Region In Turmoil South Asian Conflicts Since 1947:

A Region in Turmoil Robert Johnson, 2006 Since 2001 there has been considerable interest in the individual conflicts that have engulfed the states of South Asia from the long insurgency of Myanmar through the struggle of the Tamil Tigers in Sri Lanka the Maoist insurgency in Nepal the unrest in the Punjab and Assam the Bangladeshi war of independence the gruelling conflict in Kashmir to the intractable conflicts of Afghanistan and the current War on Terror In A Region in Turmoil South Asian Conflicts since 1947 Rob Johnson explains and evaluates the historic and political roots of conflicts in South Asia in a systematic and thematic way South Asian region as a whole and they are rarely examined in the regional or global context The failure to take a regional perspective in the past has meant that important connections have not always been understood in the West and the view from South Asia has perhaps not been fully explored The author addresses this gap illustrating the causes developments context and conclusions or absence of them of conflicts in the South Asian region India and Pakistan are both nuclear powers who have resorted to war with each other on a number of occasions since independence In addition the insurgencies of the last fifty years continue to destabilize the states of the region and now the rest of the world The global context of these campaigns are analyzed from the end of empire through the Cold War to the global effort against terrorism today Highly topical this book will be of interest not only to students and scholars but to a wide general audience as well

Global security Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Foreign Affairs Committee, 2009-08-02 This report into the global security concerns related to Afghanistan and Pakistan recommends that the UK Government should refocus its wide-ranging objectives in Afghanistan and concentrate its limited resources on one priority security The UK has experienced mission creep from its initial goal of countering international terrorism into the realms of counter-insurgency counter-narcotics protection of human rights and state building The Committee recommends that the lead international role on counter-narcotics should be transferred away from the UK The Committee recognises that the security situation in Afghanistan will remain precarious for some time to come but there can be no question of the international community abandoning Afghanistan The issue at stake must be how best the UK and its allies can allocate responsibilities and share burdens so as to ensure that the country does not once again fall into the hands of those who seek to threaten the security of the UK and the West The Committee says that a negotiated Afghan-led political settlement with broad popular support represents the only realistic option for long-term security and stability in Afghanistan There can be no serious prospect of meaningful discussions until Coalition Forces and the Afghan national security forces gain and retain the upper hand on security across the country including in Helmand and are then able to negotiate from a position of strength The international effort by the UN EU and individual countries in Afghanistan since 2001 has delivered much less than it promised and its impact has been significantly diluted by the absence of a unified vision and strategy grounded in the realities of Afghanistan's history culture and politics

Oil, Islam, and Conflict Robert Johnson, 2007-10-15 The author looks at the policies of the Central Asian governments that includes their attitudes to democratic reform human rights energy and economic development and how these are related to civil violence

How Rivalries End Karen Rasler, William R.

Thompson, Sumit Ganguly, 2013-03-15 Rivalry between nations has a long and sometimes bloody history. Not all political opposition culminates in war; the rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union is one example, but in most cases competition between nations and peoples for resources and strategic advantage does lead to violence. Nearly 80 percent of the wars fought since 1816 were sparked by contention between rival nations. Long-term discord is a global concern since competing states may drag allies into their conflict or threaten to use weapons of mass destruction. How Rivalries End is a study of how such rivalries take root and flourish and particularly how some dissipate over time without recourse to war. Political scientists Karen Rasler, William R. Thompson, and Sumit Ganguly examine ten political hot spots stretching from Egypt and Israel to the two Koreas where crises and military confrontations have occurred over the last seven decades. Through exacting analysis of thirty-two attempts to deescalate strategic rivalries, they reveal a pattern in successful conflict resolutions: shocks that overcome foreign policy inertia, changes in perceptions of the adversary's competitiveness or threat, positive responses to conciliatory signals, and continuing effort to avoid conflict after hostilities cease. How Rivalries End significantly contributes to our understanding why protracted conflicts sometimes deescalate and even terminate without resort to war.

Intelligence Services in South Asia Ryan Shaffer, ASM Ali Ashraf, 2025-02-18 This book explores colonial and post-colonial intelligence services in South Asia. It traces the genealogy of the institutions to analyze changes and continuities throughout the region. The volume also provides a framework for analyzing how intelligence services developed in these countries by looking at both internal and external issues and shows how vital and sometimes interconnected these issues are for understanding intelligence in South Asia. It demonstrates how some countries and intelligence services borrowed from the colonial era and others started new institutions to protect national security in response to the shifting demands of the Cold War and post-Cold War era. Bringing together a group of international scholars, the anthology delves into the intelligence services of Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, the Maldives, Myanmar, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka and traces how these national services developed in similar and diverse ways. This book will be of much interest to students of intelligence studies, Asian politics, security studies, and International Relations.

Law, Society and Transition in Myanmar Melissa Crouch, Tim Lindsey, 2014-10-23 This edited volume addresses the dynamics of the legal system of Myanmar/Burma in the context of the dramatic but incomplete transition to democracy that formally began in 2011. It includes contributions from leading scholars in the field on a range of key legal issues now facing Myanmar, such as judicial independence, constitutional law, human rights, and institutional reform. It features chapters on the legal history of Myanmar, electoral reform, the role of the judiciary, economic reforms, and the state of company law. It also includes chapters that draw on the experiences of other countries to contextualise Myanmar's transition to democracy in a comparative setting, including Myanmar's participation in regional bodies such as ASEAN. This topical book comes at a critical juncture in Myanmar's legal development and will be an invaluable resource for students and teachers seeking greater understanding of the legal system.

of Myanmar It will also be vital reading for a wide range of government business and civil society organisations seeking to re engage with Myanmar as it navigates a difficult transition toward democracy and the rule of law People-to-People Diplomacy in Israel and Palestine Sapir Handelman,2016-04-08 The Minds of Peace Experiment is a small scale Israeli Palestinian public negotiating congress The exercise invites Israeli and Palestinian delegations to publicly negotiate solutions to their struggle over a limited period of sessions The initiative is designed to demonstrate the peacemaking power of a major public negotiating congress to evaluate its potential outcomes and to get support for its establishment Scholars from different disciplines describe and analyze the enterprise They provide valuable lessons for improving and elaborating the initiative which has been conducted in major universities around the U S Canada and in Israel Palestine The intention is to add a fresh perspective to the efforts to build a revolutionary peacemaking process in the Israeli Palestinian case The Minds of Peace Experiment is a fascinating laboratory for people to people diplomacy and negotiation The exercise succeeded to demonstrate how people from all walks of life and the entire political spectrum can reach peace agreements while their leaders face major problems in their relationship The book intends to provoke critical and fruitful discussion among those who are interested in negotiation diplomacy and the Israeli Palestinian conflict This book was published as a special issue of Israel Affairs Regionalism and Regional Security in South Asia Zahid Shahab Ahmed,2016-04-08 Zahid Shahab Ahmed evaluates the progress of the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation SAARC This study goes beyond economic integration to present a detailed appraisal of cooperation under the overarching themes of economic cooperation environmental security human welfare and cooperation in security matters According to the author SAARC is making progress in addressing the myriad of issues on its agenda The transition from agreements to actions and frequent interactions among the member states has boosted confidence The progress of SAARC is more evident in the less controversial areas of human security such as poverty alleviation health and safety human resources development and higher education Notwithstanding enthusiastic commitments reflected in agreements and action plans there is a gulf between rhetoric and implementation most notably in sensitive areas relating to traditional security In the light of the findings of this study the author proposes that greater cooperation in common human security areas has a potential to pave the way for a cooperation on issues of a contentious nature particularly terrorism Race, Ethnicity and Nuclear War Paul Williams,2011-01-01 Ranging across fiction and poetry critical theory and film comics and speeches Race Ethnicity and Nuclear War explores how writers thinkers and filmmakers have tackled the question Are nuclear weapons white Paul Williams addresses myriad representations of nuclear weapons the Manhattan Project the destruction of Hiroshima and Nagasaki nuclear tests across the globe and the anxiety surrounding the superpowers devastating arsenals Ultimately Williams concludes that many texts act as a reminder that the power enjoyed by the white Western world imperils the whole planet The British Indian Army Rob Johnson,2014-06-26 The British Indian Army was a distinctive phenomenon a curious combination of Western imperial and South Asian military cultures It was first and foremost a military instrument for garrison duties but it was rarely used in internal security and most of its history is concerned with expeditionary wars While the British regarded the Indian Army as a source of pride and a vital source of imperial manpower it was not a simple case of exploitation of local indigenous labour by an indifferent colonial system but rather an evolving and often imperfect partnership with shared identities varying degrees of proficiency and a particular ethos The Indian Army was transformed under British direction and arguably enjoyed its greatest triumph in defeating Imperial Japan in 1945 Paradoxically at the same time the Indian Armed Forces were also the most potent vehicles for the concept of a free and independent India This new edited work is a selection of the Indian army's long history of development and modernisation drawing out themes such as leadership discipline racial categorisation mechanisation and operational performance It ranges from the campaigns of the eighteenth century to the agonized decisions to break up the old army between the new nations of South Asia Chapters also cover the operations in Afghanistan Persia and China in the nineteenth century the gruelling conditions of Mesopotamia and Gallipoli in the First World War auxiliaries on the North West Frontier ambiguities over internal security in the Inter War Years air power and armoured warfare the paradoxes of race and operations in Malaya during the army's nadir in 1941-42 The collection represents renewed interest in the Indian armed forces during the British period and offers a wide range of themes for consideration
