

Agricultural policy

Agricultural policy of a country is mostly designed by the Government for raising agricultural production and productivity and also for raising the level of income and standard of living of farmers within a definite time frame. This policy is formulated for all round and comprehensive development of the agricultural sector. In India, the main objectives of agricultural policy are to remove the major problems of agricultural sector related to improper and inefficient uses of natural resources, predominance of low-value agriculture, poor cost-benefit ratio of the sectoral activities and insignificant progress of co-operative farming and other self-help institutions. The following are some of the important objectives of India's agricultural policy:

- | | |
|---|---|
| (i) Raising the Productivity of Inputs | (iv) Modernizing Agricultural Sector |
| (ii) Raising Value-Added per Hectare | (v) Checking Environmental Degradation |
| (iii) Protecting the Interest of Poor Farmers | (vi) Agricultural Research and Training |
| | (vii) Removing Bureaucratic Obstacles |

National Agriculture Policy, 2000

The first ever National Agriculture Policy was announced on 28th July, 2000. The formulation of Agriculture Policy had been under consideration of the Government for the last few years as comprehensive National Agriculture Policy was absolutely essential to build on the inherent strength of the agriculture and allied sectors to address the constraints and to make optimal use of resources and opportunities emerging as a result of advancement in science and technology and emerging of a new economic regime.

National Agriculture Policy seeks to actualise vast untapped growth potential of Indian Agriculture, strengthen rural infrastructure to support faster agricultural development, promote value addition, accelerate the growth of agro-business create employment in rural areas, secure affair standard of living for the farmers and agricultural workers and their families, discourage migration to urban areas and face the challenges arising out of economic liberalization and globalization over the next two decades, it aims to attain:

- A growth rate in excess of four per cent annum in the agriculture sector;
- Growth that is based on efficient use of resources and conserves our soil, water and bio-diversity;
- Growth with equality, i.e. growth which is widespread across regions and famers;
- Growth that is demand driven and caters to domestic markets and maximizes benefits from exports of agricultural products in the face of the challenges arising from economic liberalization and globalisation
- Growth that is sustainable technologically, environmentally and economically.
