Black and Brown William A. Sampson, 2004

Here author William A Sampson examines the role of the family in the school preparation process among poor Blacks and Latinos It is based upon the data collected during intense long term observations of 21 disadvantaged minority students and families in their homes within the same community The data suggests that the differences in performances are to a large degree a function of differences in the specific ways in which their parents most often the mother prepares them for the educational experience When discipline responsibility delayed gratification internal control the value of education and high self esteem are emphasized consistently in the home students tend to achieve When the home environment is quiet structured and orderly the students do well in school Most importantly when parents help their children with homework the students excel This book Frames the issues of the educational improvement Lays out the methodology Presents the data arranged by the academic performance of the students Presents a detailed analysis of the data and their impact upon both the debate over educational improvement and the theoretical issue of the link between race ethnicity social class and education Offers comparisons between poor Black families and poor Latino families Will be of interest to scholars in educational improvement public school teachers administrators policy makers and those concerned with social class and its ramifications

Gordon,2015-01-20 A unique contribution to film studies Richard Gordon s Cinema Slavery and Brazilian Nationalism is the first full length book on Brazilian films about slavery By studying Brazilian films released between 1976 and 2005 Gordon examines how the films both define the national community and influence viewer understandings of Brazilianness Though the films he examines span decades they all communicate their revised version of Brazilian national identity through a cinematic strategy with a dual aim to upset ingrained ways of thinking about Brazil and to persuade those who watch the films to accept a new way of understanding their national community By examining patterns in this heterogeneous group of films Gordon proposes a new way of delineating how these films attempt to communicate with and change the minds of audience members Gordon outlines five key aspects that each film incorporates which describe their shared formula for and role in constructing social identity These elements include the ways in which the films attempt to create links between the past and the viewers present and their methods of encouraging viewers to identify with their protagonists who are often cast as a prototype for the nation By aligning themselves with this figure viewers arrive at a definition of their national identity that while Afrocentric also promotes racial and ethnic inclusiveness Gordon s innovative analysis transcends the context of his work and his conclusions can be applied to questions of national identity and film across cultures
