Martinez,Junko Yokota,Charles Temple,2017-04-18 Much of teachers attention these days is focused on having students read closely to ferret out the author s intended meaning and the devices used to convey that meaning But we cannot forget to guide students to have moving engagements with literature because they need to make strong personal connections to books of merit if they are to become the next generation of readers literate people with awareness of and concern for the diversity of human beings around them and in different times and places Fortunately guiding both students personal engagement with literature and their close reading to appreciate the author s message and craft are not incompatible goals This book enthusiastically and intelligently addresses both imperatives first surveying what is gained when students are immersed in literature then celebrating and explicating the main features of literature students need to understand to broaden their tastes and deepen their engagement at the same time they meet external standards then presenting a host of active methods for exploring all major genres of children s books and finally presenting suggestions for interdisciplinary teaching units grounded in literature Created by noted leaders in the fields of children s literature and literacy the book is enlivened by recurring features such as suggested reading lists issues for discussion links to technology and annotations of exemplary books White Women Getting Real About Race Judith M. James,Nancy Peterson,2023-07-03 For many White women teachers and teachers in training who represent the majority of our teaching force today the issue of race is fraught with discomfort It may challenge assumptions evoke a sense of guilt or give rise to a fear of making mistakes or saying the wrong thing This book presents the first person stories of White women teachers who tell us not only how they have grappled with race in diverse classrooms but how they continue to this day to be challenged by issues of color and privilege These are no stories of heroic feats or achievement of perfection but stories of self disclosure that lay bare their authors emotions ideas curiosity vulnerability and reflections as they engaged with race and challenged practices of color blindness and empathetic distance Avoiding abstract educational lingo these teachers come clean about the emotional cost of dealing with racism White privilege and fear of being racist in our rapidly diversifying schools Admitting their cultural mistakes they hope their readers can find a safe place to use theirs for honest dialogue and positive learning In approaching chapter authors for this book the editors asked the writers to ask themselves Will my well being and sense of self be at risk if I tell this story Recognizing what s at stake they wanted writers who would be real with themselves The women in this book hope that their stories will resonate with readers help them feel less alone and give them courage to begin a dialogue with colleagues friends staff and administrators around race concerns Each chapter concludes with a few questions to prompt self reflection at home or for use as exercises to use in small groups or staff development training

Redeeming Justice Jarrett Adams, 2021-09-14 A moving and beautifully crafted memoir SCOTT TUROW A daring act of justified defiance SHAKA SENGHOR Nothing less than heroic JOHN GRISHAM He was seventeen when an all white jury sentenced him to prison for a crime he didn t commit Now a pioneering lawyer he recalls the journey that led to his exoneration and inspired him to devote his life to fighting the many injustices in our legal system Seventeen years old and facing nearly thirty years behind bars Jarrett Adams sought to figure out the why behind his fate Sustained by his mother and aunts who brought him back from the edge of despair through letters of prayer and encouragement Adams became obsessed with our legal system in all its damaged glory After studying how his constitutional rights to effective counsel had been violated he solicited the help of the Wisconsin Innocence Project an organization that exonerates the wrongfully convicted and won his release after nearly ten years in prison But the journey was far from over Adams took the lessons he learned through his incarceration and worked his way through law school with the goal of helping those who like himself had faced our legal system at its worst After earning his law degree he worked with the New York Innocence Project becoming the first exoneree ever hired by the nonprofit as a lawyer In his first case with the Innocence Project he argued before the same court that had convicted him a decade earlier and won In this illuminating story of hope and full circle redemption Adams draws on his life and the cases of his clients to show the racist tactics used to convict young men of color the unique challenges facing exonerees once released and how the lack of equal representation in our courts is a failure not only of empathy but of our collective ability to uncover the truth Redeeming Justice is an unforgettable firsthand account of the limits and possibilities of our country s system of law
