Realism And Racism Concepts Of Race In Sociological Research:

Realism and Racism Bob Carter, 2002-01-04 There are continuing difficulties within social science surrounding concepts of race This book suggests that these difficulties stem from the uncertain ontological and epistemological status of ideas about race itself a consequence of the recognition that concepts of race have all but lost their relevance as sociologically significant descriptions This book surveys ways in which social scientists have attempted to come to terms with this situation before developing an alternative approach based on recent work by realist authors This approach offers a radical revision of orthodox debates about race concepts about the possibility of a social science and about the nature of empirical research This illustrated through two policy examples an account of post war migration to the UK and debates about trans racial adoption in the UK and the USA

Philosophies of Race and Ethnicity Peter Osborne, Stella Sandford, 2003-02-01 Race and ethnicity have become two of the most loaded and contested concepts in the contemporary world Philosophies of Race and Ethnicity aims to disentangle this complexity and guide the reader to a clearer understanding of the debates Analysing the genealogy meanings and political uses of the concepts of race and ethnicity Philosophies of Race and Ethnicity draws on the best scholarship from philosophy history post colonial studies political theory and literary studies to explore the structure status and scope of these concepts Contributors Linda Martin Alcoff Chetan Bhatt Rey Chow Rebecca Karl David Macey Naoki Sakai Bill Schwarz Denise da Silva Francoise Verges Robert J C Young

Researching Violence, Democracy and the Rights of People John Schostak, Jill Schostak, 2009-12-16 This book explores what is at stake methodologically for researchers seeking to expand opportunities for people to become visible upon the public stages of debate decision making and action making audible their experiences of wrongs and injustices

Social Theory And Applied Health Research Dyson, Simon, Brown, Brian, 2005-11-01 This is a small book which covers a great deal of ground clearly concisely and with a fluidity which makes it an enjoyable read Journal of Advanced Nursing This book points clearly to the fact that applied research always rests on theoretical assumptions and argues persuasively that good research demands explicit consideration of those assumptions By setting out the main theoretical paradigms clearly and fairly it provides a very useful guide for researchers wishing to ensure that their work is properly grounded and appropriately focused and to students requiring the tools to look under the surface of research claims Sam Porter Research Professor of Nursing Queen s University Belfast What is the relationship between social theory and applied research How can theory help us to become better researchers The book provides a resource for students and professionals particularly in health and social care who wish to undertake social research It bridges the divide between assumptions of traditional research on the one hand and the inaccessibility of complex philosophies of research on the other Social Theory and Applied Health Research provides an accessible assessment of dilemmas facing social researchers in trying to make sense of the world of health care It links theory and method by presenting an account of how reflection can help amend complement and strengthen a practical research strategy Using clear diagrams tables and examples of recent research the book illustrates principles from social theory from a range of applied research studies This is essential reading for sociologists and psychologists conducting applied research as well as the health and social welfare professions including nurses therapists doctors social workers youth and community workers and teachers On Class, Race, and Educational Reform Antonia Darder, Cleveland Hayes II, Howard Ryan, 2023-03-23 On Class Race and Educational Reform provokes new dialogue between Marxists critical race theory scholars and other race inspired educational theorists with the aim of countering racism and class inequalities The book opens with a lead chapter by Howard Ryan a doctoral student with a background in teaching and labor organizing that substantively engages questions of class race and educational reform In response to the opening chapter educational theorists from Germany South Africa the UK and the USA provide insightful and penetrating responses highlighting the differences and similarities in perspectives The responses show how educators can overcome theoretical differences to create international collaborations and educational campaigns of solidarity that counter the treacherous impact of racism and class inequalities in the classroom and beyond The book includes a Foreword by Stephen Brookfield University of St Thomas USA and an Afterword by Cheryl Matias University of Kentucky USA Preventing Ethnic Conflict Irwin Deutscher, Linda L. Lindsey, 2005-01-01 This renamed and revised paperback edition of Irwin Deutscher's Accommodating Diversity shares most of the book's original content but reframes the work with teachers and students in mind With introductory essays to each section written by Linda Lindsey that place the material within sociological theory its problem solving focus and provocative study questions Preventing Ethnic Conflict is an ideal supplement for courses in race ethnicity and social problems Emergentist Marxism Sean Creaven, 2013-04-15 In tackling emergentist Marxism in depth this well written volume demonstrates that critical realism and materialist dialectics are indispensable to theorizing the functioning of complex social and physical systems Author Sean Creaven investigates Marx's dialectics of being and consciousness forces and relations of production base and superstructure class structure and class conflict and demonstrates how they allow the social analyst to conceptualize geo history as embodying a tendential evolutionary directionality rather than as simply random or indeterminate in terms of its outcomes For those interested in social and political theory Marxism and communism and contemporary social theory this outstanding volume is an important read and a valuable resource Defending Objectivity Margaret Archer, William Outhwaite, 2004-07-31 Andrew Collier is the boldest defender of objectivity in science knowledge thought action politics morality and religion The diverse contributions range from social and political thought to philosophy Applied Linguistics as Social Science Alison Sealey, Bob Carter, 2004-05-01 Applied Linguistics as Social Science surveys the increasing dialogue between linguistics and social theory The book shows how social theory applied linguistics and sociolinguistics share a set of common concerns and how an analysis of these to produce a social scientific account of applied linguistics helps to explain the interaction between social structures human agents and language Foreword Introduction Making connections some key issues in social theory and applied linguistics Sociology and ideas about language Language as a cultural emergent property Researching language learning theories evidence claims Social categories and theoretical descriptions Social domain theory interpreting intercultural communication Language in the world properties and powers A social realist approach to research in applied linguistics Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies Dr Theodoros Iosifides, 2013-01-28 Recent years have witnessed growing interest in a series of issues related to migration including identity formation and change the role of social capital and social networks ethnic discrimination racism and xenophobia socio political participation and mobilisation and the complex nature of the causal mechanisms linked to migration issues that are better highlighted and investigated using qualitative methods Moving away from the quantitative and empiricist positivist approaches that have often characterised migration research Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies explores in a concise but comprehensive way the key issues involved in researching migratory phenomena in a qualitative manner It addresses themes including the basic characteristics of contemporary migration qualitative research into social processes related to migration and the relationship between theory research design and practice Drawing upon empirical case studies and a series of real and hypothetical examples the book develops a critical realist alternative both to empiricism and interpretivist social constructionist and post structuralist relativism in qualitative migration research With special emphasis on the meta theoretical dimensions of qualitative research practice this volume connects qualitative findings to policy formation and politics making exploring the multiple dimensions involved in researching migratory phenomena such as ontology epistemology methodology ethics and research practice As such it will be of interest to students and researchers in migration across the social sciences In the Province of History Ian McKay, Robin Bates, 2010-05-18 Using archival sources novels government reports and works on tourism and heritage Ian McKay and Robin Bates look at how state planners key politicians and cultural figures such as Henry Wadsworth Longfellow long time premier Angus L Macdonald and novelist Thomas Raddall were all instrumental in forming tourism history The authors argue that Longfellow's 1847 poem Evangeline on the brutal British expulsion of Acadians from Nova Scotia became a template a new kind of profit making history that exalted whiteness and excluded ethnic minorities women and working class movements A remarkable look at the intersection of politics leisure and the presentation of public history In the Province of History is a revealing account of how a region has both used and distorted its own past Classifying Genocide in International Law Onur Uraz, 2022-08-05 This book offers an in depth examination into genocide law by focusing on one of the lesser examined yet practically significant issues the substantiality requirement This refers to the requirement in international law that intended destruction should be directed towards a substantial part of a protected group in order for an atrocity to qualify as genocide This comprehensive and detailed study draws connections between different judicial approaches to substantiality and the varying theoretical presumptions about the constitutive concepts of the crime This prima facie doctrinal problem is used as a springboard to scrutinise the broader theoretical problems underlying the legal conceptualisation of genocide. The book systematically explores how the individualistic and collectivistic conceptions of the crime have been able to co-exist in case law and how the different approaches to assessing substantiality have played a backdoor role between these two conceptions. The work demonstrates that these two philosophical standpoints are far from effectively representing the reality of the protected groups and fully explaining the harm inherent to group destruction. The book revisits the recent philosophical and sociological studies on the crime and considering ideas from the emerging relational approaches to genocide offers a third way to understand the existing legal representation of the crime and consequently the idea of substantiality. It demonstrates the practical significance of its theoretical debates and applies its novel perspective through a case study on South Sudan. This book will be highly useful to students and scholars with an interest in genocide studies, international criminal law and legal theory. It will also be of interest to policymakers engaged with issues around genocide.

Critical Realist Applications in Organisation and Management Studies Stephen Ackroyd, Steve Fleetwood, 2005-12. This book extends critical realism by showing how it has been applied to topics in critical management studies, accountancy, marketing, health care management, operations research, the nature of work, HRM, labour process and more.

Nouveau-riche Nationalism and Multiculturalism in Korea Gil-Soo Han, 2015-09-07. The unprecedented economic success of South Korea since the 1990s has led in turn to a large increase in the number of immigrants and foreign workers in Korean industries. This book describes and explains the experiences of discrimination and racism that foreigners and new Koreans have faced in a multicultural South Korea. It looks at how society has treated the foreigners and what their experiences have been given that common discourse about race in Korea surrounds issues of Korean heterogeneity and pure blood nationalism. Starting with critiques of Korean scholarship and policy framework on multiculturalism, this book argues for the need to revisit the most fundamental aspect of multiculturalism: the host population's ability to respect newcomers rather than discriminate against them. The author employs a critical realist understanding of racism and attempts to identify long-lasting institutional factors which make Korean society less than welcoming to new or temporary Koreans. A large number of new reportages are identified and systematically analysed based on the principles of grounded theory method. The findings show that nouveau riche nationalism and pure blood nationalism are widely practised when Koreans deal with foreigners. As a newly industrialised and highly successful nation, Korean society is still in transition and treats foreigners according to the economic standard of their countries of origin. As one of the very first books in English about foreigners' experiences of Korean nationalism, multiculturalism and discrimination, it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Sociology, Ethnic studies, Asian studies, Korean studies, Media studies and Cultural studies.

Racialization Karim Murji, John Solomos, 2005. Racialization has become one of the central concepts in the study of race and racism. It is widely used in both theoretical and empirical studies of racial situations. There has been a proliferation of texts that use this notion in quite diverse ways It is used broadly to refer to ways of thinking about race as well as to institutional processes that give expression to forms of ethno racial categorization An important issue in the work of writers such as Robert Miles for example concerns the ways in which the construction of race is shaped historically and how the usage of that idea forms a basis for exclusionary practices The concept therefore refers both to cultural or political processes or situations where race is invoked as an explanation as well as to specific ideological practices in which race is deployed It is evident however that despite the increasing popularity of the concept of racialization there has been relatively little critical analysis exploring its theoretical and empirical usages It is with this underlying concern in mind that Racialization Studies in Theory and Practice brings together leading international scholars in the field of race and ethnicity in order to explore both the utility of the concept and its limitations

Reorienting Economics Tony Lawson, 2012-08-21 Contemporary economics is characterized by a mismatch between its methods of analysis and the nature of the world it seeks to interpret Despite regular economic crises and ongoing critique of the discipline the drift from political economy into applied mathematics appears to continue unabated In this book Tony Lawson advocates a realignment of economics with social reality In analyzing mainstream economists misplaced universality the author places ontology at the heart of a reoriented future in which economics is integrated within the wider human and social sciences

Sociology for Social Work Chris Yuill, Alastair Gibson, 2010-11-15 This excellent textbook introduces the social work student to the field of sociology illustrating how sociology is connected to and fundamental to effective social work practice Each chapter applies theory to practice and is uniquely co written by a sociologist social worker and service user A wide range of topics and subjects relevant to social work are covered including Gender Class Ethnicity and race Ageing Health Intimacies Social exclusion Crime and deviance Communities Disability The book comes with access to an exciting companion website offering the reader downloads web links powerpoint slides and case studies Every chapter of the book further includes further case studies along with lots of clear definitions of terms and reflection points making this book the essential introductory text for all social work students

On Christian Belief Andrew Collier, 2003-08-29 First Published in 2004 On Christian Belief offers a defence of realism in the philosophy of religion It argues that religious belief with particular reference to Christian belief is not something unlike any other kind of belief but is cognitive making claims about what is real and is open to rational discussion between believers and non believers The author begins by providing a critique of several views which try either to describe a faith without cognitive context or to justify believing on non cognitive grounds He then discusses what sense can be made of the phenomenon of religious conversion by realists and non realists After a chapter on knowledge in general he defends the idea that religious knowledge is very like other knowledge in being based on reliable testimony sifted by reason and tested by experience The logical status of the content of religious belief is then discussed with reference to Christianity

Ontology of Sex Carrie Hull, 2006-01-16 Poststructuralism particularly through the writings of Michel Foucault and Judith Butler has achieved remarkable success in challenging our belief in natural sex categories and instincts Here Carrie Hull endorses the progressive ideals of poststructuralism while demonstrating the superiority of a realist account of sex and sexuality Embracing biological and cultural variability Hull nonetheless shows that the sexed body is naturally structured and deeply meaningful Poststructuralist philosophers have argued that biological sex is a continuum rather than a binary and that sex identity and drive are entirely performances of cultural norms rather than expressions of innate qualities Hull draws parallels with Nelson Goodman W V O Quine and B F Skinner to show that these poststructuralist theories are rooted in a nominalist relativist and behaviourist philosophy and develops an alternative framework using arguments from contemporary and critical realism Employing colourful illustrations from biology anthropology and psychology Hull demonstrates the rich potential of realist philosophy and concludes that it is philosophically and scientifically correct on one hand and politically advisable on the other to maintain a distinction albeit attenuated between sex and gender and sexuality and behaviour

In Defence of Objectivity Andrew Collier, 2004-03-01 First Published in 2004 This volume addresses the interlocking themes of realism objectivity existentialism and eco socialist politics based on critical realism However it moves beyond the purely scientific orientation of earlier contributions to this philosophy to further develop the themes The title essay defends objectivity in science everyday knowledge and ethics and examines both subjective idealism and existentialist critiques of objectivity The other essays examine some of the same themes but from different angles keeping the politics of the issues at the forefront
