Nature Of Loving Patterns Of Human Relationship:

The Nature of Loving Verena Kast, 1986 In this exciting best seller from Europe the author a Jungian analyst discusses close interpersonal relationships their dynamics and depth dimensions as well as their surface problems from the viewpoint of archetypal patterns Problems of bonding of disillusionment of projection and introjection are carefully discussed Focusing primarily on the relationship between the sexes this work also includes much that is relevant to other forms of human intimacy Myth is brought alive and illuminates the present with the intense light cast by archetypal understandings The Nature of Loving is a joy to read It avoids the dry style of many similar books but treats love and relationship as mystery and the numinous Every page lives and glows Robert A Johnson Author of We Understanding the Psychology of Romantic Love and Inner Work Verena Kast demonstrates how the imagination plays a role in love how our vision of the beloved s best possibilities are brought forth by our love Also that we fantasize ourselves into our own best possibilities from the beloved s eyes becoming more of ourselves This is a fantastic book It sheds light on the idealization of our loves and the creative potential released in us by them Florence L Wiedemann Jungian Analyst An excellent study of myths as revealing paradigms of relationship Well worth reading John A Sanford Jungian Analyst Author of The Invisible Partners and The Kingdom Within Verena Kast is a training analyst and teacher in the C G Jung Institute of Zurich Switzerland

Nature of Loving Verena Kast, 1986-02-01 In this exciting best seller from Europe the author a Jungian alalyst discusses close interpersonal relationships their dynamics and depth dimensions as well as their surface problems from the viewpoint of archetypal patterns Problems of bonding of disillusionment of projection and introjection are carefully discussed Focusing primarily on the relationship between the sexes this work also includes much that is relevant to other forms of human intimacy Myth is brought alive and illuminates the present with the intense light cast by archetypal understandings Time and Intimacy Joel B. Bennett, 2000-11 This volume examines the role of time in relationships with a focus on the transpersonal dimension of intimacy and the temporal aspects of relationships For scholars and students in personal relationships psych of religion family studies intimacy A Midsummer Night's Dream: Shakespeare's Syzygy of Meaning , The Handbook of Jungian Psychology Renos K. Papadopoulos, 2012-10-12 The field of Jungian psychology has been growing steadily over the last twenty years and awareness is increasing of its relevance to the predicaments of modern life Jung appeals not only to professionals who are looking for a more humane and creative way of working with their clients but also to academics in an increasingly wide range of disciplines This Handbook is unique in presenting a clear comprehensive and systematic exposition of the central tenets of Jung s work which has something to offer to both specialists and those seeking an introduction to the subject Internationally recognised experts in Jungian Psychology cover the central themes in three sections Theory Psychotherapy Applications Each chapter begins with an introduction locating the topic in the context of Jung s work as a whole before moving on to an investigation of contemporary developments and concluding by demonstrating how Jung's theories continue to evolve and develop through their practical therapeutic applications. The Handbook of Jungian Psychology is the definitive source of authoritative information on Jungian psychology for Jungian analysts, psychotherapists, counsellors and related professionals. It will be an invaluable aid to those involved in Jungian academic studies and related disciplines.

Love and Hate David Mann, 2013-11-12. Love and hate seem to be the dominant emotions that make the world go round and are a central theme in psychotherapy. Love and Hate seeks to answer some important questions about these all-consuming passions. Many patients seeking psychotherapy feel unlovable or full of rage and hate. What is it that interferes with the capacity to experience love? This book explores the origins of love and hate from infancy and how they develop through the life cycle. It brings together contemporary views about clinical practice on how psychotherapists and analysts work with and think about love and hate in the transference and countertransference and explores how different schools of thought deal with the subject. David Mann together with an impressive array of international contributors represent a broad spectrum of psychoanalytic perspectives including Kleinian, Jungian, Independent Group and Lacanian psychotherapists, psychoanalysts and analytical psychologists. With emphasis on clinical illustration throughout, the writers show how different psychoanalytic schools think about and clinically work with the experience and passions of love and hate. It will be invaluable to practitioners and students of psychotherapy, psychoanalysis, analytical psychology and counselling.

Exploring Depth Psychology and the Female Self Leslie Gardner, Catriona Miller, 2020-11-23. Exploring Depth Psychology and the Female Self: Feminist Themes from Somewhere presents a Jungian take on modern feminism offering an international assessment with a dynamic political edge which includes perspectives from both clinicians and academics. Presented in three parts, this unique collection explores how the fields of gender and politics have influenced each other, how myth and storytelling craft feminist narratives and how public discussion can amplify feminist theory. The contributions include some which are traditionally theoretical in tone and some which are uniquely personal, but all work to encounter the female self as an active entity. The book as a whole offers a multi-faceted and interdisciplinary approach to feminism and feminist issues from contemporary voices around the world as well as a critique of Jung's essentialist notion of the feminine. Exploring Depth Psychology and the Female Self will offer insightful perspectives to academics and students of Jungian and post-Jungian studies, gender studies and politics. It will also be of great interest to Jungian analysts and psychotherapists and analytical psychologists.

A Time to Mourn Verena Kast, 2020. In what is often called her most important book, Verena Kast examines the role of mourning in the therapeutic process. Working as a psychotherapist, Frau Kast has often observed depressive illnesses caused by painful losses which have not been adequately mourned. Traditionally, mourning has not been a subject of psychologists' attention. Frau Kast uses dreams to illustrate the stages of mourning and shows systematically how the unconscious stimulates us to encounter our grief. Mourning marks an end, but it also fosters personal growth. It is a time of renewal, a time for incubation, for introspection, for going into oneself to gather strength as a seed goes deep into the earth to find the resources for striving.

Robert E Hegel Washington University in St Louis Gender and Desire Polly Young-Eisendrath, 1997 Also available in an open access full text edition at <http://oaktrust.library.tamu.edu/handle/1969/1/146844> Contradictory and provocative pathways crisscross the terrain of gender among contemporary psychologists and psychoanalysts Clearing a path through this terrain Polly Young Eisendrath describes and illustrates issues of gender and desire among women and men Young Eisendrath introduces three world views premodern modern and postmodern Then she calls our attention to how we shape reality and clearly explains how a lived postmodern philosophy is essential for us to understand ourselves and how we can change Next she discusses gender and sex differences in terms of how the former are flexible and the latter are not The division of the human community into the two exclusive groups of male and female has important psychological implications on both conscious and unconscious levels Most depth psychological theories of gender and sex have been androcentric taking males as the norm for health and have failed to develop a full understanding of desire opposition and idealization between the sexes One major theme in a depth psychology of gender is that of Woman as the object of desire The Greek myth of Pandora deftly illustrates the problem of female beauty as the desire awakening maiden Pandora is powerful but empty The link between female beauty power and evil teaches us about the consequences of female appearance as a commodity to be used among men Zeus placed the curse of Pandora on humankind as a punishment for the theft of fire from the gods and we are still living with the effects of this patriarchal curse The double bind of female beauty damned if you engage it and damned if you don't must be lifted from the male female relationships in this time of growing equality and reciprocity between the sexes For women and men to reach their full potential of development as individuals and in relationships they must break Pandora's curse and free themselves from the myth of the power of female beauty In working to liberate us from the curse of Pandora Young Eisendrath has developed a theory of desire desire contains within it a primordial absence a sense that something is missing When we come to understand the nature of desire itself we can be liberated from its domination Drawing on experiences from culture everyday life and psychotherapy Polly Young Eisendrath's Gender and Desire: Uncursing Pandora provides a full engagement with the intricacies and complexities of gender desire and liberation for women and men in a postmodern world The Human Relationship to Nature Matthew R. Foster, 2016-11-02 Growing alarm over the harm done by humans to the natural world and even to the viability of our own industrial civilization compels us to ask the deeper moral question What should be the human relationship to nature Matthew R Foster starts by assessing three contrasting patterns of moral reasoning the Progress Ethic that created the world we live in the biblically inspired Stewardship Ethic and the Connection Ethic based on scientific understanding of the interdependence of all natural entities Critical analysis reveals that none of these ethics is able to sustain the values it advocates due to two unsupportable presumptions that the norms of human morality are commensurate with the natural world and that the value of an entity is an intrinsic property Foster argues that in order for a future environmental ethic to be both logically coherent and environmentally constructive it must start from unconventional notions First because nature will never be commensurate with human moral reasoning non rational resources must be employed despite the risks involved Second value resides in the relationship of one entity to another and does not belong intrinsically to either in short value is foremost a verb rather than a noun Foster proposes a new paradigm attentive to the realm of value relations among all natural entities one which offers mediating opportunities between nature and morality In this new ethic there are no shoulds Rather moral responsibilities to the natural entities around us are elective placing us in an unfamiliar yet potentially liberating network of relationships This book will be of interest to scholars both instructors and students of environmental ethics philosophy religion and intellectual history and all who are concerned about the environmental challenges of our time

Closeness in Personal and Professional

Relationships Harry A. Wilmer,1992 When is a relationship too close and when is it not close enough How intimate can or should be the relationship between therapist and client doctor and patient supervisor and trainee These questions of pressing concern especially where power imbalances and ethical issues complicate relationships are addressed by Joseph L Henderson June Singer Peter Rutter Montague Ullman Diane Wood Middlebrook Harry A Wilmer and eight other writers Jungian Archetypes in 20th Century Women's Fiction Lorelei Cederstrom,2002 With this the beginning of the new millennium and in the aftermath of the many hundred best lists of the outstanding contributions to culture in the past century Dr Cederstrom was struck with the difference between such lists as they would have been written at the turn of the century and those written of late It is evident that best books like the literary canon itself has been forced to recognize women s achievements

The Functioning Transcendent Ann Belford Ulanov,1996 The Transcendent is a reality that functions in all our lives all the time whether you call it God the unknown or the holy It is not some obscure out of reach Other available only to those with specialized knowledge or a phenomenon spoken about only in a church temple or mosque The Transcendent is both beyond us yet functioning within each of us It is present in our exchanges with others yet nearer to us than our own heartbeat In our daily lives the Transcendent is often experienced addressing us through or compulsions perversions and ordinary struggles We find it touching us through our most shameful problems and bidding us to realize our most hidden promise Jungian analyst Ann Ulanov shows us how the Transcendent appears in her clinical work how to work with it in dreams and symptoms and how it informs encounters between analyst and analysand She demonstrates the spiritual aspect of analysis in her case observations dealing with fatness and and the female masochistic suffering parental relationships follow up treatment in patient therapist sex and the resolution of suicidal temptations

Writing the Environment in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Steven Petersheim,Madison Jones IV,2015-09-17 The nineteenth century roots of environmental writing in American literature are often mentioned in passing and sometimes studied piece by piece Writing the Environment in Nineteenth Century American Literature The Ecological Awareness of Early Scribes of Nature brings together numerous explorations of environmentally aware writing across the genres of nineteenth century literature Like Lawrence Buell the authors of this collection find Thoreau's writing a touchstone of nineteenth century environmental writing particularly focusing on Thoreau's claim that humans may function as scribes of nature. However, these studies of Thoreau's antecedents, contemporaries, and successors also reveal a range of other writers in the nineteenth century whose literary treatments of nature are often more environmentally attuned than most readers have noticed. The writers whose works are studied in this collection include canonical and forgotten writers, men and women, early nineteenth century and late nineteenth century authors, pioneers and conservationists. They drew attention to the conflicted relationships between humans and the American continent as experienced by Native Americans and European Americans. Taken together, these essays offer a fresh perspective on the roots of environmental literature in nineteenth century American nonfiction, fiction, and poetry, as well as in multi-genre compositions such as the travel writings of Margaret Fuller. Bringing largely forgotten voices such as John Godman alongside canonical voices such as Nathaniel Hawthorne, Herman Melville, Walt Whitman, and Emily Dickinson, the authors whose writings are studied in this collection produced a diverse tapestry of nascent American environmental writing in the nineteenth century. From early nineteenth century writers such as poet Philip Freneau and novelist Charles Brockden Brown to later nineteenth century conservationists such as John James Audubon and John Muir, Scribes of Nature shows the development of an environmental consciousness and a growing conservationist ethos in American literature. Given their often surprisingly healthy respect for the natural environment, these nineteenth century writers offer us much to consider in an age of environmental crisis. The complexities of the supposed nature/culture divide still work into our lives today as economic and environmental issues are often seen at loggerheads when they ought to be seen as part of the same conversation of what it means to live healthy lives and to pass on a healthy world to those who follow us in a world where human activity is becoming increasingly threatening to the health of our planet.

God, Human Nature and Education for Peace Karl Ernst Nipkow, 2018-01-18. This title was first published in 2003. What prevents the human species from finally learning the lessons of social justice and global peace in an unreconciled world? Are Christians better off? Presenting new challenges to moral and religious education, this book clarifies the true image of the biblical God around the topics of justice and reconciliation. Rejuvenating interpretations of the most outstanding traditions of the Old and New Testament, Karl Ernst Nipkow's approach of elementarization, well known in German speaking countries, is introduced for the first time in the English language. Theological perspectives are confronted with data from evolutionary ethics and social psychology through practice-based examples of the roots of aggression, violence, xenophobia, and ethnocentrism. The analysis ends with peace and spirituality in the light of different faiths. This book presents a striking blend of theology, education, and the social sciences to explore central issues in moral and religious education.

Human Nature and Suffering Paul Gilbert, 2016-08-05. Human Nature and Suffering is a profound comment on the human condition from the perspective of evolutionary psychology. Paul Gilbert explores the implications of humans as evolved social animals, suggesting that evolution has given rise to a varied set of social competencies which form the basis of our personal knowledge and understanding Gilbert shows how our primitive competencies become modified by experience both satisfactorily and unsatisfactorily He highlights how cultural factors may modify and activate many of these primitive competencies leading to pathology proneness and behaviours that are collectively survival threatening These varied themes are brought together to indicate how the social construction of self arises from the organization of knowledge encoded within the competencies This Classic Edition features a new introduction from the author bringing Gilbert s early work to a new audience The book will be of interest to clinicians researchers and historians in the field of psychology The SAGE Encyclopedia of Lifespan Human Development Dr Marc Bornstein, Marc H. Bornstein, 2018-01-15 In approximately 800 signed articles by experts from a wide diversity of fields this encyclopedia explores all individual and situational factors related to human development across the lifespan
