Mapping the Next Millennium Stephen S. Hall, 1992      Mapping the Next Millennium Stephen S. Hall, 1993 A visually stunning and conceptually explosive report from the frontiers of mapmaking Ranging from the mapping of the ocean floor to the scanning of remote galaxies from portraits of subatomic collisions to an unprecedented view of the mathematical constant pi this work makes the theoretical compellingly concrete even as it reminds us that the world is far more vast than we ever dreamed Photographs throughout      Mapping the Next Millennium Stephen S. Hall, 1997-06-01 A visually stunning and conceptually explosive report from the frontiers of mapmaking Ranging from the mapping of the ocean floor to the scanning of remote galaxies from portraits of subatomic collisions to an unprecedented view of the mathematical constant pi this work makes the theoretical compellingly concrete even as it reminds us that the world is far more vast than we ever dreamed Photographs throughout From the Trade Paperback edition      Critical Geographies Salvatore Engel-Di Mauro, 2008      Mapping the Next Millenium Stephen S. Hall, 1994-10-01      Mapping Discord Jeffrey N. Peters, 2004 Mapping Discord examines a series of allegorical maps published in France during the seventeenth century that cast in spatial terms a number of heated aesthetic and social debates It discusses the convergence of map making and literary creation in the context of early modern cartographic practice and demonstrates that the unique language of allegorical cartography raises important theoretical questions about the relations between rationalist discourses of science and the figural designs of imaginative writing In detailed analyses of the imaginary maps that appeared in seventeenth century novels and stories as well as of maps atlases and geographic treatises produced by professional scholars and engineers of the period Mapping Discord considers the ideological structure and uses of cartographic language and argues that allegorical maps have much to tell us about the potential capacity of every map to operate as a visual metaphor for power Illustrated Jeffrey N Peters is Associate Professor of French at the University of Kentucky      Mapping the World Sylvia A. Johnson, 1999 A history of mapmaking showing how maps both reflect and change people s view of the world      A History of Spaces John Pickles, 2012-11-12 This book provides an essential insight into the practices and ideas of maps and map making It draws on a wide range of social theorists and theorists of maps and cartography to show how maps and map making have shaped the spaces in which we live Going beyond the focus of traditional cartography the book draws on examples of the use of maps from the sixteenth century to the present including their role in projects of the national and colonial state emergent capitalism and the planetary consciousness of the natural sciences It also considers the use of maps for military purposes maps that have coded modern conceptions of health disease and social character and maps of the transparent human body and the transparent earth      The Map Reader Martin Dodge, Rob Kitchin, Chris Perkins, 2011-05-09 WINNER OF THE CANTEMIR PRIZE 2012 awarded by the Berendel Foundation The Map Reader brings together for the first time classic and hard to find articles on mapping This book provides a wide ranging and coherent edited compendium of key scholarly writing about the changing nature of cartography over the last half century The editorial selection of fifty four theoretical and thought provoking texts demonstrates how cartography works as a powerful representational form and explores how different mapping practices have been conceptualised in particular scholarly contexts Themes covered include paradigms politics people aesthetics and technology Original interpretative essays set the literature into intellectual context within these themes Excerpts are drawn from leading scholars and researchers in a range of cognate fields including Cartography Geography Anthropology Architecture Engineering Computer Science and Graphic Design The Map Reader provides a new unique single source reference to the essential literature in the cartographic field more than fifty specially edited excerpts from key classic articles and monographs critical introductions by experienced experts in the field focused coverage of key mapping practices techniques and ideas a valuable resource suited to a broad spectrum of researchers and students working in cartography and GIScience geography the social sciences media studies and visual arts full page colour illustrations of significant maps as provocative visual think pieces fully indexed clearly structured and accessible ways into a fast changing field of cartographic research

Mapping Daniel Dorling, David Fairbairn, 2013-10-08 Illustrates how maps tell us as much about the people and the powers which create them as about the places they show Presents historical and contemporary evidence of how the human urge to describe understand and control the world is presented through the medium of mapping together with the individual and environmental constraints of the creator of the map

Mapping Across Academia Stanley D. Brunn, Martin Dodge, 2017-02-10 This book addresses the role and importance of space in the respective fields of the social sciences and the humanities It discusses how map representations and mapping processes can inform ongoing intellectual debates or open new avenues for scholarly inquiry within and across disciplines including a wide array of significant developments in spatial processes including the Internet global positioning system GPS affordable digital photography and mobile technologies Last but not least it reviews and assesses recent research challenges across disciplines that enhance our understanding of spatial processes and mapping at scales ranging from the molecular to the galactic

Mapping in Architectural Discourse Marc Schoonderbeek, 2021-11-29 This book explores the notion of mapping in architectural discourse First locating positioning and theorizing mapping it then makes explicit the relationship between research and design in architecture through cartography and spatial analysis It proposes three distinct modalities tool operation and concept showing how these methods lead to discursive aspects of architectural work and highlighting mapping as an instrument in developing architectural form It emphasizes the importance of place and time as fundamental terms with which to understand the role of mapping An investigation into architectural discourse this book will appeal to academics and researchers within the discipline with a particular interest in theory history and cartography

description Maps and Politics Jeremy Black, 2000-09-01 We all rely on the apparent accuracy and objectivity of maps but often do not see the very process of mapping as political Are the power and purpose of maps inherently political Maps and Politics addresses this important question and seeks to emphasize that the apparent objectivity of the map making and map using process cannot be divorced from aspects of the politics of representation Maps have played and continue to play a major role in both international and domestic politics They show how visual geographical representations can be made to reflect and advance political agendas in powerful ways The major developments in this field over the last century are responses both to cartographic progression and to a greater emphasis on graphic imagery in societies affected by politicization democratization and consumer and cultural shifts Jeremy Black asks whether bias free cartography is possible and demonstrates that maps are not straightforward visual texts but contain political and politicizing subtexts that need to be read with care

The Power of Maps Denis Wood, John Fels, 1992-01-01 This volume ventures into terrain where even the most sophisticated map fails to lead through the mapmaker's bias Denis Wood shows how maps are not impartial reference objects but rather instruments of communication persuasion and power Like paintings they express a point of view By connecting us to a reality that could not exist in the absence of maps a world of property lines and voting rights taxation districts and enterprise zones they embody and project the interests of their creators Sampling the scope of maps available today illustrations include Peter Gould's AIDS map Tom Van Sant's map of the earth U S Geological Survey maps and a child's drawing of the world THE POWER OF MAPS was published in conjunction with an exhibition at the Cooper Hewitt Museum the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Design

A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2013-11-14 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer's art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map The Spectator A mesmerizing and beautifully illustrated book The Telegraph
