This glossary has been prepared in order to leave a record of the Quechua spoken by the people of Huarás and surrounding areas in the mid 20th century Huarás capital of the Region Department of Ancash Peru has a distinct form of Quechua That dialect was endangered due to a massive earthquake on May 31 1970 Tens of thousands of people died and the city was destroyed Many of the survivors left the area Once rebuilt Huarás was repopulated with people new to the area who use Spanish or a different dialect to communicate Since then technological influences such as the Internet also reinforce the use of Spanish to the detriment of the local Quechua Born in Huarás I was raised in a bilingual environment Spanish and Quechua Although I left the area to attend the university I could always feel at home upon returning until that earthquake Since then it seems strange to return to an unfamiliar city due to people language and environment I hope this glossary will help the newer generations better understand not only their grandparents and ancestors but the culture from which they come Language and culture are intimately tied and much more than words is lost when a language dies The Inca Empire Tahuantinsuyo was invaded by Spain in 1532 At that time Quechua was spoken never written throughout the Inca civilization with many dialects Since then the Spanish language has been imposed but in Huarás never did it replace Quechua to the extent that it did in 1970 This glossary contains words several verb forms and phrases It is written with the expectation that it may help to preserve the inherited Quechua so that Huarás may remain bilingual It is written for huarasinos the people of Huarás If others find it useful better yet The glossary is in Quechua To facilitate access to the Quechua indices in Spanish and in English are included M Mosquera The Dog Who Spoke and More Mayan Folktales James D. Sexton, Fredy

Rodríguez-Mejía, 2014-10-22 In the delightful Mayan folktale The Dog Who Spoke we learn what happens when a dog's master magically transforms into a dog man who reasons like a man but acts like a dog This and the other Mayan folktales in this bilingual collection brim with the enchanting creativity of rural Guatemala's oral culture In addition to stories about ghosts and humans turning into animals the volume also offers humorous yarns Hailing from the Lake Atitlán region in the Guatemalan highlands these tales reflect the dynamics of and conflicts between Guatemala's Indian Ladino and white cultures The animals humans and supernatural forces that figure in these stories represent Mayan cultural values social mores and history James D Sexton and Fredy Rodríguez Mejía allow the thirty three stories to speak for themselves first in the original Spanish and then in English translations that maintain the meaning and rural inflection of the originals Available in print for the first time with a glossary of Indian and Spanish terms these Guatemalan folktales represent generations of transmitted oral culture that is fast disappearing and deserves a wider audience El equipo | The Team Mars

Apes Laura S. Brown,2017-01-31 In eighteenth century England the encounter between humans and other animals took a singular turn with the discovery of the great apes and the rise of bourgeois pet keeping These historical changes created a new cultural and intellectual context for the understanding and representation of animal kind and the nonhuman animal has thus played a significant role in imaginative literature from that period to the present day In Homeless Dogs and Melancholy Apes Laura Brown shows how the literary works of the eighteenth century use animal kind to bring abstract philosophical ontological and metaphysical questions into the realm of everyday experience affording a uniquely flexible perspective on difference hierarchy intimacy diversity and transcendence Writers of this first age of the rise of the animal in the modern literary imagination used their nonhuman characters from the lapdogs of Alexander Pope and his contemporaries to the ill-mannered monkey of Frances Burney's Evelina or the ape-like Yahoos of Jonathan Swift to explore questions of human identity and self-definition human love and the experience of intimacy and human diversity and the boundaries of convention Later literary works continued to use imaginary animals to question human conventions of form and thought Brown pursues this engagement with animal kind into the nineteenth century through works by Mary Shelley Charles Dickens and Elizabeth Barrett Browning and into the twentieth with a concluding account of Paul Auster's dog novel Timbuktu Auster's work suggests that today as in the eighteenth century imagining other animals opens up a potential for dissonance that creates distinctive opportunities for human creativity
