Race and Representation Georgia A. Persons, 2017-09-04 The National Political Science Review is the official publication of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists This series now entering its sixth volume includes significant scholarly research reflecting the diverse interests of scholars from various backgrounds who use different models approaches and methodologies The central focus is on politics and policies that advantage or disadvantage groups because of race ethnicity gender and other major variables Race and Representation is anchored by a symposium that focuses on efforts to enhance representation of African Americans in legislative bodies under the authority of the historic Voting Rights Act of 1965 and on recent court challenges to the constitutionality of redistricting plans drawn under that act The chapters constitute an extension of an ongoing and protracted highly charged public debate In her introduction Georgia A Persons discusses how recent Supreme Court rulings such as in Shaw v Reno Miller v Johnson and Bush v Vera have significantly redefined the meaning and permissible parameters of the Voting Rights Act She affirms that they have also strongly posited albeit somewhat indirectly a legal meaning of representation that is at variance with the more broadly philosophical meaning of representation grounded in the ideal of enhancing equality among different groups in a society The articles in Race and Representation are refreshingly informative They include case studies written by political scientists who became involved directly with events surrounding the theme of this volume A new section Reflections is introduced it will be reserved for commentary and analysis of an issue that captures the political spirit of the times In the inaugural contribution J Owens Smith reflects on the assault on liberal philosophy as a foundation for civil rights claims and offers an alternative philosophical prism for viewing and justifying such claims This volume is essen National Political Science Review, 1997

Handbook of Black Studies Molefi Kete Asante, Maulana Karenga, 2006 Publisher Description The Changing Racial Regime Matthew Holden, 2017-11-30 The National Political Science Review is the official publication of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists The Review s purpose as described by Matthew Holden in his introduction is to lead to new information insights and findings into the social and political status of African Americans The volume is not exclusionist or narrow It integrates essays that could stand alone as they initially were written according to the method and theory of the author in question As presented here however they also lend themselves to a broader treatment of race and the political order The present volume combines essays expressly focused on African Americans Africa and the African diaspora At the same tune it contains essays about broad generic subjects such as budgeting and interest groups written with no explicit racial relevance Holden integrates these essays under the theme of the changing racial regime The integrating concept is the old word regime which political scientists have used in many situations before to define such more or less persistent though not necessarily permanent orders of precedence If no significant benefits and no significant burdens could be forecast by knowledge of the social identity called race then the regime could be seen as non racial In American experience the regime was at one time purposeful and sustained white advantage The white race and its preferential standing was central to virtually all institutional practice public and private The significant contemporary question is the degree of change in the racial regime Some proceed with the assumption that a large degree of change has occurred in the American political system The view of other contributors is that the system still sustains racial stratification In its very internal dialogue this volume presents a panorama of current work by political scientists African American and other on the character of the American political system Contributors include Cedric Robinson Charles Henry Edward J Muller Marjorie Lewis Katherine A Hinckley and Bette S Hill Nancy Haggard Gilson and Vernon Johnson The Changing Racial Regime is an essential resource for political scientists black studies specialists and scholars and policy analysts of race relations in the United States
