Lost Buildings of Britain Simon Thurley, 2004 Accompanying a six part series on Channel Four this volume features six buildings including Glastonbury monastery and the Theatre Royal

Britain's Lost Railways John Minnis, 2018-08-07 The beautifully restored St Pancras Station is a magisterial example of Britain's finest Victorian architecture Like the viaducts at Belah and Crumlin cathedral like stations such as Nottingham Victoria and spectacular railway hotels like Glasgow St Enoch it stands proud as testament to Britain's architectural heritage In this stunning book John Minnis reveals Britain's finest railway architecture From the most cavernous engine sheds like Old Oak Common through the eccentric country halts on the Tollesbury line and the gantries of the Liverpool Overhead Railway to the soaring viaducts of Belah and Cumlin Britain's Lost Railways offers a sweeping celebration of our railway heritage The selection of images and the removable facsimile memorabilia including tickets posters timetables and maps allows the reader to step into that past serving as a testimony to an age of ingenuity and ambition when the pride we invested in our railways was reflected in the grandeur of the architecture we built for them

Britain's Lost Regiments Trevor Royle, 2014-10-02 The history of the British Army is really the story of its regiments and the men who served in them From the very beginning they formed the backbone of a singular institution that is itself a reflection of the way the people of Britain view themselves and their collective past Beginning with the Glorious revolution of 1660 and the return to the throne of King Charles II it was a time when Cromwell's Commonwealth and his military institutions were not popular But the new king had to be protected and the country had to be defended Through a process of slow growth and frequent tardiness an army eventually came into being and from the outset it was based solidly on a regimental system which needed steady supplies of recruits to keep it in being Since then men have joined up for many valid reasons such as adventure patriotism or a sense of duty but not all motives were commendable For every young man attracted by the chance to wear a uniform there would be many more who had fallen foul of the law been poverty stricken or fallen into debt or had committed a sexual indiscretion Others were simply coerced With the exception of the two great world wars of the twentieth century the Army rarely numbered more than 250 000 and in 2020 its numbers will have fallen to 82 000 a poor reward one would have thought for all past endeavours Over the years periods of warfare have always been followed by times of peace when expenditure on the armed forces dropped soldiers were made redundant and regiments mainly infantry were either disbanded or amalgamated often with painful consequences However there is a case for saying that no regiment is ever entirely lost and that it will always live on in men's minds as a mystical entity The British Army certainly makes a great deal of the golden thread which still links say the Middlesex Die Hards to the modern Princess of Wales's Royal Regiment but the harsh reality is that those ties are only as strong as the men who made them Like it or not the old and bold soldiers are a dwindling band and once they have fallen out for the last time the regiments will be truly lost For this reason Trevor Royle now explores the histories of the many regiments that have disappeared to celebrate their existence as well as the men and officers who served with distinction within them

Lost Buildings of Nottingham

Douglas Whitworth, 2010-07-06 Nottingham in common with many other English cities experienced great changes during the twentieth century This book illustrates the major buildings and many of the minor structures which were lost during that period Britain's Lost Tragedies Uncovered Richard M. Jones, 2021-09-24 Is any disaster really forgotten It is never forgotten by the survivors who lived through the trauma It is never forgotten by the emergency services who tried to save the day It is never forgotten by the relatives of those who never came home Britain's Lost Tragedies Uncovered is a look at the tragedies and disasters that may not have stayed in public memory but are no less terrible than their more famous counterparts From a late nineteenth century family massacre in London to two separate fatal crashes at Dibbles Bridge in Yorkshire and the worst ever aviation show crash in post war Farnborough to the horrifying Barnsley Public Hall disaster here are twenty three accounts of true devastation and stunning bravery They are tales that deserve to be remembered

Lost Buildings Jonathan Glancey, 2009 Surveys buildings that have been lost to antiquity war demolition natural catastrophes and other circumstances as well as designs which were never built Writing History 7-11 Hilary Cooper, 2014-06-05 Writing History 7 11 supports students and primary teachers helping them to explore ways in which activities involving the talk that underpins historical enquiry can be developed into reading and exciting extended reflective writing The step that teachers and pupils take from talk for learning to talk for writing is a vital one In this book the authors argue that all aspects of historical enquiry leading to writing involve discussion and dialogue which permeate every aspect of doing history From this perspective they set out a theoretical framework for understanding the role of talk and reading in developing pupils critical thinking and confident reflective writing then demonstrate through a series of case studies in which teachers university lecturers and pupils work together how the theory is put into practice in the classroom Themes include How to support children in writing in a variety of interesting genres How to make links between the National Curriculum 2013 for History and for English How to plan for breadth and depth studies in the new National Curriculum How activities in History 5 11 can be developed into exciting extended writing The second half of the book draws upon case studies from a number of real primary classrooms with children of different ages Each case study shows how teaching was planned to develop children's confidence and enjoyment in discussion and to scaffold reasoned written explanation and argument Topics presented are all relevant to the new curriculum framework and include talking and reading about Time change and significance over 6000 years writing a television script Celtic Britain and the Roman Army writing a travel brochure about Celtic Britain The destruction of Roman towns writing a Saxon poem An archaeological investigation of a body in a Danish peat bog writing a newspaper report Did any countries benefit from WW11 writing an argued viewpoint The expansion westwards of European settlers writing a flap book exploring different perspectives This indispensable book provides not only sources for pupils to use in their writing but also models and exemplars of different styles and voices to draw upon

Shadowlands: A Journey Through Britain's Lost Cities and Vanished Villages Matthew Green, 2022-07-19

Beguiling Elizabeth Lowry Wall Street Journal A brilliant London historian BBC Radio tells the story of Britain as never before through its abandoned villages and towns Drowned Buried by sand Decimated by plague Plunged off a cliff This is the extraordinary tale of Britain's eerie and remarkable ghost towns and villages shadowlands that once hummed with life Peering through the cracks of history we find Dunwich a medieval city plunged off a cliff by sea storms the abandoned village of Wharfedale Percy wiped out by the Black Death the lost city of Trellech unearthed by moles in 2002 and a Norfolk village zombified by the military and turned into a Nazi Soviet and Afghan village for training Matthew Green a British historian and broadcaster tells the astonishing tales of the rise and demise of these places animating the people who lived worked dreamed and died there Traveling across Britain to explore their haunting and often beautiful remains Green transports the reader to these lost towns and cities as they teeter on the brink of oblivion vividly capturing the sounds of the sea clawing away row upon row of houses the taste of medieval wine or the sights of puffin hunting on the tallest cliffs in the country We experience them in their prime look on at their destruction and revisit their lingering remains as they are mourned by evictees and reimagined by artists writers and mavericks A stunning and original excavation of Britain's untold history Shadowlands gives us a truer sense of the progress and ravages of time in a moment when many of our own settlements are threatened as never before

Rebuilding Britain's Blitzed Cities Catherine Flinn, 2018-12-27 Many British cities were devastated by bombing during the Second World War and faced stark economic dilemmas concerning reconstruction planning and implementation after 1945 How did politicians civil servants and local authorities manage to produce the cities we live in today Rebuilding Britain's Blitzed Cities examines the underlying processes and pressures especially financial and bureaucratic which shaped postwar urbanism in Britain Catherine Flinn integrates architectural planning with in depth economic and political analyses of Britain's blitzed cities for the first time She examines early reconstruction arrangements the postwar economic apparatus and the challenges of postwar physical planning across the country while providing insightful case studies from the cities of Hull Exeter and Liverpool By addressing the ideology versus the reality of reconstruction in postwar Britain Rebuilding Britain's Blitzed Cities highlights the importance of economic and political factors for understanding the British postwar built environment

Architecture and Armed Conflict JoAnne Mancini, Keith Bresnahan, 2014-07-11 Architecture and Armed Conflict is the first multi authored scholarly book to address this theme from a comparative interdisciplinary perspective By bringing together specialists from a range of relevant fields and with knowledge of case studies across time and space it provides the first synthetic body of research on the complex multifaceted subject of architectural destruction in the context of conflict The book addresses several specific research questions How has the destruction of buildings and landscapes figured in recent historical conflicts and how have people and states responded to it How has the destruction of architecture been represented in different historical periods and to what ends What are the relationships between the destruction of architecture and the destruction of art particularly iconoclasm If architectural destruction is a salient feature of many armed conflicts how does it feature in post conflict environments What are the relationships between architectural destruction and processes of restoration recreation or replacement Considering multiple conflicts multiple time periods and multiple locations allows this international cohort of authors to provide an essential primer for this crucial topic Festival Architecture Sarah Bonnemaïson, Christine Macy, 2007-12-06 With contributions from provocative art and architectural historians this book is a unique exposition of the temporary architecture erected for festivals and the role it has played in developing Western architectural and urban theory Festival Architecture is arranged in historical periods from Antiquity to the modern era and divided between analyses of specific festivals set in relation to contemporary architecture and urban design ideas and theories Illustrated with a wealth of unusual and rarely seen images from the European festival tradition this is a fascinating outline of the history of festival architecture ideal for postgraduate architecture and urban design students Save Britain's Heritage, 1975-2005 Marcus Binney, 2005 Save Britain's Heritage Thirty Years of Campaigning 1975 2005 is a fascinating record of the efforts and achievements of an extraordinary foundation created to rescue landmarks in Britain's architectural heritage from demolition Published to celebrate Town and Country Planning in the UK Simin Davoudi, David Webb, Geoff Vigar, John Pendlebury, Tim Townshend, Trevor Hart, Vincent Nadin, 2014-12-05 Town and country planning has never been more important to the UK nor more prominent in national debate Planning generates great controversy whether it's spending 80m and four years inquiry into Heathrow's Terminal 5 or the 200 proposed wind turbines in the Shetland Isles On a smaller scale telecoms masts take aways house extensions and even fences are often the cause of local conflict Town and Country Planning in the UK has been extensively revised by a new author group This 15th Edition incorporates the major changes to planning introduced by the coalition government elected in 2010 particularly through the National Planning Policy Framework and associated practice guidance and the Localism Act It provides a critical discussion of the systems of planning the procedures for managing development and land use change and the mechanisms for implementing policy and proposals It reviews current policy for sustainable development and the associated economic social and environmental themes relevant to planning in both urban and rural contexts Contemporary arrangements are explained with reference to their historical development the influence of the European Union the roles of central and local government and developing social and economic demands for land use change Detailed consideration is given to the nature of planning and its historical evolution the role of the EU central regional and local government mechanisms for developing policy and managing these changes policies for guiding and delivering housing and economic development sustainable development principles for planning including pollution control the importance of design in planning conserving the heritage community engagement in planning The many recent changes to the system are explained in detail the new national planning policy framework the impact of the loss of the regional tier in planning and of the insertion of neighbourhood level planning the transition from development control to development management the continued and growing importance of environmental matters in planning community engagement partnership working changes to planning gain and the introduction of the Community Infrastructure Levy and new initiatives across a number of other themes Notes on further reading are provided and at the end of the book there is an extensive bibliography maintaining its reputation as the bible of British planning      Derelict Stone Buildings of the Black Mountains Massif Christopher George Leslie Hodges,2015-07-31 This study provides evidence of a widespread settlement pattern that existed in an upland area of the Eastern Massif of the Black Mountains in South East Wales now sparsely populated and that they can be dated from the late medieval and early post medieval periods respectively      Britain's 100 Best Railway Stations Simon Jenkins,2017-09-28 Discover the architectural gems that are Britain's 100 Best Railway Stations in this Sunday Times top 10 bestseller This is a cracker a beautiful book Chris Evans It is the scene for our hopeful beginnings and our intended ends and the timeless experiences of coming and going meeting greeting and parting It is an institution with its own rituals and priests and a long neglected aspect of Britain's architecture And yet so little do we look at the railway station Simon Jenkins has travelled the length and breadth of Great Britain from Waterloo to Wemyss Bay Betws y Coed to Beverley to select his hundred best railway stations Blending his usual insight and authority with his personal reflections and experiences including his founding the Railway Heritage Trust the foremost expert on our national heritage deftly reveals the history geography design and significance of each of these glories Beautifully illustrated with colour photographs throughout this joyous exploration of our social history shows the station's role in the national imagination champions the engineers architects and rival companies that made them possible and tells the story behind the triumphs and follies of these very British creations These are the marvellous often undersung places that link our nation celebrated like never before However spectacular the book's photographs it's the author's prowess as a phrase maker that keeps you turning the pages The Times An uplifting exploration of our social history Guardian      At Home Bill Bryson,2010-10-05 A fascinating work of what you might call domestic science our homes how they work and the fascinating history of how they got that way Bill Bryson and his family live in a Victorian parsonage in a part of England where nothing of any great significance has happened since the Romans decamped Yet one day he began to consider how very little he knew about the ordinary things of life as found in that comfortable home To remedy this he formed the idea of journeying about his house from room to room to write a history of the world without leaving home The bathroom provides the occasion for a history of hygiene the bedroom sex death and sleep the kitchen nutrition and the spice trade Bryson shows how each has shaped the evolution of private life Whatever happens in the world he demonstrates ends up in our house in the paint and the pipes and the pillows and every item of furniture      Protecting and Preserving Our Heritage Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee,2006-04-19 Protecting and preserving our Heritage Vol 2 Written Evidence      Scotland's Castles Janet Brennan-Inglis,2014-07-07

Scotland's Castles is a beautifully illustrated celebration and account of the renaissance of Scottish castles that has taken place since 1950. Over 100 ruined and derelict buildings from tiny towers to rambling baronial mansions have been restored as homes, hotels and holiday lets. These restorations have mainly been carried out by new owners without any connections to the land or the family history of the buildings which they bought as ruins. Their struggles and triumphs, including interviews and first person accounts, form the core of the book, set in the context of the enormous social, political and economic changes of the late twentieth century.

Pinning Down the Past Mike Corbishley, 2014-04-17 In a relatively short period of time, the pursuit of archaeology has evolved from an antiquarian interest to a specialised scientific activity. Part of this evolution has always included the interest of the public and archaeologists' efforts to educate them. As each new method and technique is developed and each new specialism is created, the challenge of making archaeology available as a learning resource grows with it. Today, for example, the issues which surround archaeology and heritage, such as the pressures of tourism on sites, now form part of many formal educational curricula. This book, the first to deal with the subject in such depth, examines the place of education and outreach within the wider archaeological community. Written by one of Britain's leading archaeological educationalists, it charts the sometimes difficult and painful growth and development of education and archaeology. Packed full of informative and enlightening case studies, from the circus at Colchester to Sutton Hoo and Hadrian's Wall, this work examines exactly how we have reached the point we are at, where that place is, and suggests areas for future development. By drawing upon many decades of experience at the front line of archaeological education, the author has produced a key text that will play a major role in the on-going development of the heritage industry.

Conservation of Historic Buildings Bernard Feilden, 2007-06-07 Since its publication in 1982, Sir Bernard Feilden's Conservation of Historic Buildings has become the standard text for architects and others involved in the conservation of historic structures. Leading practitioners around the world have praised the book as being the most significant single volume on the subject to be published. This third edition revises and updates a classic book, including completely new sections on conservation of Modern Movement buildings and non-destructive investigation. The result of the lifetime's experience of one of the world's leading architectural conservators, the book comprehensively surveys the fundamental principles of conservation in their application to historic buildings and provides the basic information needed by architects, engineers and surveyors for the solution of problems of architectural conservation in almost every climatic region of the world. This edition is organized into three complementary parts: in the first, the structure of buildings is dealt with in detail; the second focuses attention on the causes of decay and the materials they affect; and the third considers the practical role of the architect involved in conservation and rehabilitation. As well as being essential reading for architects and others concerned with conservation, many lay people with various kinds of responsibility for historic buildings will find this clearly written, jargon-free work a fruitful source of guidance and information.
