Realism Discourse And Deconstruction:

Realism Discourse and Deconstruction Jonathan Joseph, John Michael Roberts, 2004-05-05 The book addresses such issues as the work of Derrida and deconstruction discourse theory Eurocentrism and poststructuralism Social Emergence in International Relations Maren Wagner, 2016-10-03 This book presents a conceptualization of social emergence in international relations as a novel angle to analyse institutional dynamics in East Asia introducing the concept of emergence from a critical realist perspective The author examines East Asia's characteristic mesh work of regional institutions that affect integrative processes and regional policies exploring how such institutions emerge and acquire their own nature and why this pattern persists over time an unresolved and contested subject in the field of International Relations This book suggests that regional institutions are emergent entities of the international system that arise as forms of self organization by states to achieve certain emergent properties and powers The author's approach sheds light on the particular emergent properties and powers of regional institutions and identifies discourse as a key mechanism of social emergence Besides engaging in relevant questions of the philosophy of science and its methodological implications for studying social emergence in world politics the book also analyses the concrete case of two East Asian regional institutions ASEAN Plus Three and the East Asia Summit This book will engage scholars and postgraduate students of Asian Studies and International Relations Eurocentrism: a marxian critical realist critique Nick Hostettler, 2013-05-07 The political and social structures of modernity are dominated by really eurocentric forms and relations yet the theorisation of the eurocentricity of modernity remains barely developed At the same time modern political and social theory is fundamentally eurocentric yet the critique of eurocentrism remains marginal to marxian and critical realist theory Addressing the eurocentrism of both modernity and modern theory Eurocentrism A Marxian Critical Realist Critique discloses the deeply embedded constraints it imposes on historical and social reflexivity Building on the insights of post structuralism and post colonialism Eurocentrism shows how the powerful anti eurocentric tendencies of the marxian critique of civil society and the critical realist critique of philosophy have been misunderstood or ignored It develops the latent potential of these traditions to develop a systematically anti eurocentric approach to understanding and explaining modernity Rethinking Marxism Jolyon Agar, 2014-02-03 First published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Method in Social Science Andrew Sayer, 2010-12-31 In its second edition Method in Social Science was widely praised for its penetrating analysis of central questions in social science discourse This revised edition comes with a new preface and a full bibliography The book is intended for students and researchers familiar with social science but having little or no previous experiences of philosophical and methodological discussion and for those who are interested in realism and method

Heritage, Communities and Archaeology Laurajane Smith, Emma

Waterton, 2013-11-20 This book traces the development of community archaeology identifying both its advantages and disadvantages by describing how and why tensions have arisen between archaeological and community understandings of the past The focus of this book is the conceptual disjunction between heritage and data and the problems this poses for both archaeologists and communities in communicating and engaging with each other In order to explain the extent of the miscommunication that can occur the authors examine the ways in which a range of community groups including communities of expertise define and negotiate memory and identity Importantly they explore the ways in which these expressions are used or are taken up in struggles over cultural recognition and ultimately the practical ethical political and theoretical implications this has for archaeologists engaging in community work Finally they argue that there are very real advantages for archaeological research theory and practice to be gained from engaging with communities

New Materialist Explorations into Language Education Johanna Ennser-Kananen, Taina Saarinen, 2022-10-10 This open access book analyzes language education through a socio material framework The authors revisit their position as researchers by decentering themselves and humans in general from the main focus of research activities and giving way to the materialities that are agentive but often overlooked parts of our research contexts and processes Through this critical posthumanist realism they are able to engage in research that sees society as an ethical interrelationship between humans and the material world and explore the socio materialities of language education from the perspectives of material agency spatial and embodied materiality and human and non human assemblages Each chapter explores language educational contexts through a unique lens of socio materiality Based on how the authors conceptualize socio materiality the book is organized in three sections that seek answers to the following overarching questions In what ways do material agencies emerge in language educational contexts How are educational choices and experiences intertwined with materialities of spaces and bodies What assemblages of human and non human may occur in language education contexts Each chapter questions in its own way the notion of the human subject as rational enlightened being and sole possessor of agency and offers examples of allowing for other than human agency to enter the picture Together the contributors exemplify how researchers who have been committed to social constructionist thinking for most of their careers learn to make space for new theories thus inspiring and encouraging readers to remain open for new intellectual and embodied endeavors

Contributions to Social Ontology Clive Lawson,John Spiro Latsis,Nuno Martins,2013-01-11 Recent years have seen a dramatic re emergence of interest in ontology From philosophy and social sciences to artificial intelligence and computer science ontology is gaining interdisciplinary influence as a popular tool for applied research Contributions to Social Ontology focuses specifically on these developments within the social sciences The contributions reveal that this revived interest in social ontology involves far more than an unquestioning acceptance or application of the concepts and methods of academic philosophers Instead as ontology permeates so many new areas social ontology itself is evolving in new and fascinating ways This book engages with these new developments pushing it forward with cutting edge new material from leading authors in this area from Roy Bhaskar to Margaret Archer It also explicitly analyzes the relationship between the new ontological projects and the more traditional approaches This book will be of great interest to students and researchers alike across the social sciences and particularly in philosophy economics and sociology

Interpretation and Social Knowledge Isaac Ariail Reed, 2024-05-31 For the past fifty years anxiety over naturalism has driven debates in social theory One side sees social science as another kind of natural science while the other rejects the possibility of objective and explanatory knowledge Interpretation and Social Knowledge suggests a different route offering a way forward for an antinaturalist sociology that overcomes the opposition between interpretation and explanation and uses theory to build concrete historically specific causal explanations of social phenomena Critical Methods in Terrorism Studies Priya Dixit, Jacob L. Stump, 2015-06-26 This book shows how to use a range of critical approaches to conduct research on terrorism Featuring the work of researchers who have already utilized these methods to study terrorism it includes a diverse range of critical methodological approaches including discourse analysis feminist postcolonial ethnographic critical theory and visual analysis of terrorism The main objectives of the book are to assist researchers in adopting and applying various critical approaches to the study of terrorism This goal is achieved by bringing together a number of different scholars working on the topic of terrorism from a range of non variables based approaches Their individual chapters discuss explicitly the research methods used and methodological commitments made by the authors while also illustrating the application of their particular critical perspective to the topic of terrorism The authors of each chapter will discuss 1 why they chose their specific critical method 2 how they justified their methodological stance 3 how they conduct their research 4 and finally an example of the research This book will be essential reading for students of terrorism studies and critical terrorism studies and highly recommended for students of political violence security studies and IR
