idyll in which the organic nature of village life was gradually undermined and destroyed by social and economic factors Trevor Wild's text explores the evolution of village England from the earliest times to the present Drawing upon both contemporary accounts and scholarship he provides an engaging and revealing account of the major transformations affecting the English village Of particular interest is the book's coverage of the more recent past with the whittling away of the great estates the appearance of such institutions as the village hall and the development of alternative systems of power such as the councils

The Lost Villages of England, 1954

Deserted Villages Revisited Christopher Dyer, Richard Jones, 2010

Assembling leading experts on the subject this account explores the circumstances surrounding the disappearance of thousands of villages and smaller settlements in England and Wales between 1340 and 1750 By revisiting the deserted villages this breakthrough study addresses questions that have plagued archaeologists geographers and historians since the 1940s including why they were deserted why some villages survived while others were abandoned and who was responsible for their desertion offering a series of exciting insights into the fate of these fascinating sites

England's Villages Dr Ben Robinson, 2021-09-16

England's Villages is a thoughtful enlightening and informative look at our oldest homes uncovering and revealing the extraordinary heritage of the places that surround us

Border Urbanism Quazi Mahtab Zaman, Greg G. Hall, 2023-03-06

Border Urbanism presents a global array of authors research that tackles the perception interpretation and nature of borders from a transdisciplinary perspective The authors examine ways in which borders attempt to define socially economically politically and historically incompatible systems from micro neighbourhoods to global macro territories and how this blurs urban order that results in an absence of cohesion Their analysis of contextual worldwide settings considers the unique issues and the broad scope of forces that shape borders and separate socioeconomic political cultural and historical polarities The authors consider ways in which the resulting urban border conditions determine the mobility of goods resources and people and how these delineations define relationships that influence geopolitical relationships socioeconomic transactions and people's lives at multiple levels They address the temporal issues defined by a variety of unique urban conditions that result from these lateral thresholds Each chapter contributes to a critical discourse of the subject of border urbanism and the phenomenon created by separation demarcation and segregation as well as by conflict and coexistence The transdisciplinary approach of Border Urbanism ensures that it will be of interest to individuals across a spectrum of professions and disciplines Professionals such as urban planners designers architects developers and civil and environmental engineers and students of these disciplines will be particularly interested as will allied professionals and those not traditionally associated with urbanism these include artists sociologists historians lawyers politicians and civic and government leaders The authors global perspectives combined with their expertise in environmental historical cultural social political and geographic areas will appeal to anyone interested in border urbanism and its intersection with these areas

Recent Archaeological Excavations in Britain R.L.S. Bruce-Mitford, 2014-10-24 Originally published in 1956 this collection features chapters by well known archaeologists on various archaeological sites explored in the previous decade as examples of the techniques being used and finds being made Mostly from the lowland zone of Britain the chapters nonetheless offer a spread of location and site types while the periods being investigated range from prehistoric to Romano British to later fields This detailed work exemplifies the steady progress of study in archaeology and a final chapter on air reconnaissance deals with one of the most revolutionary additions to archaeology in the post war period Contributors include J G D Clark R Rainbird Clarke Sir Mortimer Wheeler I A Richmond G W Meates W F Grimes C W Phillips J R C Hamilton Brian Hope Taylor J G Hurst J K S St Joseph
The Agrarian History of England and Wales: Volume 4, 1500-1640 Joan Thirsk, H. P. R. Finberg, 1967-04 Volume IV of the Agrarian History 1967 examines farming in Tudor and early Stuart England and Wales
Time's Anvil Richard Morris, 2012-11-22 A personal and lyrical rediscovery of the history of England through archaeology and the imagination History thrives on stories TIME'S ANVIL explores archaeology's influence on what such stories say how they are told who tells them and how we listen In a dazzlingly wide ranging exploration Richard Morris casts fresh light on three quarters of a million years of history in the place we now think of as England Drawing upon genres that are usually pursued in isolation like biography poetry or physics he finds potent links between things we might imagine to be unrelated His subjects range from humanity's roots to the destruction of the wildwood from the first farmers to industrialization and from Tudor drama to 20th century conflict Each topic sits at a different point along the continuum between epoch and the fleeting moment In part this is a history of archaeology in part too it is a personal account of the author's history in archaeology But mainly it is about how the past is read and about what we bring to the reading as well as what we find The result is a book that defies categorisation but one which will by turns surprise enthrall and provoke anyone who cares for England who we are and where we have come from TIME'S ANVIL was longlisted for the Samuel Johnson Prize for Non Fiction 2013
