Coaching James Flaherty, 2022-04-24 Now in its fourth edition the bestselling seminal book by James Flaherty Coaching: Evoking Excellence in Others is an insightful thought provoking pragmatic guide that dissects the art and science of coaching. This fourth edition includes two brand new chapters: the first is on finding one's inner guidance and purpose in traversing the world of work especially in more uncertain working environments and the second is on the topic of somatic intelligence. As in earlier editions this foundational book in coaching clearly presents the theories, concepts and models and then moves on to consider rigorous methods of practice and self observation in a relationship of mutual trust, respect and freedom of expression. It will probe you to rethink how you relate to your clients and your staff, how you produce long term excellent performance in yourself and how you can become more effective in helping others to achieve their goals. Coaching Fourth Edition is a rich learning resource guide for new and experienced coaches who want to challenge their methods of partnering with clients. It is also an inspiring guide for training managers and leaders, human resource development managers and general managers who want to develop their teams.

Learning from the Patient Patrick Casement, 1992-09-25 Throughout Europe Patrick Casement's work on the interactional aspects of the therapeutic process is well known and highly acclaimed. In Casement's lucid treatise LEARNING FROM THE PATIENT everything in psychoanalytic theory and technique is up for questioning and for careful testing in the clinical setting; every concept used is explained and illustrated with clinical examples. The author offers an unusual openness about what really happens in the consulting room, including mistakes, his own as well as others. The patient's unconscious contribution to analytic work is fully illustrated. As a result of this approach insight is arrived at with a rare freshness as theory is rediscovered in the consulting room. In the course of this volume Casement develops some familiar concepts and evolves a number that are new, such as internal supervision, a process in which the analyst/therapist explores the implications of various options during each session with the patient, trial identification with the patient which encourages analysts and therapists to look at themselves as a patient might see them, and communication by impact, a graphic way of considering the various dimensions of projective identification. Others include the dynamics of containment, the communication of hurt, the pain of contrast and unconscious hope. In Part I Casement lays the foundation by establishing the first principles of psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic therapy as well as those for the process of learning from the patient. In Part II he more fully explores what emerges from this way of working. He discusses the importance of the analytic space and the need to keep it and the analytic process free from interference of any kind, including that of working style or theoretical bias. He makes a strong case for viewing the analytic process as an expression of the unconscious search for what previously was delayed and is now needed for healthy growth and recovery Highly accessible honest and most of all helpful this book offers profound insights and is a joy to read It has much to offer all levels of readership from students to experienced practitioners in the disciplines of analysis psychotherapy child therapy clinical psychology counseling and social work It is therefore of interest for anyone in the helping professions and all those concerned with the dynamics of human relationships Further
