Global Governance and the Quest for Justice - Volume IV Roger Brownsword,2005-01-10 This book one in the four volume set Global Governance and the Quest for Justice focuses on human rights in the context of globalisation together with the principle of respect for human rights and human dignity viewed as one of the foundational commitments of a legitimate scheme of global governance The first part of the book deals with the ways in which globalisation impacts on established commitments to respect human rights When human rights are set against or alongside potentially competing priorities such as security or economy how well do they fare Does it make any difference whether human rights commitments are expressed in dedicated free standing instruments or incorporated as side constraints or collaterally in larger multi functional instruments In this light does it make sense to view a trade centred community such as the EU as a prospective regional model for human rights The second part of the book debates the coherence of a global order committed to respect for human rights and human dignity as one of its founding principles If globalisation aspires to export and spread respect for human rights the thrust of the papers in this volume is that it could do better that legitimate global governance demands that it does a great deal better and that lawyers face a considerable challenge in developing a coherent jurisprudence of fundamental values as the basis for a just global order
