Rural Restructuring Global Processes And Their Responses:

Rural Restructuring Terry Marsden, Philip Lowe, Sarah Whatmore, 1990 The volumes in this series provide a review of the progress of current research taking as their focus one major theme per volume Rural Restructuring Terry Marsden, Sarah Whatmore, Philip Lowe, 1990-01-01 Rural Restructuring, 1990 The Global Restructuring of Agro-Food Systems Philip D. McMichael, 2019-05-15 Across the world food systems and agricultural systems are changing at a phenomenal rate Widespread restructuring has not been confined to the production and distribution of food though many regions and even nations are undergoing social political and economic transformation as well Bringing together twelve essays by scholars from a number of disciplines I this timely book documents the interdependence of food systems nation states and the world economy Stressing the political foundations of global agro food systems it sheds light on such complex questions as whether today s changes in food and agrarian systems anticipate a new world order or are merely efforts to preserve an old order in crisis The Rural Richard Munton, 2017-05-15 The rural has long been regarded as an important site of geographical inquiry even if our understanding of it has not always been treated as conceptually different from the urban That said rural research has pursued a number of distinct empirical agendas ranging from the operation and impacts of agribusiness to local resistance to global food supply chains to differing representations of the rural In doing so rural geographers have critically examined the relevance and significance of ideas drawn from numerous traditions including political economy ecological modernization and cultural theory amending them as appropriate in their search to understand the nature and trajectory of rural areas Up until the 1980s attention remained largely focused upon agriculture as the primary land use but increasingly new forms of rural consumption housing recreation nature conservation have taken centre stage as the primacy of local agricultures has been undermined by reduced state protection and new rural populations which have migrated out from the city More recently research has been dominated by the cultural turn with particular emphases upon society nature relations interpretations of landscape marginalised others and analyses of the relations between representation and practice In the last decade a more holistic view of the rural bringing together different aspects of the two previous themes has emerged through more politically oriented studies of rural governance concerned with the functioning of interest groups participation protest and the allocation and management of resources The volume is thus structured into three sections concerned with agriculture and food the rural and rural governance The great majority of the selected papers combine both empirical material often highly informative case studies and important conceptual arguments about change in the rural condition that can be linked to ideas being employed elsewhere in Geography and the Social Sciences more generally These critical reflections have been drawn very largely from research conducted in advanced economies which at least provide some commonality of experience allowing the transfer of ideas between what otherwise might be seen as very differing geographical contexts Community Development on the North Atlantic Margin John Hutson, Reginald

Byron,2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001 Isolated communities dependent upon fishing farming and forestry which are scattered around the North Atlantic coast have shared a disastrous decline during the last decade These communities are in the peripheries of advanced industrial nation states such as Canada and supra national alliances such as the European Community yet despite this there are no easy solutions to the development of these regions This volume argues that the productive assets of these regions and how they can be used to sustain household incomes need to be better understood The assets need to be converted into products and services and they need to be marketed profitably The diminishing flow of young people who leave these areas to obtain higher education and who do not return must be turned around and efforts must be concentrated on the creation or strengthening of economic conditions which satisfy the younger generation s employment aspirations consumer requirements and social needs

An Introduction to Political Geography Martin Jones,Rhys Jones,Michael Woods,2004-03-01 An Introduction to Political Geography provides a broad based introduction to how power interacts with space how place influences political identities and how policy creates and remoulds territory By pushing back the boundaries of what we conventionally understand as political geography the book emphasizes the interactions between power politics and policy space place and territory in different geographical contexts This is both an essential text for political geographers and also a valuable resource for students of related fields with an interest in politics and geography

The Changing American Countryside Emery N. Castle,1995 The literature on rural America to the extent that it exists has largely been written by urban based scholars perpetuating out of date notions and stereotypes or by those who see little difference between rural and agricultural concerns As a result the real rural America remains much misunderstood neglected or ignored by scholars and policymakers alike In response Emery Castle offers The Changing American Countryside a volume that will forever change how we look at this important subject Castle brings together the writings of eminent scholars from several disciplines and varying backgrounds to take a fresh and comprehensive look at the forgotten hinterlands These authors examine the role of non metropolitan people and places in the economic life of our nation and cover such diverse issues as poverty industry the environment education family social problems ethnicity race religion gender government public policy and regional diversity The authors are especially effective in demonstrating why rural America is so much more than just agriculture It is in fact highly diverse complex and interdependent with urban America and the international market place Most major rural problems they contend simply cannot be effectively addressed in isolation from their urban and international connections To do so is misguided and even hazardous when one fourth of our population and ninety seven per cent of our land area is rural Together these writings not only provide a new and more realistic view of rural life and public policy but also suggest how the field of rural studies can greatly enrich our understanding of national life

Partners in Production? Patricia O'Hara, 1998-06 Partners in Production breaks new ground as the first major study of Irish farm women By bringing together debates about the future of family farming feminist theories of women's work and the sociology of the family O'Hara reveals the complex structure under which these women live Based primarily on interviews this book identifies the ways in which farm women both challenge and accommodate their apparent subordination their unacknowledged influence on the evolution of family farming their wider place in the social formation and ultimately how they view the circumstance of their own lives

The Creation and Destruction of Social Capital Gunnar Lind Haase Svendsen, Gert Tinggaard Svendsen, 2004-01-01 The book offers a coherent historical and interdisciplinary perspective on social capital that is illustrated through the emergence and decline of cooperative movements in Denmark and Poland The strength of the book lies in its ability to provide an interdisciplinary account of social capital which unlike many neoclassical studies of social capital does not attempt to quantify the concept to make it fit traditional econometric regressions Quentin M H Duroy Heterodox Economics Newsletter

Women's Activism and Globalization Nancy A. Naples, Manisha Desai, 2004-04-16 First published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

City Dreams, Country Schemes Kathleen A. Brosnan, Amy L. Scott, 2013-10-11 The American West from the beginning of Euro American settlement has been shaped by diverse ideas about how to utilize physical space and natural environments to create cohesive sometimes exclusive community identities When westerners developed their towns they constructed spaces and cultural identities that reflected alternative understandings of modern urbanity The essays in City Dreams Country Schemes utilize an interdisciplinary approach to explore the ways that westerners conceptualized built and inhabited urban suburban and exurban spaces in the twentieth century The contributors examine such topics as the attractions of open space and rural gentrification in shaping urban development the role of tourism in developing national parks historical sites and California's Napa Valley and the roles of public art gender and ethnicity in shaping urban centers City Dreams Country Schemes reveals the values and expectations that have shaped the West and the lives of the people who inhabit it

Reconstituting Rurality Jonathan Murdoch, Terry Marsden, 2013-10-11 The second in the Restructuring Rural Areas series this work presents an examination of the way in which the rural and the concept of rurality is being reconstructed within urban regions It argues that the rural is not a fixed category but the outcome of political economic and socio cultural pressures These pressures are exacerbated in southeast England an area dominated by London and the patterns of growth associated with that city Through close analysis of key land development processes and a series of village studies the authors give a forceful demonstration of the way in which certain social groups are becoming increasingly influential in determining the material and social shape of rural areas in the United Kingdom The formation of class identity it is argued is closely bound up with the formation of certain local spaces class and space must be considered as combined elements in the development of rural locales To illustrate this the authors document in detail the means by which dominant groups represent themselves within the development process and show how the exclusion of certain kinds of development leads to the exclusion of certain social groups

Investing in Place Sean Markey,Greg Halseth,Don Manson,2012-08-01 The future of northern British Columbia a vast resource rich region of vibrant cultures and diverse communities could be either driven by a narrow economic agenda or guided by innovative place based solutions that seek to build viable communities and resilient local and regional economies Investing in Place is about creating the foundations for renewing northern British Columbia s rural and small town economies Markey Halseth and Manson argue that renewal is not about nostalgic reliance on the policies and economic strategies of the past rather it is about building a pragmatic and innovative vision for development one that acknowledges both the opportunities and the challenges posed by resource development and global and technological change For policy makers and residents alike the path to renewal lies in place based development which consists of people working together at all levels of the community and region to take advantage of local opportunities in a sustainable responsible way

Cross-Continental Agro-Food Chains Niels Fold,Bill Pritchard,2005-04-25 Filling a gap in contemporary food and globalization scholarship this timely book presents recent case study research on the globalization of food systems and the impacts for communities around the world It covers debates on new structures and food products as well as detailed accounts of fresh horticulture tropical crops and livestock Drawing together contributions of twenty six leading international social scientists from eleven countries this book will interest researchers in geography development studies agricultural economics and political science as well as professionals in the fields of trade and food policy

The Shape of Social Inequality David Bills,2005-08-24 This volume brings together former students colleagues and others influenced by the sociological scholarship of Archibald O Haller to celebrate Haller s many contributions to theory and research on social stratification and mobility All of the chapters respond to Haller s programmatic agenda for stratification research A full program aimed at understanding stratification requires first that we know what stratification structures consist of and how they may vary second that we identify the individual and collective consequences of the different states and rates of change of such structures and third seeing that some degree of stratification seems to be present everywhere that we identify the factors that make stratification structures change The contributors to this Festschrift address such topics as the changing nature of stratification regimes the enduring significance of class analysis the stratifying dimensions of race ethnicity and gender and the interplay between educational systems and labor market outcomes Many of the chapters adopt an explicitly cross societal comparative perspective on processes and consequences of social stratification The volume offers both conceptually and empirically important new analyses of the shape of social stratification Agricultural Governance Vaughan Higgins, Geoffrey Lawrence, 2007-05-07 Food security and sustainability are arguably the most important issues facing the agri food sector at the beginning of a new millennium In an era of globalization where nation states appear to have a diminishing role in governing these matters the existing and emerging power relations underpinning agri food regulation demand renewed scholarly attention Drawing upon the expertise of some of the most prominent writers in rural sociology geography and anthropology this book shows how globalization processes open up a new regulatory politics in which non political forms of governing play an increasingly influential role in shaping agricultural production and consumption The first of its kind to critically and comprehensively examine new forms of governing and regulation this important text explores the relationship between globalization and new sites spaces and agents of agricultural regulation using detailed case studies in developed nations to illustrate points made Demonstrating the political significance of regulatory mechanisms extending beyond the state the book also discusses the consequences for the governing of the agri food sector Creating The Countryside Melanie Dupuis, Peter Vandergeest, 2009 People active in regional environmental crises discuss the destruction conservation and creation of the countryside Environmental Policy and Societal Aims D. Requier-Desjardins, Clive Spash, Jan van der Straaten, 2012-12-06 Sustainable development and environmental improvement are often regarded as intrinsically valuable a priori As a result the policies by which these goals are to be attained is often inadequately scrutinised In this book ecological economics addresses the institutional and policymaking aspects of environmental problems thus covering a broad socioeconomic research agenda in contradistinction to mainstream economic approaches The approach advocated here is open to differing viewpoints on the same issue sees conflict resolution as a social process and accepts the need for research into political economic issues according a prominent position to the aims of society itself An in depth analysis of the policy process is followed in order to understand the pitfalls and barriers that will confront society on the road to sustainable development Readership The broad approach advocated will appeal to all involved in environmental problems decision makers NGO members and academic scholars
