German Jet Aces of World War 2 Hugh Morgan, John Weal, 1998-01-15 The Third Reich s last ditch efforts to sweep the massed Allied bomber formations from the skies of Germany centred around the new crop of jet wonder weapons that were issued to the Jagdwaffe from mid 1944 onwards Far in advance of anything the Allies had even in the experimental phase types like the Me 262 He 162 Me 163 and the Ar 234 could perform their combat sorties with relative impunity However paucity in numbers and unreliable jet engines eventually cancelled out any technological edge that these aircraft offered

The First and The Last Adolf Galland, 2018-11-16 A fearless leader with 104 victories to his name Galland was a legendary hero in Germany s Luftwaffe Now he offers an insider s look at the division s triumphs in Poland and France and the last desperate battle to save the Reich The clearest picture yet of how the Germans lost their war in the air Time

With Great Sacrifice and Bravery Glenn Knoblock, 2004-05 This work is presented to the reader with several ideas in mind First it is the author s hope that in some small way it will help preserve the memory of a little known pilot who fought not only for his own country but also for France and England during the early dark days of World War II While Wacław Lapkowski was an experienced pilot who became one of Poland s aces during the war his early demise like that of so many others has relegated his achievements to the back pages of history making them nearly forgotten However in referring to pilots such as Lapkowski the great British ace Robert Stanford Tuck cites the many men who were credited with six seven or eight victories pilots that formed the bulk and guts of our fighter force The second reason for producing this work is the unique use of official combat and operations reports from the Royal Air Force RAF Many of those who are interested in World War II aviation and fighter aces have read the biographies and first hand accounts of air combat contained within of such men as Douglas Bader Witold Urbanowicz Adolph Galland and Gregory Pappy Boyington to name just a few But what of those aces that did not survive to tell their story

How are they to be remembered In the case of those who served with the RAF the answer is in part through the use of official combat reports and related documents While these official RAF and Polish Air Force PAF records do not sound particularly exciting a glance at the surviving records quickly proves otherwise Indeed the title of this book consists of a borrowed phrase from one such report and is a small example of the many dramatic events recorded within often in the pilot's own words While these reports have been an important source for many works on the RAF and PAF and its achievements during the war never before to the author's knowledge have official combat reports been presented to the reading public in their original form Though not originally intended for public view they nonetheless make for exciting and informative reading and will be of interest not only to those with a passing interest in World War II aviation but to the serious student as well While the author was unable to obtain combat reports for all of Lapkowski's flights those that were procured for September 1940 and June 1941 are of particular interest as they highlight all of the kills that he made while serving in the RAF The final reason for choosing to write about Wacław Lapkowski is due to the availability of wartime artifacts connected with his service in the RAF About a year ago the author came in contact with a man who owned a portion of Lapkowski's Hurricane fighter which was legally excavated in 1979 The author subsequently obtained a small piece of the wreckage for his personal collection while the collector retained the remains of its Merlin engine the prop boss its Browning machine guns and other items formerly on display at an aviation museum Once this artifact was in the author's possession he became interested in finding out about Lapkowski his career and his subsequent fate While this work gives much information about 303 Squadron it is not however a squadron history While a book entitled Squadron 303 was published in London in 1942 written by Arkady Fiedler it was not intended as an exacting history of the unit Instead it was a nice work of wartime public relations to help explain the Polish contribution in general terms during the Battle of Britain Despite its shortcomings Fiedler's book deserves its own place in the annals of aviation history Copies by the thousands were smuggled into Nazi held Poland and served not only to show that those who had left Poland were still fighting for their country but served as an inspiration to those left behind to continue their resistance No definitive squadron history has yet been translated into English What the author found out from the official combat reports and various published sources uniquely combined with available archaeological artifacts was fascinating What emerged from the records is a story worth telling Wacław Lapkowski though not famous like such other Polish aces as Stanisław Skalski Jan Zumbach or Urbanowicz had an interesting and distinguished career He was in the thick of battle at the outset of the war when Germany invaded Poland on September 1 1939 and saw subsequent service during the Battle of France and the Battle of Britain in 1940 He achieved air victories in two out of three of these campaigns and is one of only a handful of men less than 150 in number who served in all three campaigns To borrow a phrase from the British Wacław Lapkowski truly was one of The Few men whose skill and bravery helped stem the tide of German aggression and made Allied victory possible at the cost of their own lives

Spitfire Aces of the Channel Front 1941-43 Andrew Thomas, 2016-06-16 80 years after the Spitfire was first developed it remains an icon of military aviation Though many associate its victory during the Battle of Britain as the high point in the history of the Spitfire the years following were of equal importance Having weathered the initial storm at the start of 1941 Fighter Command took the fight to the Germans with offensive missions over the Channel This book reveals how first using the Spitfire I and II and then following the introduction of the Bf 109 the cannon armed Spitfire V RAF squadrons embarked on a range of missions which included one of the most important air battles of the war over Dieppe on 19 August 1942 Alongside British pilots were squadrons manned by exiled Europeans and pilots from the RAAF RCAF and RNZAF In just three years over 100 of these pilots were to rack up ace status in the Spitfire

Flypast, 2007 P-40 Warhawk Aces of the CBI Carl Molesworth, 2012-10-20 This book details the colourful experiences of the elite pilots of the AAF's Tenth and Fourteenth Air Forces in the forgotten China Burma India theatre during WW2 Inheriting the legacy of the American Volunteer Group AVG units such as the 23rd FG held the line against overwhelming Japanese forces until the arrival of the first P 38s and P 51s in 1944 The Warhawk became synonymous with the efforts of the AAF in the CBI being used by some 40 aces to claim five or more kills between 1942-45 This volume is the first of four covering the exploits with the P 40 during World War 2

RAF Mustang and Thunderbolt Aces Andrew Thomas, 2013-02-20 A look at the RAF service of the two most recognizable American built fighters The P 51 Mustang and P 47 Thunderbolt were the finest American fighters of World War 2 and both saw service with the RAF in substantial numbers The RAF began flying the Mustang in 1944 using it to fly bomber escort missions and deploying to support the ground campaigns in Italy and the Balkans It was also flown by a number of Polish units in the RAF The P 47 Thunderbolt was the best fighter available in CBI theatre where it was flown by a number of aces against the Japanese mainly in a ground support role Although these two fighter types are most associated with the Americans this book details the important role they performed serving in the RAF

First Kills Stefan W. C. Gnys, 2020-01-10 Remarkably detailed It is a tribute to Wladyslaw Gnys the decorated ace pilot but also to the charming and humble man himself Hamilton Magazine Polish pilot Wladyslaw Wladek Gnys was credited with shooting down the first two German aircraft of World War II on September 1 1939 On this day as Gnys squadron took off near Krak w to intercept the German invaders German Stuka pilot Frank Neubert attacked killing the captain Wladek who barely survived himself evaded the pursuing Stukas and went on to make the first Allied kills while Neubert was credited with the first aerial kill of the war Fifty years after the invasion of Poland in the summer of 1989 Gnys and Neubert met and shook hands making news around the world They reconciled their differences and remained friends until their deaths This event symbolized the prevailing friendly coexistence between Poland and Germany Written by his son Stefan and drawing from his logbooks this highly illustrated biography of Wladek Gnys is the most in depth account of the Polish hero s life It tells Wladek s story from his childhood in rural Poland through his time flying in three Allied air forces during World War II his capture and escape during Operation Overlord and his reconciliation with Neubert and his commemoration as a national war hero in Poland Tells the story of one man s ride through the history of most of the 20th century This is far from a run of the mill wartime story being more of a touching and revealing look into an extraordinary life Aircrew Remembered
