Moral Calculations Laszlo Mero, 2012-12-06 Are people ever rational? Consider this: You auction off a one-dollar bill to the highest bidder, but you set the rules so that the second-highest bidder also has to pay the amount of his last bid, even though he gets nothing. Would people ever enter such an auction? Not only do they, but according to Martin Shubik, the game's inventor, the average winning bid for a dollar is 34¢. Many winners report that they bid so high only because their opponent went completely crazy. This game lies at the intersection of three subjects of eternal fascination: human psychology, morality, and John von Neumann's game theory. Hungarian game theorist Laszlo Mero introduces us to the basics of game theory, including such concepts as zero-sum games, Prisoner's Dilemma, and the origins of
