Handbook of International Trade Agreements Robert E. Looney,2018-10-03 International trade has for decades been central to economic growth and improved standards of living for nations and regions worldwide For most of the advanced countries trade has raised standards of living while for most emerging economies growth did not begin until their integration into the global economy The economic explanation is simple international trade facilitates specialization increased efficiency and improved productivity to an extent impossible in closed economies However recent years have seen a significant slowdown in global trade and the global system has increasingly come under attack from politicians on the right and on the left The benefits of open markets the continuation of international co operation and the usefulness of multilateral institutions such as the World Trade Organization WTO the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank have all been called into question While globalization has had a broadly positive effect on overall global welfare it has also been perceived by the public as damaging communities and social classes in the industrialized world spawning for example Brexit and the US exit from the Trans Pacific Partnership The purpose of this volume is to examine international and regional preferential trade agreements PTAs which offer like minded countries a possible means to continue receiving the benefits of economic liberalization and expanded trade What are the strengths and weaknesses of such agreements and how can they sustain growth and prosperity for their members in an ever challenging global economic environment The Handbook is divided into two parts The first Global Themes offers analysis of issues including the WTO trade agreements and economic development intellectual property rights security and environmental issues and PTAs and developing countries The second part examines regional and country specific agreements and issues including NAFTA CARICOM CETA the Pacific Alliance the European Union EFTA ECOWAS SADC TTIP RCEP and the TPP now the CPTPP as well as the policies of countries such as Japan and Australia lectures and private conversations Risking Free Trade Michael Lutz, 2010-11-23 There are few issues as politically explosive as the liberalization of trade as recent controversies in the United States Canada and Mexico have shown While loosening trade restrictions may make sense for a nation's economy as a whole it typically alienates powerful vested interests Those interests can exact severe political costs for the government that enacts change So why accept the risk Michael Lutz constructs a model to determine why and under what conditions governments will take the free trade gamble Lutz uses his model to explain shifts to free trade in four cases Britain's repeal of the Corn Laws the United States enactment of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act 1934 Canada's decision to initiate continental free trade with the United States in 1985 and Mexico's decision to pursue the North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA in 1990 The North American Idea Robert A. Pastor, 2011-07-21 In its first seven years the North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA tripled trade and quintupled foreign investment among the U S Mexico and Canada increasing its share of the world economy In 2001 however North America peaked Since then trade has slowed among the three manufacturing has shrunk and illegal migration and drug related violence have soared At the same time Europe caught up and China leaped ahead In The North American Idea eminent scholar and policymaker Robert A Pastor explains that NAFTA's mandate was too limited to address the new North American agenda Instead of offering bold initiatives like a customs union to expand trade leaders of the three nations thought small Interest groups stalemated the small ideas while inhibiting the bolder proposals and the governments accomplished almost nothing To overcome this resistance and reinvigorate the continent the leaders need to start with an idea based on a principle of interdependence Pastor shows how this idea once woven into the national consciousness of the three countries could mobilize public support for continental solutions to problems like infrastructure and immigration that have confounded each nation working on its own Providing essential historical context and challenging readers to view the continent in a new way The North American Idea combines an expansive vision with a detailed blueprint for a more integrated dynamic and equitable North America The Political Economy of the Western Hemisphere, 1981 The Political Economy of Globalization Satya Dev Gupta, 2012-12-06 Globalization is transforming the world at an accelerated pace Integration of the world continues widening and intensifying international linkages in economic political and social relations Liberalization of trade and finance lubricated by revolutionary changes in information technology has resulted in significant economic growth at the global level On the other hand the process of globalization is changing the nature of production relations threatening the traditional roles of the nation state and carrying with it far reaching implications for sustainable growth development and the environment Although both developed and developing countries are actively participating in this saga of globalization nearly ninety countries as the United Nations Human Development Report 1996 indicates are worse off economically than they were ten years ago leading to global polarization between haves and have nots The report further indicates that the gap between the per capita incomes of the industrialized world and the developing countries far from narrowing has more than tripled during the last thirty years Further a majority of the countries benefitting from this globalization drive have seen a rise in inequality and poverty This failure of market driven globalization to reward the benefits equitably led the United Nations to proclaim 1996 as the International Year for the Eradication of Poverty IYEP and the decade of 1997 2006 as the international decade for the eradication of poverty and to promote people centered sustainable development
