuities in Pakistani anglophone writing since its inauguration in 1947 to today contestations and controversies that have not only informed creative writing but also subverted certain stereotypes in favour of a dynamic representation of Pakistani Muslim experiences a case for a Pakistani canon through a critical perspective on how different writers and their works have at different times both consciously and unconsciously helped to realise and extend a uniquely Pakistani idiom Providing a comprehensive yet manageable introduction to cross cultural relations and to historical regional local and global contexts that are essential to reading Pakistani anglophone literature The Routledge Companion to Pakistani Anglophone Writing is key reading for researchers and academics in Pakistani anglophone literature history and culture It is also relevant to other disciplines such as terror studies post 9 11 literature gender studies postcolonial studies feminist studies human rights diaspora studies space and mobility studies religion and contemporary South Asian literatures and cultures The Rhetoric of Antinuclear Fiction Patrick Mannix, 1992 Given the ever present threat of world wide calamity that nuclear weapons present it is not surprising that they have fascinated fiction writers and filmmakers ever since their development Nor is it surprising that many of these artists would seek to use their work to influence mass opinion about these weapons What may be surprising is that few studies have been made of how antinuclear fiction actually attempts to persuade its audiences The Rhetoric of Antinuclear Fiction is an effort to do so Organized around the three traditional modes of rhetorical appeal the ethical the rational and the emotional the book describes and classifies the persuasive strategies of a wide range of antinuclear fiction from the period 1945 to 1989 Works examined include On the Beach Fail Safe A Canticle for Leibowitz Dr Strangelove The Day After War Day Testament Threads and Riddley Walker During the course of these studies Patrick Mannix reveals what sorts of fictional characters have been most widely used to deliver antinuclear messages and he follows the major arguments of the nuclear debate as they have been reflected in fiction He also shows which emotions are invoked most often to secure the audience's opposition to nuclear weapons and how those emotions have been generated by the creators of antinuclear fiction The range of characters that this volume examines includes the pacifistic but loyal Air Force general of Fail Safe the pious but shrewd monks of A Canticle for Leibowitz the suburban housewife of Threads and even the computer of War games which teaches humanity the folly of nuclear war We also follow fictional manifestations of the nuclear debate from veiled arguments for world government in The Day the Earth Stood Still through warnings of the dangers of Mutual Assured Destruction depicted by Fail Safe Dr Strangelove and Wargames to attacks on the concepts of limited nuclear war and the Strategic Defense Initiative in War Day This study also demonstrates the dynamic of fear in works as diverse as Ape and Essence The Day After and Them and dissects the powerful use of scorn in Dr Strangelove It also shows us the paradoxical role of hope in securing the effectiveness of antinuclear fiction While maintaining his focus on the persuasive nature of this literature Mannix does consider the aesthetic value of the fiction he studies noting that the relationship between the two elements is complex and often problematical While admitting that the aesthetic elements of some works would limit their audience and therefore reduce the scope of their rhetorical effect he demonstrates how the skillful combination of artistic and rhetorical elements raises a film like Dr Strangelove above the similarly themed Fail Safe as both a persuasive act and an aesthetic artifact
