Oxford Manual of Major Incident Management Paul Hunt, Ian Greaves, 2017 The Oxford Manual of Major Incident Management brings together and integrates the key facts for all those involved in major incident planning and response This will be an invaluable resource for a wide range of professionals from doctors across emergency medicine public health general practice pre hospital care and communicable disease control to nurses emergency services administrators and planners Transport industrial and natural disasters have always necessitated a coordinated interagency multi professional response and with the rising threat in terrorist incidents that need has never been greater The information base required to plan for and manage this response has now been collected together into a single user friendly volume clearly describing the hazards and their management at all stages This manual will be useful in planning for all types of major incident acting as the basis for training and as an aide memoir during an event Authoritative comprehensive and concise this quick reference guide will be of use to both established experts and to novices in the field

The sound of freedom: Naval Weapons Technology at Dahlgren, Virginia 1918-2006 James P. Rife, 2006 This book tells the story of the evolution of the Dahlgren Laboratory from a naval proof and test facility into a modern research and development center crucial to the technological evolution of the U S Navy Combining a close analysis of the technical work that led to the improvements in weapons bombsights missiles and the computers that provided their guidance with a close account of changing management styles this work recounts many previously classified stories

ABC of Major Trauma Peter Anthony Driscoll, David V. Skinner, Peter N. Goode, 2022-10-31 An authoritative overview of the management and treatment of major trauma patients In the newly revised and substantially expanded Fifth Edition of ABC of Major Trauma an eminent team of leading trauma specialists delivers a comprehensive up to date referenced overview of the emergency treatment of patients suffering from major trauma Covering all aspects of the management of injured patients during the initial crucial hours after injury the scope of the book has developed to include imaging appendices for many chapters The editors have included resources that discuss general considerations for typical trauma cases as well as the numerous atypical patients including children the elderly and those who are pregnant Hyperlinks are now also included throughout the book which enable the reader to refer to continuously updated guidelines The book also offers A thorough introduction to the development and organisation of trauma services including pre hospital care and major incidents A guide to the modern trauma team personnel from airway doctor to trauma nurse to trauma team leader while describing the technical and non technical skills required for the ABCDE of trauma resuscitation imaging and the subsequent transfer of the patient Specialist chapters on ballistic trauma chemical contamination and burns as well as the management of trauma in specialist patient groups including paediatrics pregnancy and the elderly A new and vital chapter on rehabilitation as well an expansion of the measurement of trauma outcomes to include disability and a discussion on how such audits can drive further improvement Perfect for all those involved in the care of the trauma patient including nurses physician associates hospital doctors paramedics and pre hospital teams the ABC of Major Trauma is a one stop referenced guide to the care of such patients from the site of injury to maximal recovery About the ABC series The ABC series has been designed to help you access information quickly and deliver the best patient care and remains an essential reference tool for GPs junior doctors medical students and healthcare professionals Now offering over 80 titles this extensive series provides you with a quick and dependable reference on a range of topics in all the major specialties The ABC series is the essential and dependable source of up to date information for all practitioners and students in primary healthcare To receive automatic updates on books and journals in your specialty join our email list Sign up today at www.wiley.com email

The Sound of Freedom James P. Rife, Rodney P. Carlisle, 2006 Tells the story of the evolution of the Dahlgren Laboratory from a proof and test facility into a modern research and development center crucial to the technological evolution of the United States Navy

Situational Awareness for Assistive Technologies Mehul Bhatt, Hans Werner Gsger, 2012 The development of smart assistive technology for personal living and public environments is an opportunity that has been recently recognized by research labs across the world A particular theme that has garnered attention in many countries is the problem of an aging population The combination of a much larger elderly population and the ever increasing cost of providing full time human care for them means that finding practical assisted living solutions for this group is becoming increasingly important Computing is the obvious choice to provide an answer to this growing problem but to have a real impact computer based assistive technologies will need to possess the ability to interact with and interpret the actions and situations of those they are designed to assist The papers in this book explore the diversity of the field of ambient intelligence as well as the wide range of approaches and variety of applications that may prove to be possible Consideration is given to how space action time and other contexts can be represented and reasoned about for use in sensory mapping multi agent interactions assisted living and even emergency responses Many techniques are examined variety represents one of the most important strengths of this area meaning that the weakness of one approach can be offset by the capability of others The book consists of research contributions dealing with the crucial notion of situational awareness within assistive smart systems emerging as an overarching concept An applied computer science character has been retained whilst bringing to the fore research projects where formal knowledge representation and reasoning techniques have been demonstrated to be applicable to areas within the broader field of ambient intelligence and smart environments

Digital Services in Crisis, Disaster, and Emergency Situations Oliveira, Ldia, Tajariol, Federico, Gonalves, Liliana Baptista, 2021-01-29 The contemporary world is characterized by the massive use of digital communication platforms and services that allow people to stay in touch with each other and their organizations On the other hand it is also a world with great challenges in terms of crisis disaster and emergency situations of various kinds Thus it is crucial to understand the role of digital platforms services in the context of crisis disaster and emergency situations Digital Services in Crisis Disaster and Emergency Situations presents recent studies on crisis disaster and emergency situations in which digital technologies are considered as a key mediator. Featuring multi and interdisciplinary research findings, this comprehensive reference work highlights the relevance of society's digitization and its usefulness and contribution to the different phases and types of risk scenarios. Thus, the book investigates the design of digital services that are specifically developed for use in crisis situations and examines services such as online social networks that can be used for communication purposes in emergency events. Highlighting themes that include crisis management, communication risk monitoring, digital crisis intervention, and smartphone applications, this book is of particular use to governments, institutions, corporations, and professionals who deal with crisis disaster and emergency scenarios, as well as researchers, academicians, and students working in fields such as communications, multimedia, sociology, political science, and engineering.

Military Operations in Response to Domestic Emergencies and Global Pandemics Lindy Heineken, Christian Leuprecht, 2025-08-25. This open access book provides a comparative analysis of the deployment of the military in domestic operations, the use of the armed forces during the COVID 19 pandemic, and the impact of that deployment on civil-military relations in 26 countries worldwide. The book examines the legal and constitutional regulations under which the military can serve in domestic roles and the extent of domestic deployment before the COVID 19 pandemic. It focuses on the roles in which the military served during the pandemic, the resources available, and the readiness and effectiveness of the military response. The volume addresses whether or not the pandemic response was securitized, the extent of civilian oversight and control, the accountability measures in place, and the impact of the COVID 19 deployment on the military's image. The volume captures the lessons learnt from the COVID 19 deployment and the implications for future force design, structure, and organizational transformation. Since almost all countries used their military in some capacity to respond to the COVID 19 pandemic, this volume offers an opportunity to compare use of the armed forces to provide domestic humanitarian assistance and disaster response.

Information Systems Development for Emerging Public Sector Cross-sector Collaborations Kayvan Yousefi Mojir, 2018-09-28. Information systems (IS) seem prevalent in modern societies and have resulted in the rapid digitalisation of different societal sectors. One application domain of IS is emergency response, which is responsible for delivering essential services to save lives and minimise environmental damage in both small, frequent and large-scale emergencies. Specific IS applications are in turn used in emergency response to support such aspects as decision making, communication, information sharing, and the dispatching of resources. Public sector cut-backs and a lack of professional resources have affected emergency response at the same time as natural disasters (e.g. forest fires, tsunamis, storms, terror attacks, and wars in the Middle East) leading to mass migration have intensified in recent decades. At the same time, frequent small-scale accidents continue to occur on a regular basis, both in urban and sparsely populated areas. As a result, emergency response actors (first responders) are often placed under severe pressure. An emerging trend in response to these challenges, both in Sweden and internationally, is to create cross sector forms of collaboration by combining alternative resources from various sectors. Such collaborations are relatively new and involve heterogeneous stakeholders. Therefore the thesis objective is to explore IS related opportunities, challenges and needs aimed at supporting heterogeneous actors in emerging cross sector collaborations in emergency response in order to enable and facilitate future related IS development. To achieve this a user centred approach was applied. A baseline study was performed followed by three case studies on co location of actors, co operative use of resources and semi professionals as first responders by performing interviews, focus groups, participant observation, Future Workshops, an exercise and an after action review. The thesis is based on case study research and qualitative research methods. Sociotechnical systems theory, the sociotechnical ensemble view and network governance were used as the analytical framework. As part of achieving the thesis objectives, experiences from applying user participation in the context of cross sector collaboration are also presented as part of the results. A context specific framework developed to systematise and explore various important aspects of cross sector collaboration in emergency response is also described. The results of this thesis indicate that the needs for IS in cross sector collaborations vary from simple smartphone applications to manage alarms, positioning and the dispatching of new resources to more sophisticated tools for sharing and viewing incident data. The results also indicate that these collaborations have the potential, e.g. resource redundancy, pooled competencies to increase total capacity to improve Swedish emergency response if supported by adequate IS/IT support. The major challenges are organisational, economic and juridical and the most prominent are ambiguities in actors' tasks and responsibilities and how to prioritise between ordinary work and new first response tasks. They must be addressed to enable certain IS functions, e.g. information sharing and positioning of resources. The results also highlight several institutional factors, e.g. mutual interest between members, collective problem solving, secrecy aspects which are believed to play a key role in the success or failure of the collaborations and which must be addressed in the development of IS support. The actors also have substantial basic needs for training, e.g. fire extinguishing, first aid and emergency supplies, e.g. fire extinguishers, healthcare kits. Applying user participation also faced challenges, the major one being the development of a future cross sector collaboration in a context that does not yet exist and involving stakeholders from resource strained organisations in doing so. The stakeholders and sometimes also the primary end users are partly unknown and tasks are undefined. As a response to these challenges a combination of activities based on multiple design groups, scenario based Future Workshops, focus groups, the context specific framework, a practical exercise and an after action review was provided. The framework which was used to support data collection and user participation includes 15 dimensions each intended to represent important aspects of cross sector collaboration. The thesis major contributions are the identified opportunities, challenges and need as a sociotechnical ensemble and generated and from several studies, thus being comparable. The thesis more theoretical contribution is the combined application of the sociotechnical ensemble view and network governance where the studied collaboration forms are characterised as a hybrid form of networks and more traditional government.

mechanisms and where it is pointed out that network governance lacks explicit IS IT aspects In a wider perspective the research fields of IS and political science may cross fertilise each other when studying emerging cross sector collaboration in the public sector Identified user participation challenges relevant to the cross sector collaboration context suggestions on how they can be handled and the context specific framework are contributions that can be used in practical user centred IS development in similar contexts Informationssystem IS anvnds idag i de flesta verksamheter inom respons och rddningsomr det t ex fr beslutsst d kommunikation informationsutbyte och resurspositionering Fel i systemen kan bidra till misslyckad samverkan vid rddningsinsatser som i sin tur kan riskera mnniskors liv och orsaka skador p milj och infrastruktur vid svl sm frekventa olyckor som storskaliga hndelser kriser och katastrofer Budgetnedskrningar brist p professionella resurser naturkatastrofer t ex skogsbrnder stormar och terrorattacker r ngra exempel p utmaningar som har intensifierats under de senaste decennierna Samtidigt forts tter frekventa smskaliga olyckor att intrffa bde i urbana och i glesbygdsomr den Drfr r responsakt rerna ofta under hrd press Ett sttt att hantera utmaningarna bde i Sverige och internationellt r tv rsektoriella samverkansformer som i sin tur involverar ofta heterogena samhllsresurser Samarbetskontexten rf rhllandevis ny och de involverade akt rerna och deras behov delvis oknda Avhandlingen syftar drfr r till att utforska IS relaterade mjligheter utmaningar och behov fr att st dja heterogena akt rer inom nya tv rsektoriella framv xande samverkansformer i svensk respons och rddning Fr att utforska detta anv ndes en anv ndarcentrerad ansats Drfr r genomf rdes en bakgrundsstudie och tre fallstudier p samlokalisering av akt rer sambruk av resurser och semi professionella som frstainsatspersoner genom att utf ra intervjuer fokusgrupper deltagande observation Future Workshops och en vning med fljande After Action Review Avhandlingen bygger d rmed p fallstudieforskning och kvalitativa forskningsmetoder Socioteknisk systemteori begreppet socioteknisk ensemble och network governance teori anv nds som forskningens analytiska ramverk Som ett led i att uppfylla syftet presenteras dessutom erfarenheter fr n anv ndarmedverkan i kontexten tv rsektoriell samverkan som ett delresultat samt ett kontext specifikt ramverk utvecklat fr att systematisera och utforska olika viktiga aspekter av tv rsektoriell samverkan i respons och rddningsverksamhet Avhandlingens resultat visar att behoven av IS i tv rsektoriella samverkansformer varierar fr n enkla smartphoneapplikationer fr larmhantering positionering och uttryckning av nya resurser till mer sofistikerade verktyg fr informationsdelning och gemensamma l gesbilder Resultaten pekar ocks mot att med rtt IS st d har samverkansformerna potential t ex i form av resursreduktans gemensam pool fr kad kapacitet fr att frb ttra svensk rddningsverksamhet De stora utmaningarna r organisatoriska ekonomiska och juridiska De mest framtr dande r otydigheter i akt rernas uppgifter roll och ansvar och hur man prioriterar mellan sitt befintliga arbete och nya frstainsatser Utmaningarna m ste l sas fr att m jligg ra IS funktioner till exempel vid informationsdelning och resurspositionering Resultaten belyser ocks explicit flera institutionella faktorer t ex gemensamt intresse och m l kollektiv probleml sning sekretesshantering som tros ha en nyckelroll i samverkansformernas realisering och som m ste hanteras i utveckling av
