Political Financing:

Financing Politics Herbert E. Alexander, 1984 Party Funding and Campaign Financing in International Perspective K D Ewing, Samuel Issacharoff, 2006-01-19 This volume deals with questions of political party funding and campaign financing issues which arouse controversy in many parts of the world How are the central actors in the political arena supposed to gather the funds necessary to operate effectively on behalf of their chosen political ends And how may they spend money in furtherance of their political objectives The aim of this volume the first in a new series of Columbia University London University collaborative projects is to explore these issues in the specific context of a number of national settings The studies presented here show that financing questions cannot be addressed independent of the constitutional conventions of the country the nature of the political parties in the country and the means of access to publication and the media in any given nation The national studies in this volume reveal a rich diversity in the approach to regulation in Australia Canada the European Union Japan New Zealand Quebec the United Kingdom and the United States The topicality of the issues considered is reflected in the fact that since the book was first mooted there have been major decisions of the US Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of Canada as well as an investigation and report by the Electoral Commission in the United Kingdom all of which have a direct bearing on the legal and policy issues discussed in this book Political Campaign Financing Proposals United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Finance, 1967 Paying for Democracy Kevin Casas-Zamora, 2024-10-31 If the funding of parties and campaigns is a crucial issue for democratic theory and practice then the spread of State subsidies for parties is arguably the most important trend in contemporary political finance Using a large data set on political financing in more than 40 democracies the book offers an unprecedented comparative study of the features of party subsidies and their effects on campaign finance practices party systems and party organisations The book also provides a detailed empirical account of campaign finance in two of Latin America s most consolidated democracies Drawing upon extensive archival work and interviews this work sheds light on largely hidden aspects of politics in the developing world and questions widespread beliefs about political finance such as the rapid increase of campaign costs and the crucial role of television in this trend Political Finance and Corruption in Eastern Europe Jurij Toplak, Mr Daniel Smilov, 2013-03-28 One characteristic of Central and Eastern European democracies in transition is the lack of stability in terms of accountability and transparency in practices of political party financing This key volume provides a thorough and well structured post communist study of political finance election campaign and party funding issues within this region focusing specifically on Central and Eastern European countries It outlines best practices for political party and election campaign financing discusses the shortcomings of political funding schemes and highlights the scandals that emerge under investigation Providing an illuminating analysis of how current regulations of political finance succeed in controlling the rise of political corruption the volume will be indispensable for anyone interested in the efficiency of regulation in party funding

The state of digital disclosure of political finance in Europe Wouter Wolfs, 2023-05-25 While the regulatory frameworks of most countries include some provisions on the transparency of political finance the mere declaration of this principle is often not sufficient to guarantee a fair political competition or comprehensive accountability and integrity on the part of political actors This Technical Paper provides a snapshot of current practices in Europe on political finance disclosure focusing on the transparency of the annual accounts of political parties the transparency of campaign expenditure and the transparency of donations The analysis of 41 countries in Europe shows a clear trend towards a higher level of online accessibility and usability of political financial information but the level of transparency varies across countries

Funding of Political Parties and Election Campaigns, 2014-04-01 All political parties need funding to play their part in the political process yet the role of money in politics is arguably the biggest threat to democracy today This global threat knows no boundaries and is evident across all continents from huge corporate campaign donations in the United States and drug money seeping into politics in Latin America to corruption scandals throughout Asia and Europe Attempts to tackle these challenges through political finance laws and regulations are often undermined by a lack of political will or capacity as well as poorly designed and enforced measures This Handbook addresses the problems of money in politics by analysing political finance regulations around the world and providing guidance for reform The chapters are divided by region each assesses the current state of regulations in relation to its challenges and offers a series of recommendations to tackle the identified shortcomings This contextual approach has the benefit of revealing regional trends and patterns An additional chapter focuses on gender reflecting the reality that women remain grossly under represented in politics and how the increasing influence of money in politics perpetuates this inequality
