

POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS

At the end of this lesson, you should be able to:

- discuss how political organizations operate as an entity which maintains societal functions,
- recognize the differences among different types of political organizations, and
- analyze social and political structures.
- In a classroom setting, what are the functions of the elected class officers?
- Do you believe that their existence is needed for the maintenance of order in the class?

Social and Political Structures

Social and political structures are both constructs formed as a result of large-scale ties and relations in society.

Social structure, in a general sense, refers to patterned institutions or groups in society where people work, act, and live together.

Examples: Social class and social institutions like the government and legal community, LGBT community, and professional community

The political structure, on the other hand, is used to call on the institutions and political entity organized in agreement with regulations, laws, and norms of society or of the entity itself. A society based on political structure may follow totalitarianism, authoritarianism, or democracy.

The Need for Political Organizations

The need for social order, public affairs and functions, and conflict resolution are perennial or inevitable. In this premise, the foundation goals of political organizations are required.

Political organizations are entities in a society formed for administrative or political functions. They refer to the scheme or design of power and authority in society. Political organizations define the scope and limits of power.

Society, to achieve and maintain its goals and functions, needs an authority figure to set social control and lead people. Issues like allocation of social and political roles, the exercise of political power and authority, and resolutions for conflict and clash are among the recurring problems every society faces.

The questions rest on who takes the lead in addressing such problems. On this ground lies the need for political organizations. Serving as the authority, they set rules and roles and direct actions to take.

Special interests of a particular group may also be addressed through political organizations such as labor unions, political parties, interest, or advocacy groups.

- Labor unions collaborate or negotiate with the company administration to raise employee concerns regarding salary increase, benefits, and labor rights.
- Political parties are formed for staging interest in the government seat.
- Advocacy and interest groups are designed for campaigning the rights, privileges, and concerns of a particular group of people in society. Such group of people may not be represented in government.

Types of Political Organization

There are four recognized types of political organizations. They are bands, tribes, chiefdoms, and states.

Band

The band is the most traditional and smallest type of political organization. Familial ties connect a band. Politically independent, a band usually does not recognize the formal government. There are no written codes or laws. There is no organized group of leaders. This is the result of their tendency and nature of moving from one place to another in search of food or shelter.
